WILSON SEES END OF WAR ONLY WHEN ENEMY IS BEATEN

German Autocracy Must Yield to Democracy's Ideals, He Tells Unity League.

DECRIES EARLY PEACE TALK

Can Only Cloud Public Vision, and People's Thought Needs Patriotic Guidance.

LEAGUE OUTLINES PURPOSES

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Agitation for a premature peace was characterized as seditious, and those who attacked the allies of America in the present crisis were declared to be enemies of their country by members of the newly organized League for National Unity, who were received at the White House this afternoon by President Wilson.

The President gave his indorsement to the purposes of the league in an address emphasizing the need of team play by the forces of American thought and opinion. He expressed the belief that American public opinion, although understanding the war's causes and principles, needed guidance to remember that the war should end only when Germany was beaten and Germany's rule of autocracy and might superceded by the ideals of democracy.

This is the issue which the American people should always keep in mind, the President said, in order to avoid being misled into byways of thought and the resultant scattering of the force of public opinion. Talk of early peace before Germany is defeated is one of the evidences of misdirected thought, he suggested, and should not cloud the vision of those who understand that the United States is fighting now for the same ideals of democracy and freedom that have always actuated the nation.

The President gave warning that it should not be forgotten that German success would mean not only prevention of the spread of democracy, but possibly the suppression of that already existing.

Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, senior prelate of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States, and Frank Mason North of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, are Honorary Chairmen of the organization, and its list of officers includes men of prominence in organized labor, industry, and finance. Cardinal Gibbons was not present, but the league has received a letter from him subscribing to its principles, which soon will be published.

The league will have headquarters in New York, and will organize at once for service. On its Executive Committee are William R. Willcox, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, and Vance McCormick, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee. It is understood that the machinery of the Speakers' Bureaus of these great organizations may be used in a nation-wide movement to unite the country behind the Government and spread before the people the many acts by Germany which brought about the war.

The announced purpose of the organization is "to create a medium through which the loyal Americans of all classes, sections, creeds, and parties can give expression to the fundamental purpose of the United States to carry on to a successful conclusion this new war for the independence of America and for the preservation of democratic institutions and the vindication of the basic principles of humanity."

Declaration of Principles.

This declaration of principles was adopted:

"In an hour when our nation is fighting for the principles upon which it was founded, in an hour when free institutions and the hopes of humanity are at stake, we hold it the duty of every American to take his place on the firing line of public opinion.

"It is not a time for old prejudices or academic discussion as to past differences. Those who are not now for America are against America.

"Our cause is just. We took up the sword only when international law and ancient rights were set at naught, and when our forbearance had been exhausted by persistent deception and broken pledges.

"Our aims are explicit, our purposes unsoiled by any selfishness. We defend the sanctities of life, the fundamental decencies of civilization. We fight for a just and durable peace and that the rule of reason shall be restored to the community of nations.

"In this crisis the unity of the American people must not be impaired by the voices of dissension or sedition. Agitation for a premature peace is seditious when its object is to weaken the determination of America to see the war through to a conclusive vindication of the principles for which we have taken arms.

"The war we are waging is a war against war and its sacrifices must not be nullified by any truce or armistice that means no more than a breathing spell for the enemy.

"We believe in the wise purpose of the President not to negotiate a peace with any irresponsible and autocratic dynasty.

"We approve the action of the national Government in dispatching an expeditionary force to the land of Lafayette and Rochambeau. Either we fight the enemy on foreign soil, shoulder to shoulder with comrades in arms,

Capture One Boatload of Seeadler Raiders

LONDON, Oct. 8.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Melbourne says it is reported there that a whaleboat with a crew of Germans from the raider Seeadler has been captured in the vicinity of the Fiji Islands. The boat contained a gun and machine guns, the dispatch says, and the Germans admitted they had been detailed from the Seeadler to make raids.

The presence of two German sea raiders in the South Pacific was made known in dispatches from Samoa to the Navy Department last week. Both vessels were said to have been manned by the crew of the Seeadler. Several merchantmen are reported to have been sunk. The Seeadler was active in the South Atlantic last Spring, sinking eleven merchantmen there.

QUITS COLUMBIA; ASSAILS TRUSTEES

FREE SPEECH THE ISSUE

Resignation Grows Out of Expulsion of Professors Cattell and Dana.

Charles A. Beard, Professor of Political Science at Columbia University, resigned from the university yesterday, giving as his reason that the institution had fallen under the control of a small and active group of Trustees, who, although "without standing in the world of education," "reactionary and visionless in politics," and "narrow and mediaeval in religion," had throttled freedom of expression among its educators.

His action was partly the outgrowth of the expulsion by the university last week of Professors James McKeen Cattell and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow Dana for disseminating doctrines of disloyalty in the war, and partly the result of a disagreement that had existed between Professor Beard and some of the Trustees of the university since last Spring. Professor Beard had made an address at that time at a Community Centre conference at the Hotel Astor, in which he protested against the repression of independent views and in which he was quoted as saying that if the nation could not bear to hear some malcontent say "To hell with the Stars and Stripes!" it was doomed to failure. The alleged quotation was later said to have been discussed by the same special committee of Trustees which ultimately demanded the resignations of Professors Cattell and Dana.

Professor Beard was recently credited with having publicly resented the expulsion of the two professors, as were also Professor James H. Robinson of the Department of History and Professor John Dewey of the Department of Philosophy. Both of these two last-named professors expressed regret last night over the resignation of Professor Beard, and Professor Robinson added that some protest would probably be taken to the Trustees "in a dignified way" against the repressive methods recently adopted at the institution.

No Question of Pro-Germanism.

Professor Beard, as did also Professor Robinson, insisted that there was no question of "pro-Germanism" in the controversy; that he was heartily in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the war against Germany, but that the opinions of those who did not agree with this program and the war could not be "changed by curses or bludgeons."

This is the letter Professor Beard wrote to President Nicholas Murray Butler of the university:

Oct. 8, 1917.

Nicholas Murray Butler, President Columbia University:

Dear President Butler—

Having observed closely the inner life at Columbia for many years, I have been driven to the conclusion that the university is really under the control of a small and active group of trustees who have no standing in the world of education, who are reactionary and visionless in politics, and narrow and mediaeval in religion. Their conduct, to use the language of a resolution adopted last Spring by one of the most important Faculties, "betrays a profound misconception of the true function of a university in the advancement of learning." How widespread and deep is this conviction among the professors, only one intimately acquainted with them can know.

If these were ordinary times, one might more readily ignore the unhappy position in which the dominant group in the Board of Trustees has placed the teachers, but these are not ordinary times. We are in the midst of a great war, and we stand on the threshold of an era which will call for all the emancipated thinking that America can command. As you are aware, I have, from the beginning, believed that a victory for the German Imperial Government would plunge all of us into the black night of military barbarism. I was among the first to urge a declaration of war by the United States, and I believe that we should now press forward with all our might to a just conclusion. But thousands of my countrymen do not share this view. Their opinions cannot be changed by curses or bludgeons. Arguments addressed to their reason and understanding are our best hope.

Such arguments, however, must come from men whose disinterestedness is above all suspicion, whose independence is beyond all doubt, and whose devotion to the whole country, as distinguished from any single class or group, is above all question. I am convinced that while I remain in the pay of the Trustees of Columbia University I cannot do effectively my humble part in sustaining public opinion in support of the just war on the

LOAN TOTAL GROWS TO 250 MILLION IN ITS POOREST DAY

Slump No Surprise to Committee, Which Expects Some Setbacks.

DAY'S SALES $10,000,000

UNTERMYER TAKES MILLION

Lawyer's Subscription Made Through Suffragists Is Largest So Far for an Individual.

Yesterday appeared to be an "off day" as far as subscriptions to the Liberty Loan were concerned, the estimated total for the New York Federal Reserve District being $250,000,000, an increase of only $10,000,000 compared with Saturday's figures. Formal announcements of new applications were relatively few and small in the aggregate, but at the same time the returns tabulated by the Reserve Bank showed an increase of more than $23,000,000, the total for actual subscriptions placed on file with the bank advancing to $156,250,000. The difference between this latter figure and the $250,000,000 estimate represents subscriptions which have been made but which have not been formally turned in to the Reserve Bank. The total of subscriptions publicly announced by subscribers or their banks approximates $217,000,000, but this figure is naturally much below the $250,000,000 estimate for the reason that a great many subscribers are averse to publicity, and for the further reason that many applications for bonds made yesterday will not be reported until today or tomorrow.

The slump in subscriptions did not surprise members of the Liberty Loan Committee, who said that they had been looking forward to some poor days during the course of the four-weeks' campaign, especially after the close of the first week's effort. For the first seven week days of the campaign this district is about $187,000,000 behind, compared with the required daily average of $62,500,000 if the district is to raise $1,500,000,000 in the twenty-four business days of the campaign. Despite yesterday's poor showing, the committee is very hopeful, and believes that as the campaign advances and the people are aroused to the need of their subscribing to the Government war loan, the daily subscription figures will become larger and larger.

Largest Subscriptions for Day.

The biggest individual subscription yet reported was announced last night by the Liberty Loan Committee of the New York State Woman Suffrage Party as coming from Samuel Untermyer, the lawyer. His subscription was for $1,000,000. For the first Liberty Loan, Mr. Untermyer subscribed $2,000,000 through the National City Bank.

Following are some of the other subscriptions announced yesterday:

Adolph Lewisohn & Sons	$1,000,000
Brooklyn Savings Bank	1,000,000
United States Rubber Company (through Kuhn, Loeb & Co.)	1,000,000
Tiffany & Co.	500,000
Advance-Rumely Company	500,000
Continental Rubber Company	300,000
E. F. Hutton & Co.	250,000
Jesup & Lamont	100,000
Jones & Baker	100,000
United States and Australasia Steamship Company	50,000

From Boston word was received that the Aetna Life Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., had filed a subscription for $3,000,000.

The 120 trade committees of the New York district are sending in encouraging reports, and it was said that more than 125,000 men and women had already been personally solicited. Big returns have come in from the Liberty Loan booths established last week in the various parks, and an official statement given out yesterday announced that more than $100,000 worth of subscriptions had been collected in a few days. It has been decided to get every subscriber to the first Liberty Loan to enlist as a solicitor of subscriptions for the second loan. The Liberty Loan Committee sent out yesterday to all banks a printed letter which will be forwarded to all subscribers. This letter requests the recipient to secure five new subscribers to the new loan, and there are appended five subscription forms which the old subscriber is asked to have filled out by his five friends.

Plans for Partial Payments.

Today or tomorrow the Liberty Loan Committee will issue a statement regarding the procedure that should be followed by employers who are carrying bonds for their employes under a partial payment arrangement. A great many salaried persons who have not yet completed their payments on the First Liberty Loan have shown some reluctance to undertake the purchase of bonds of the Second Liberty Loan, and on the other hand, numerous employers have not made up their minds as to just how they can arrange for subscriptions to the new loan on behalf of their employes. Some bankers whose advice has been asked have suggested that the employers obtain the consent of their employes for the sale of the 3½ per cent. bonds and solicit subscriptions for the new loan, the payments made by the employes up to date being credited to their account for subscriptions to the new loan.

In response to a popular demand the Treasury Department has decided to issue $50 bonds in registered as well as in coupon form, that is, persons who lack safe deposit vault facilities will be able to obtain bonds which are made out in their name, and in the event of loss or theft may be reissued. Owners of registered bonds receive their interest payments by check from Washington. Heretofore the lowest denomination Liberty bond issued in registered form

New York Call Summoned to Show Cause Why It Should Not Be Excluded from Mails

The New York Call, the Socialist daily newspaper, published by the Workingmen's Publishing Association, announces this morning that its editors and officers have been summoned to appear before the Third Assistant Postmaster General in Washington to show cause why the privilege of the mails should not be denied to it. It was said last night by Charles W. Ervin, one of the editors, that because of the failure of the mails to deliver the summons promptly those called would not be able to appear at the Post Office Department this afternoon at the hour set for the examination, and would be compelled to ask for an adjournment.

The Call made a statement this morning, in which it said:

"At 4:30 P. M. yesterday The Call was served with a notice to appear before the Post Office authorities at Washington today to show cause why it should not be deprived of its second-class mailing privileges. As these privileges enable The Call to circulate outside the City of New York, this taking away of our second-class mailing privileges would prevent us from reaching any readers without the borders of this city.

"No specific charge of any misuse of the mails is made in the document served upon us. No quotations from any articles which in any manner violate any statute law of the United States as set forth are given. No charges of any character whatsoever are made against our paper. We are asked to show cause why we should not be penalized, and are not told what we have done to merit punishment.

"That it is primarily the Socialist press as such that the Administration wishes to crush recent events prove."

Benedict and Edwin S. Prieth, publishers of the New Jersey Freie Zeitung, a German and English morning paper printed in Newark, were notified yesterday by the Postmaster General that the privileges of the second class mails had been denied it.

The suspension of second-class privileges has no effect on another proceeding against the Freie Zeitung by the Government. This will come up at a hearing Oct. 16. The Prieths and their editors and advertising manager are charged with violating the espionage law by printing false and misleading articles intended to interfere with the military success of the United States.

MAYOR OFF STUMP FOR NEXT 3 DAYS

UNTANGLE BALLOT MIXUP

Corrigan's Name to Appear—Only Mitchel's Name Will Be Opposite Fusion Emblem.

Although Mayor Mitchel's voice gave out yesterday to such an extent that his physician ordered him to do no more campaign speaking for three or four days at least, the Mayor continued his attacks yesterday upon Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, and William R. Hearst as being the "sinister influences" back of the candidacy of Judge John F. Hylan, the Tammany Mayoralty candidate. While both Murphy and Hearst are "volubly explaining," the Mayor complained that Judge Hylan continues to ignore the four questions he put to him last week regarding the Tammany candidate's connection with Hearst.

"The most significant thing to date," the Mayor said in a statement to reporters, "in Mr. Murphy's and Mr. Hearst's campaign is that both gentlemen in disregard of their own precedents are volubly explaining. Mr. Murphy is explaining how patriotic he really is in spite of his association with Mr. Hearst and Judge Cohalan. Mr. Hearst is explaining how patriotic he really is in spite of his poisonously pro-German press and his acquaintance with Bolo Pacha. Mr. Hylan explains neither Murphy nor Hearst. He doesn't dare even to answer my questions about them. He swallows both together with their unsavory records and past performances.

Says Hylan Covers Up.

"He doesn't even say whether he thinks Murphy the scoundrel Hearst thought him in 1905, or whether he thinks Hearst the friend of Germany that the Kaiser's Vossische Zeitung thought him in 1914. Mr. Hylan tries to cover up his own timorousness and his association with Murphyism and Hearstism by repeating the baseless slanders about Rockaway Park and Dreamland, which I have already conclusively disapproved from the public records. He tries to dim recollection of Murphy election tactics of the past by insinuating that I am in some way responsible for the false primary count, which I myself have exposed through legal action, taken because I would not accept a single vote not fairly cast for me.

Mr. Hylan will have to explain Murphy and his whole long, lurid record before he can explain his own candidacy. Mr. Hylan will have to explain Hearst and his German propaganda before he can satisfy the people of New York that he is the man to administer the police and the other great services of New York during the period of the war with Germany."

The Mayor's campaign headquarters announced that he would not be able to speak in public until Thursday at least. Dr. Frank S. Miller, the throat specialist, told the Mayor he would have to rest his voice or give up his campaign. The Mayor's speaking dates for the next three days will be kept by Job E. Hedges and the Mayor's running mates on the Fusion ticket.

Mr. Mitchel said last night he would not answer at this time the attack made upon him by Charles L. Craig, Tammany candidate for Controller, in connection with the joint report of the Board of Estimate and the Public Service Commission regarding the new plan for the west side improvement.

The mix-up over the printing of the war ballots for the soldiers, which threatened to bring about legal complications, was straightened out yesterday to the satisfaction of all concerned. It was explained at the Board of Elections that the reason the City Democracy did not have representation on the ballots was because not enough signatures to petitions had been filed with the board, and that the same reason prevailed in regard to the printing of the names of the candidates on the Fusion ticket below that of Mayor. Regarding the omission of the name of Joseph E. Corrigan, independent candidate for District Attorney, it was explained that the error was due to a clerk in the Board of Elections, and that it had been agreed to have new ballots printed containing Mr. Corrigan's name. The incomplete ballots already sent abroad will be recalled and corrected ones substituted. Edward F. Boyle, President of the Board of Elections, made this explanation:

Petitions Lacked Signatures.

"Reports that the names of certain candidates for independent nominations on the Fusion Party ticket and the City Party ticket were omitted from the war ballot are without foundation.

FIRST DAY LIGHT IN REGISTRATION

LIST 38,162 IN MANHATTAN

First Day Gave 75,735 in 1913 and 51,266 in 1916 for This Borough.

Extremely light registration marked the first day this year. In all the boroughs the registration last night fell far below the first day's figures for 1913, the last Mayoralty year, and 1916, which was a Presidential year. Political leaders could give no explanation for the poor showing, but it was predicted that the registration would be heavier as the week elapsed. Both parties made extraordinary efforts to get out a large registration, each district being organized by both Republicans and Democrats and, separately, by the Fusion forces, owing to the result of the Republican primaries.

In Manhattan the registration yesterday was only 38,162, as compared with 75,735 in 1913 and 51,266 last year. The Bronx gave a total yesterday of but 13,448, as compared to 22,895 in 1913, and 15,827 last year.

In Brooklyn the situation was not improved, the total for yesterday being 37,175, as compared to 68,030 four years ago and 46,475 last year. Queens and Richmond also fell far behind the figures of both last year and the first day of 1913. Yesterday's total in all the boroughs was 99,159 less than the first day's registration in 1913 and 26,117 less than the first day's total last year.

In a few of the Manhattan Assembly districts yesterday's total approached the figures of other Mayoralty years, but in most instances they fell far behind. On the east side the registration was extremely light. In the northern part of the Bronx, particularly in the Bronx Park, the Bedford Park, and the Kingsbridge sections the registration was comparatively heavy.

In nearly all of the election districts in Harlem, on the East Side, the election district captains reported lower figures than are usual for the first night. There was some falling off in registration in the west Harlem section. In the Ninth Election District of the Thirteenth Assembly District there were thirty enrollments, as against fifty for the first night of last year's registration.

Owing to the fact that the Legislature reapportioned the districts of the city this year it was impossible to make any comparisons by Assembly districts with the results of former years. Yesterday's registration by Assembly districts in all the Boroughs was as follows:

U. S. DESTROYER SHELLS ITALIAN SUBMARINE; 2 DEAD

SHOT HITS CONNING TOWER

DANIELS CABLES REGRETS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—One of those unfortunate incidents that sometimes occur through cases of mistaken identity in naval warfare was announced by the Navy Department tonight when it issued a brief bulletin to the effect that an American war vessel had fired upon an Italian submarine, killing one Italian officer and an Italian enlisted sailor.

When, wehere, and full details as to how it happened were not disclosed by the Navy Department, but the fact that American destroyers are known to have been sent to the Mediterranean to co-operate with the Italian and other Entente vessels engaged in the quest for the German submarine, and the understanding that Italian submarines have not been operating outside the Mediterranean, inspired the belief here that the incident took place somewhere in that sea, or perhaps in the Adriatic.

The fact that an officer and an enlisted man were killed indicates that the American gunners landed a shot in the submarine's conning tower, the victims being the officer at the periscope and the bluejacket at the wheel.

Secretary Daniels has sent to the Italian Minister of Marine a telegram expressing the sincerest regret that the submarine, belonging to the navy of a nation with which this Government is on terms of closest friendship, should have been the victim of such a case of mistaken identity. The explained cause of the affair is that the submarine failed to answer the established recognition signals, and was therefore mistaken for a German submarine until its identity was establishde.

It is not believed that the incident, which was wholly a mistake, due to the vigilance of the American U-boat chaser and the failure of the submarine to answer, will in any way impair the friendliest of relations that have been established between this country and the Italian Government ever since the visit of the Prince of Udine and the Italian war mission to this country.

The Navy Department has been informed by Vice Admiral Sims that recently an American patrol vessel, while on patrol duty at night, encountered an Italian submarine, and that when the latter failed to answer the established recognition signals, the patrol vessel opened fire, which resulted in the killing of one officer and one enlisted man before the identity of the submarine was established.

Vice Admiral Sims is thoroughly investigating the unfortunate occurrence, and reports will be forwarded later to the department.

"I have learned with deepest regret of the unfortunate occurrence —— which resulted in an American patrol vessel firing, through a misunderstanding, upon an Italian submarine, causing the death of one officer and one enlisted man on the latter. As our patrol vessels are in European waters primarily for the purpose of co-operating with the Italian and other allied vessels in our common cause, the unfortunate encounter is all the more regrettable. Due to the recent unusual activity of enemy submarines in this region, which has resulted in the loss of several vessels, the patrol has been strictly maintained, and the unfortunate fact that the patrol vessel did not obtain the recognition signals resulted in her opening fire. Please accept on behalf of myself and the American Navy sincere and heartfelt sympathy for the loss of life which has resulted.

"JOSEPHUS DANIELS."

Incidents of this sort, while not of frequent occurrence, happen in all big wars, and considering the remarkable character of warfare that has to be waged against the submarine, and the fact that German and Austrian submarines are understood to have flown false colors at times, it is considered remarkable that the Entente nations have not lost more of their submarines through their identity being mistaken by Entente destroyers.

NEW GERMAN CRUISER STRIKES A MINE

3 Officers and 27 Men Lost as Result of Accident on Trial Run—Vessel Towed to Port.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Arrivals at Amsterdam from Hamburg, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, report that early last week a new German battle cruiser, while on a trial run off Heligoland, struck a mine and was seriously damaged.

Three officers and twenty-seven men were drowned. The vessel was towed to port.

Since the war began Germany is known to have laid down two battle cruisers, both completed, in 1916 or early in 1917. One is the Hindenburg, and the other the Ersatz-Viktoria Luise, or Viktoria Luise II. The first was built at Wilhelmshaven and the second at Danzig.

They are sister ships, and photographs show them to be similar in appearance to the Derfflinger, 28,000 tons, believed by the British Admiralty to have been lost in the battle off Jutland, May 31, 1916.

The two new battle cruisers were designed for a displacement of 27,000; water line length, 698 feet; beam, 95¾ feet; mean draught, 27 feet, and to have a complement of officers and men of 1,100.

Each armament was to be eight 12-inch, twelve 5.9-inch, twelve 3.4-inch; anti-aircraft guns, and four or five submerged torpedo tubes.

Reports Big Increase in German Strikes

GENEVA, Oct. 8.—The Swiss Labor Journal, Mettalurgiste, gives official statistics showing that 63,137 munitions workers from 109 factories in Germany went out on strike during the first three months of the present year, as compared with about 3,000 men from twenty-three factories during the same period in 1916.

The reasons for the strikes were bad and insufficient food and the higher cost of living.

Dutch Steamer Nieuw Amsterdam Held in Absence of a Pledge to Return.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Exports Administrative Board, it was said today, had decided not to grant a license for the release of the Dutch ship Nieuw Amsterdam, now in an Atlantic port loaded with foods for the Committee for the Relief of Belgium, as no assurances had been given that the vessel would return to the jurisdiction of the United States.

Negotiations have been going on for several days, but the Administrative Board has remained firm in the position taken, and it is reported on excellent authority that the same policy will apply to all of the neutral ships, aggregating more than 400,000 tons, which are now tied up in American ports.

This means that the neutral tonnage, even though it is not bound for neutral countries contiguous to Germany, must meet the conditions of the Government that it will not seek to "disappear" if licenses are to be issued.

The position taken is believed here to indicate that the United States is determined to obtain use of the neutral tonnage either by voluntary agreement or, as a last resource, by the powers of commandeer.

In local shipping circles it was said yesterday that if America's allies were badly in need of supplies through lack of tonnage the United States Government probably would sequester Dutch steamships in American ports for the period of the war and afterward pay for them whatever sum a court awarded.

There are about sixty ships in New York Harbor under the Netherlands flag, all of which have large cargoes of grain, flour, and other foodstuffs in their holds. The Dutch steamship companies in Holland do not wish to charter the vessels to the United States Government because they say the tonnage is needed to take foodstuffs to Holland.

Steamships would be taken from the coastwise trade on Oct. 15, it was said here, and transferred to the Atlantic trade between the United States and England and France as they were required. The freighters will be utilized first, and the passenger boats will be allowed to remain on this side as long as possible.

The coastwise freight service to New Orleans, Savannah, Galveston, Mobile, Charleston, Tampa and other ports will be maintained, according to local marine men, by Norwegian, Swedish, Danish and other neutral vessels which will be chartered by the Government.

Shipping men in New York said yesterday that the reduction from 6¼ to 5 per cent. in the marine insurance rates, which was announced in Washington on Saturday, would make little difference to American owners, because the Government was going to take over all the American coastwise ships. Under the new conditions the Government would follow the example of the International Mercantile Marine Company, it was said, and do the greater part of the insuring on the ships by placing the money in a reserve fund that would otherwise be paid over to insurance companies in premiums.

INTERNED U-BOAT ESCAPES FROM SPAIN

Leaves Cadiz Without Guns, Torpedoes, or Munitions—Spanish Naval Officers Punished.

MADRID, Oct. 8.—A German submarine interned at Cadiz has escaped.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Spanish Government has taken drastic action to discipline the officials responsible for the safe internment of the German submarine which escaped from Cadiz. On the basis of official dispatches from Madrid the Spanish Ambassador here, Juan Riano, made this announcement:

"In spite of all the precautions taken by the Spanish naval authorities, including the removal of pieces which were supposed indispensable for navigation, the German submarine U C 293, interned at Cadiz, escaped yesterday afternoon, leaving its guns, torpedoes, and munitions on land, where they had been deposited.

"The Spanish Government has opened a court-martial and has also decreed the destitution of the commander in chief and the first adjutant of the arsenal and of the technical commission which examined the submarine, and the release of the general command of the Naval Department of Cadiz, apart from other disposition which it may consider fit to adopt later on."

Several German submarines have sought refuge in Spanish ports during the war, and one of them, which put in at Cadiz, was escorted out of the port later by Spanish torpedo boats. To prevent further incidents of this nature King Alfonso, on June 30 last, signed a decree forbidding submarines of belligerent powers to navigate Spanish waters or enter Spanish ports. It was declared that all such submarines which entered the Spanish zone would be interned.

PARTY COUNCILS DEFER REICHSTAG DEBATE ON PEACE

ACTION IS EXPECTED TODAY

AMERICA CALLED INVINCIBLE

Gathien Tells Progressives That Indemnity Cannot Be Forced from This Country.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 8.—Owing to the various parties having convoked meetings for this morning to consider the situation arising from Saturday's sitting of the Reichstag, says a Berlin dispatch, the debate, which was planned for today, has been postponed until Tuesday. The chief subject of discussion will be war aims.

According to this dispatch, the Imperial Chancellor, Dr. Michaelis, has gone to headquarters.

German newspapers which support the Reichstag majority severely censure Dr. Helfferich, the Vice Chancellor, for his incapacity to respond to the feelings of the Reichstag on Saturday and expect decisive happenings. They are of the opinion that the future of the Government may depend on the debate, in view of the motion of the Independent Socialists that "the Reichstag is of the opinion that the reply of the Government to the interpellation did not meet the intentions of the Reichstag."

Vorwärts asserts that if the motion is adopted Chancellor Michaelis and his colleagues must resign or the Reichstag must force them to do so.

Other newspapers demand a clear statement from the Government on the peace resolution of the Reichstag majority.

George Gothien, Progressive member of the Reichstag, is quoted in a Berlin dispatch as having said at a meeting of the Central Committee of his party that, although the military situation was satisfactory, there was no hope of crushing Germany's enemies on land.

As for the submarine campaign, 7,000,000 tons of shipping had been sunk, he asserted, but no disposition toward peace on the part of England was discernible. A rationing system for foodstuffs had not been even introduced, and no one was able to say when the U-boat would make England more inclined for peace.

"America cannot be forced to make peace," Herr Gothien continued. "We cannot force America to pay a war indemnity. There remains only England. But should we, in order to obtain an indemnity of 10,000,000,000 marks, sacrifice 50,000,000,000 marks and another half million men?"

Germany's allies, Herr Gothien continued, were not inclined to continue the war for Pan German plans of conquest, but were striving for peace by understanding and conciliation, while the Pan German clamor for annexations was finding a bad reception among them. He asserted that the long working hours and insufficient feeding at home increased the desire for peace among the workers, and that strikes might be expected if the war should be continued for aims of conquest.

GIVES GERMAN SCHEME TO DIVIDE THE WORLD

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—As viewed through the spectacles of the Cologne Gazette, Germany has the choice of being a full-partner in the future "syndicate for the division of the world" or of being an outsider. This syndicate is pictured by the Gazette as a political combination of Germany, Russia, and Japan, but it suggests that before Germany can become a "full-partner" in such a "syndicate," the British Empire must be defeated in the war.

"If the Russian chooses the Englishman as his friend," asserts the Gazette, according to advices reaching Washington, "the world power of Germany is relegated to a misty distance. It is indeed doubtful whether, in that event, our object can ever be achieved. Moreover, in addition to this loss, we shall have for a long time to come to reckon with continental struggles which will cost blood, money and strength, and the result of which—with Germany standing at the side of Austria-Hungary against Russia, France, and England—cannot be calculated.

"If there is a way to effect from without, in favor of the rising world powers, the comparatively rapid dissolution of the British Empire, it is only by means of a German-Russian-Japanese world coalition." Of course, such a coalition is at bottom another syndicate for the division of the world.

"The utmost German devotion to peace would not dispose of the aggressive imperialism of the others, but would merely permit Germany's development to decay. We have the choice between being full partners in the future syndicate for division of the world or being despised outsiders.

"If we succeed, by means of Russian and Japanese advances, with German and German-Turkish protection of their flanks, in destroying the English positions in the Middle and Far East, the ultimate reconciliation of Russian and North American Imperialism will be facilitated, because North America will then be unable to co-operate with Great Britain in the Pacific Ocean.

"Perhaps in the later future—to mention only one of the numerous possibilities—the North American-Far Eastern line of separation will run straight across the Australian continent, which, as is widely known, is eagerly coveted by the Japanese

"If we are able to overthrow the British, and thus to render Russia and Japan decisive service in Asia against England, we ought to be able to obtain permanent recognition of our Turkish and Near Eastern policy and to make the Western edge of the Persian mountains the frontier between the quadruple alliance's sphere of interest and Russia's sphere of interest."

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 8.—The Reichstag has decided to hold up the salary appropriation for Dr. Karl Helfferich's new post of Vice Chancellor, and to return the measure to committee.

In addition to this expression of dissatisfaction over Saturday's debate, the Vorwärts says there is a steadily growing disposition by the majority parties in the Reichstag to accept a vote of lack of confidence as proposed by the radical Socialists on Saturday.

ATTEPMT TO FORCE REICHSTAG REVOLT

Move for Parilamentarization Is Begun Without Waiting for Change of Laws.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Sunday, Oct. 7, (via London, Oct. 8.)—The Reichstag debate yesterday on Government aid to the propaganda for the Fatherland Party, which lasted from 11 o'clock in the morning until evening, had the unexpected effect of opening the eyes of many of the members and most Berlin newspapers to the fact that the Parliamentarization of the German Government is not a question of altering the constitution and making new laws, but that the beginning of the process are with us even today. This conception is most clearly expressed in Vorwärts, which concludes its leading article thus:

"To make things still worse, the independent Socialists, when the debate reached its climax, made a motion that the Reichstag declare that the Government's answer to the interpellation was not satisfactory to the Reichstag. Indeed, it is not satisfactory. But what are the consequences of this motion if accepted? There will be nothing left for Michaelis and his friends to do but to pack their trunks.

"Herr Michaelis, of course, had not expected a great political debate. He remained away. Meanwhile, night came on and the House adjourned. Today is Sunday, which must not be desecrated by a continuation of this debate, but the Reichstag will continue it. How will it be done? Where will it lead?"

The Vossische Zeitung thinks that a decision can no longer be avoided, saying: "It is impossible for the majority parties to pass a vote of confidence in Helfferich, because he does not possess it."

The National-Zeitung does not believe there wass be an actual note of censure, but it, too, shares the indignation of the majority party organs over the insufficiency of the Government's reply.

The Tageblatt wants to know what Helfferich considers sufficient importance for a debate to compel the presence of the Chancellor, if the subject in question does not do so.

The Centrist organ, Germania, says it was the Government's duty to deplore the abuses and promise their extermination.

"War Minister Stein and Dr. Helfferich," adds Germania, "actually took this course, but unfortunately they did not stick to it, but assumed an aggressive attitude toward the authors of the interpellation. Stein proved that an excellent soldier need not necessarily be an excellent politician."

The conservative Kreuz-Zeitung concludes its comment thus:

"Unless all signs deceive us, the Social Democrats' attempt to incite the Government against the Fatherland Party will have quite the contrary effect. The only echo which the Reichstag debatewill have among the people will be to cause numerous applications for membership in the party. The party, however, will have to recognize the necessity of letting the dispute over domestic reforms rest until the enemy is defeated as a proper base for a durable German peace."

VIENNESE CALL FOR PEACE.

Europe War Exhausted, Speaker Tells Christian Socialists.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 8.—A dispatch received here from Vienna describes an imposing peace demonstration which was held by the Christian Socialist Party in the Town Hall Sunday. Thousands of persons were present.

Prince Alois Lichtenstein, President of the lower Austrian Diet, opened the proceedings by announcing that the meeting had been convened out of gratitude to the Pope and the Emperor to demand peace by agreement and general disarmament and arbitration as outlined in the recent speech of Count Czernin, the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister.

"We offer our hand for an honest peace," said Prince Lichtenstein, "but if it is rejected we shall seize the sword, which, as hitherto, with God's help will decide in our favor."

Councilor Kunschok followed with an eloquent speech in the same tenor and was frequently applauded.

"We are assembled," said the Councilor, "to declare how warm and glowing are our longings for peace. But the leading men in enemy States must be warned against drawing false conclusions from this admission. We want peace, but not at any price. We demand peace in the name of Europe, which is sinking to exhaustion while her competitors are waxing fat."

Expressing suspicion of President Wilson's demand for a democratized Europe, because, he said, America herself was far from real democracy, Councilor Kunschok concluded his address amid a tremendous ovation by praying for blessings on the peace exertions of Pope Benedict and Emperor Charles.

HAIG THROWS BACK A GERMAN ATTACK

BATTLEFIELD A QUAGMIRE

By The Associated Press.

BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM, Oct. 8.—A counterattack by the Germans in force east of Polygon Wood, in the region of Reutel, last evening was quickly beaten off by artillery and machine-gun fire. The front involved was over a width of about 500 yards. The attack was preceded by a heavy artillery barrage, which was put down not only in this section but along the greater portion of the new battle line.

The artillery was active on both sides today, but the continuous rain prevented infantry engagements.

It rained hard yesterday, giving an unforgettable demonstration of the nature of the difficulties which the British troops have encountered in many of their recent operations. Within a few hours the entire country had been turned into a mass of deep, clinging mud, through which one made his way with the greatest effort. A stream known as Honnebeke, which is one of the many little waterways that cover not only this section but most of the battle zone, was surrounded by a veritable morass. It would be impossible to cross it at many places.

Shell Holes Are Death Traps.

Shell holes had rapidly filled with water, and ponds were to be seen in which a score of men might easily drown if they were unfortunate enough to fall down the slippery sides. Often a small pool of water covered a considerable shell hole.

A wounded man was being brought back from Broodseinde Ridge. It took four sturdy stretcher bearers to carry him, and they were floundering miserably at every step. It must have taken them several hours to negotiate their journey.

It seemed inconceivable that men could work, much less fight, over such filthy ground. Yet the British soldiers and officers were carrying on steadily yesterday their operations. And in recent days they have often fought over just such territory as this.

Yesterday's rain has turned the battlefront into a quagmire, which it will take many days to dry out. This does not mean that military operations could not be undertaken on either side, but there could scarcely be more trying conditions for fighting. The soldiers encountered by the correspondent were cheerful, despite the fact that they were drenched to the skin with the biting cold rain. At one place a number of men were sitting in the shelter of a muddy bank for a resting spell. They were wet, and by all rights should have been unhappy, but they were singing lustily away at some popular song.

Other bodies of men of similar disposition were seen. All seemed immensely amused at the muddy condition of the correspondent and the two officers with him. Often the soldiers looked up with cheerful grins that said plainly: "How do you like it? Now you know what we chaps have to go through out here."

Devastation East of Ypres.

Nowhere on the western front has the war printed more cruel marks of devastation than in the wide zone east of Ypres, where such fierce and sanguinary fighting has been proceeding at intervals since the British launched their initial attack.

This whole region, much of which in peace times was prosperous farming country, has been turned by the artillery fire into a desolate waste of vast and deep shell craters, which are so close together that in innumerable cases they interlock. Farmhouses have been pulverized and ploughed under in the ruthless sweep of the shells, and village sites are marked by little portions of walls where churches or other big buildings once stood.

Cottages are buried beneath heaps of turned-up earth, and there is scarcely a vestige of grass or other green thing to be seen in miles of tramping. Trees have been smashed into matchwood, and their roots turned up in grotesque shapes to add to the sinister aspect of the country. Here and there, where little forests stood, the hardier trees have clung to their birthright, but their branches have been shorn from their trunks.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The Germans made an attack last evening on British positions east of Ypres, between Broodseinde and Hollebeke. The War Office reports that the enemy was repulsed.

The text of the afternoon statement follows:

> An infantry attack developed against our positions east of Polygon Wood after the enemy had put down a heavy barrage yesterday at dusk on our front between Hollebeke and Broodseinde. The attack was beaten off by our fire, a few prisoners remaining in our hands.

Although stormy weather still continues, the artillery was active today, says tonight's report from British Headquarters, which follows:

> Stormy weather continued throughout the day, heavy rain having fallen. Both artilleries were active during the day on the Ypres battle front. There was nothing of interest on the remainder of the British front.
> There was a short spell of fair weather on Sunday before the heavy rain which fell almost all day. While this lasted considerable work was done by our artillery machines, and our bombing machines dropped over two and a half tons of explosives on the Staden and Courtrai railway stations and on other targets. The enemy showed marked activity in the vicinity of our newly won territory and attacked our bombing machines ambitiously. Two hostile machines were brought down, and three were driven down out of control. One of our machines is missing.

Berlin Reports British Checked.

BERLIN, Oct. 8, (via London, British Admiralty per Wireless Press.)—The War Office reports that British attacks delivered yesterday on the Ypres front were ineffective. The official statement follows:

> Army of Crown Prince Rupprecht: The fighting activity in Flanders revived considerably yesterday from midday until evening, between the Houthhulst Wood and the Menin-Ypres road. A strong drumfire preceded local English attacks, which developed against some sectors of the fighting front. Storming troops brought up by the enemy did not advance anywhere. They were held down in the crater field by our defensive fire.

ARTILLERY DUEL ON AISNE.

French Repulse Night Attacks Near Craonne and in Champagne.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—French positions on the Aisne and Champagne fronts were attacked last night by the Germans without success, the War Office announces. The artillery duel in Belgium continues. The statement follows:

> The artillery fighting was continued in a spirited manner in Belgium and on the Aisne front. The enemy made several attacks against our small posts in the region of Bovettes and Craonne, and also in Champagne, in the sectors of Main-de-Massiges and Mont Haut. All these attempts were repulsed, and we took prisoners. Elsewhere the night was calm.

The official communication issued tonight says:

> There were artillery actions at various points along the front, particularly in Belgium and in the region of Hurtebise and Craonne.

BERLIN, Oct. 8, (via London, British Admiralty, per Wireless Press.)—The artillery duel on the Aisne front increased in violence yesterday, according to the report from Army Headquarters, which says:

> Army of the German Crown Prince.—On both sides of the Laon-Soissons road the artillery battle waged was of greater violence in the Ailette region to the plateau south of Pargny. In the evening several French companies advanced near Vauxaillon, but were repulsed by our fire.
> East of the Meuse there was a strong fire on our positions, and to the rear, between Samogneux and Bézonvaux. The effect of our artillery fire frustrated an attack by the French which was being prepared southwest of Beaumont.

KERENSKY AGAIN HAS HIS OWN WAY

TO COMPLETE HIS CABINET

Preliminary Parliament to be Convoked Officially and Organized by the Government.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 8.—After a conference of three hours of members of the Government, including Premier Kerensky, with a delegation representing the Democratic Congress, and with representatives of the bourgeois yesterday, a complete agreement was reached on all questions. The Premier declared that the Government purposed immediately to form a complete Cabinet, so that the reconstituted coalition Government might be able to go to work at once on the basis laid down.

M. Tseretelli, at a secret session of the Preliminary Parliament, an outgrowth of the Democratic Congress, yesterday outlined the negotiations with the Government, which, he said, led to a speedy agreement on all points except the responsibility of the Government to the Preliminary Parliament. The question was settled, he added, by an agreement that the Parliament should be convoked officially and organized by the Government. The Parliament would include 120 representatives of non-democratic elements, who would have the right to interpellate the Government, which must reply formally and juridically. The Government would not be responsible to Parliament, but no Cabinet could continue in existence without the confidence of Parliament.

The Parliament indorsed the formula covering the question of the responsibility of the Government to the Parliament by 109 to 84, 22 members abstaining from voting.

An official statement issued today fixes at 730 the number of electoral districts from which are to be elected members of the Constituent Assembly which is to determine the country's future form of Government. Petrograd will have twenty members, Moscow nineteen, the Caucasus thirty-six, Kieve twenty-two, and the Valley of the Don seventeen.

The general railway strike order, which promises a complete tieup of traffic, except sanitary and military trains, became effective Saturday midnight. All passenger trains scheduled to leave Petrograd yesterday, except for the front, were abandoned. The strike was carried into effect in spite of the warning given by M. Nikitin, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs, that strikers would have to answer charges of treason, and calling upon the telegraph operators to refuse to transmit the strike order.

The railway strike which went into effect at midnight Sunday and which is intended at the present time to affect through services has only been partially effective, according to information received from the Ministry of Traffic today. Local trains continue running, and the Finnish Railway also is operating. No trains have left for Moscow or beyond from Petrograd.

Premier Kerensky has received word from the Simferopol Railway Union protesting its unwillingness to observe the strike order, declaring it is unpatriotic. A similar attitude has been taken by the Vladivostok Railway employes.

The strike plan contemplates the stopping of all local services tomorrow and all traffic, freight, and passenger, on Wednesday unless the demands of the men for an increase in wages are granted.

Delegates of the workmen at all the oil wells in Baku have proclaimed a general strike for Wednesday. This action is taken because the employers have refused the demand of the men that they shall not discharge workmen without the consent of the trades unions.

BALKAN ARMY READY SOON.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—A glimpse into the Balkan military situation, as revealed by an authoritative semi-official source, indicates that within the net two months, or certainly by the firts of the new year, there wil be anternational Entente army of 1,250,000 men ready for the Balkan campaign. This would include the Serbian and Greek forces. Summarizing the Saloniki military situation, this authority said:

"There are 500,000 allied troops at Saloniki. In about two months' time Greece will have 600,000 troops, fully equipped and ready for action. The country is now thoroughly united under the leadership of Premier Venizelos. The Greek Army is actuated with but one idea, one dream—to re-establish their old bonds of friendship with the Serbians and to take revenge on the Bulgars.

"Telegrams were exchanged between the Serbian Premier, B. Pachitch and M. Venizelos to the same effect, in which they pledged themselves to re-establish the old bond of friendship and to unite in their fight against Bulgaria.

"The troops in Greece are in excellent condition. Plenty of supplies are being received from France and England. The plan of campaign will be to divide the army into two portions, one to go through Serbia, the other to concentrate at Lagos Bay, in Chalcidice, and by way of Gumurjina make for Bulgaria and Constantinople.

"Besides the Allied and Greek forces, there are about 150,000 Serbians. This makes a complete force of 1,250,000 men."

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 8.—The representatives of the Conservatives, Liberals, and Socialists today returned answers to the appeal of the King to form a coalition Government. This answer shows that the attempt has failed. In their reply the Conservatives say that the uncompromising basis for any such Government must be for Sweden to adhere to her constantly proclaimed independent and impartial neutrality and to the maintenance of her commercial connections with both belligerents. They are content to leave constitutional reform to the consideration of a commission of parliamentarians.

The Socialists regard as self-evident the condition that the new Government should carefully and loyally maintain absolute and impartial neutrality, such as has been proclaimed several times during the war from the Swedish side. The next claim on the new Government must be that it should immediately try to realize the claim of the people for constitutional reform. When the Conservatives refused to accept this claim the Socialists declined to participate in the Coalition Government.

After receiving these answers, the King summoned the Speakers of the First and Second Chambers. They will arrive in Stockholm tomorrow.

LAUDS BRITISH GUNNERS.

Duke d'Aosta Also Decorates Them for Their Work in Italy.

By PERCEVAL GIBBON.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WITH THE ITALIAN ARMY, Oct. 6.—A day or two ago the Duke d'Aosta in presenting decorations to men and officers of the British batteries, spoke his own and the official Italian mind regarding the share the British have borne in the two great and victorious offensives on this front. As commander of the Third Army, what the Duke says has special value.

He mentioned not alone sheer gunnery, but spoke with unrestrained generosity regarding the manner in which the big artillery men made themselves at home among their Italian allies, earning friendship on all hands. Nothing was ever more wonderful than the manner in which everybody is the friend of Thomas Atkins. Thomas has hooked on to local conditions in shorts like bathing drawers and a Colonial looking felt hat. He pervades the villages along his front like a stimulant atmosphere.

The infectious quality of his speech and manner was brought home to me when recently I narrowly escaped a collision between my car and the usual one-donkey-power country cart. The old peasant lady inhabiting the latter invoked the saints and finished with, "An' what abart it!"

They have had their share of casualties, but these are not severe. The guns have fired during the six months since they began arriving nearly half a million 100-pound shells.

LOAN TOTAL GROWS TO 250 MILLION

has been $100. The registered bond does not carry the same negotiability as the coupon bond, since the registration of ownership must be canceled by transfer.

Nelson Dean Jay, Vice President of the Guaranty Trust Company and member of the Liberty Loan Distribution Committee, issued a statement yesterday calling on the business community to exert greater efforts in the flotation of America's Second War Loan.

Banker Urges More Speed.

"If we are to make the loan the absolutely essential success it must be," he said, "we must speed up our efforts from now on. There is no such thing as 'well enough' unless we attain the mark set for us, or more. The subscription mark for this district was placed at a minimum of $1,500,000,000, to be raised within the period of four weeks before the subscription closes, yet at the end of the first week we find that the subscriptions aggregate but approximately $250,000,000.

"Our motto must be 'Work.' The pressing necessity for immediate and energetic action on the part of the entire business community is clearly shown by these figures. The time is now here when every man, of large means or small, must ask himself whether he is doing his part. Those who have means and credit must use not only their current funds, but borrow for future payment to the limit of their capacity to subscribe. For others partial payment plans are available and may be employed by every money earner and money saver.

"In order to place the opportunity to subscribe within the reach of every one, several thousand canvassers are now covering the city. They will give information to all in regard to the plans of payment, will receive applications and direct the subscriber to the nearest available bank for the completion of the transaction. This should greatly facilitate the work of subscription and stimulate action."

After advising against using savings bank funds or selling securities to buy Liberty Loan bonds, Mr. Jay said:

"This is not the time to give consideration to differences of opinion in regard to Governmental policies or tax measures. Whatever be our thought about these matters, our individual and national duty is clearly the successful flotation of the present loan and every other thought or need must be held in abeyance until that is accomplished."

W. V. King Pleads for Thrift.

Willard V. King, President of the Columbia Trust Company, declared yesterday that the purchaser of bonds of the Second Liberty Loan would derive much comfort from his investment; first, because of the feeling that he had supported the Government, and second, because of the material benefits accruing from the interest paid every six months on the bonds.

"Thrift," said Mr. King, "is a virtue more honored in the breach than in the observance in this country, and the preacher of thrift is likely to talk to unwilling ears. For so many years Americans have been conscious of their extravagance, and even somewhat proud of it, that they have a feeling that it would be unworthy of them to skimp. So far has this gone that the newly arrived immigrant quickly gets the notion, and it is a matter of common observation that in the homes of the well-to-do the greatest extravagance is shown, not by the head of the house, who could afford it, but by the servants We are in a fair way to learn many useful things in the course of this war. It is obvious that the close association of men from all stations of life and all parts of the country in the new army will make for a national spirit and a genuine democracy such as we have never before known. That these will not be acquired without hardship is just as evident."

Permission was obtained yesterday from Major Gen. Bell, stationed at Yaphank, L. I., for one hundred draft soldiers to come to this city tomorrow and sell Liberty Loan bonds under the direction of the Advisory Trades Committee. The men will be granted four days' leave, with pay, and they will devote their efforts to convassing the cloak and suit trade.

Cardinal Gibbons Favors Loan.

Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore has written the following to P. L. Goldsborough in response to an invitation to be present at a Liberty Loan meeting arranged by the Baltimore committee:

"I regret that it is not possible for me to be with you this evening, but I wish to assure you that the campaign now instituted for raising Maryland's share of the new Liberty Loan is of the deepest concern to me and will have my hearty co-operation. We must oversubscribe the amount that is expected of us."

In an appeal issued yesterday, calling upon all officers and employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad to aid the Government in winning the war, by subscribing to the second Liberty Loan, President Samuel Rea says:

"Our country is in the midst of a worldwide war, and the Government must have every support to carry it on. Subscriptions to the first 3½ per cent. Liberty Loan were very gratifying. Let us not fall behind in this new 4 per cent. loan. No safer investment can be made."

Every effort will be made to break the record set in the first Liberty Loan campaign, when 53,100 individual employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Lines East of Pittsburgh and Erie subscribed to a total of $3,440,000 worth of bonds. A plan of organization for the vigorous conduct of the campaign will be perfected today at a meeting to be held at 11 o'clock in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian Association Building, 1,421 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

Representatives of 130 Bohemian and Slovak associations perfected a Liberty Loan Sales Committee yesterday at a meeting in Bohemian National Hall, 321 East Seventy-third Street, and started the work going with pledges of $1,500,000 toward the loan. This sum will be advanced from the funds of the various organizations. In the first Liberty Loan campaign the associations subscribed $5,000,000, and this record is expected to be surpassed for the second loan.

In adherence to its motto, "Aggressive and Efficient Prosecution of the War," which it is carrying into every nook and corner of the Union by a great campaign of "Patriotism Through Education," the National Security League today sent a letter to the chairmen and secretaries of its 280 branches scattered throughout the country urging them to definite action in support of the second Liberty Loan.

REGISTER TODAY.

This is registration week. Today, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday the polls will be open from 5:30 P. M. until 10:30 P. M. On Saturday the polls will be open from 7 A. M. until 10:30 P. M. If you do not register you cannot vote.

WOMEN OPEN "BANK" FOR LOAN SUBSCRIBERS

Mayor Mitchel raised yesterday noon the flag which was the signal for the opening of the "Women's Liberty Loan Bank," which will be a feature of Madison Square and take in subscriptions until the Liberty Loan is completed. The Mayor was scheduled to make the opening address, but asked to be excused because of a hoarseness. The building is a miniature in wood, painted white, of the Sub-Treasury building in Wall Street and has been put up by the National League for Woman's Service in co-operation with the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee.

The idea of reproducing the Wall Street building came from Mrs. Charlotte Barnes, Chairman of the committee, and the league volunteered to finance the undertaking and carry it on. The building cost $700, and the workmen, beginning last Friday morning, completed the work Sunday night. It has four white wooden pillars in front and a flight of steps leads up to the single room inside, decorated with Liberty Loan posters, and having for furniture a couple of tables and a few chairs. The words "Liberty Bank," in gold letters, are across the front.

There will be women bankers to take subscriptions, and office hours will be from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. The "bank" was scheduled to open at noon yesterday, but at 11:30 Miss Louise Murray of 86 Gramercy Park came in to make the first purchase, and the "receiving teller" gladly took her $1,000 for a bond. Miss Matilda Chapman Allen was the second purchaser, and bought a fifty-dollar bond, and Mayor Mitchel sold Miss Maude Wetmore a two-hundred-dollar bond, all before the bank was officially open.

Miss Wetmore, representing the league, presided over the opening exercises and formally turned over the efforts of the league as they are represented in the building and the work to be done there to Mrs. Barnes.

Joseph Hartigan, representing the Second Federal Reserve District of the Liberty Loan Committee, made a speech before the Mayor's arrival, and Job Hedges made the closing address and drew the first men bond buyers.

There was a large gathering of men just outside the park, and to these Mr. Hedges called, as he closed his remarks:

"Perhaps you don't know the police as well as I do. I know they will be glad to help you get through and buy bonds. Make way. Come on."

There were grins on the faces of the bluecoats as they made an opening in the crowd, but for a time no one stirred. Then two young men stepped forward and on a double quick started for the "bank." Just at the steps with a little run one took the lead and was the first man to buy a bond. He was Joseph Ostro of 1,053 Bryant Avenue. His bond was $50. Following the two a number of men went up. Mr. Hedges made a special appeal to Germans.

"I see Germans in the crowd," he said. "They should be in the first ranks at this time. President Wilson says we are not fighting the German people. If the German people on the other side are following the Kaiser unwillingly we must aid them. If not we must whip them both."

Robert Sherower, an American citizen, from Yokohama, Japan, was one of the first to accept Mr. Hedge's invitation. Mr. Sherower purchased a $100 bond from Mrs. Barnes, and asked that it be mailed to him in Japan.

The women had their own cartoonist on duty. He was a young sailor whose card read: "Halle T. Hendrix, Uncle Sam's Navy, N. Y. Address Most Any Place." Hendrix said he had left scrubbing decks for drawing cartoons and was connected with the United States Navy Publicity Bureau, 318 West Thirty-ninth Street. When he saw what the women were doing he got permission to help them and promised them all the cartoons he drew.

Just what is expected of women in the Second Liberty Loan sale and how the Women's Liberty Loan Committee will conduct its share in it to sell bonds to every woman in the Second Federal Reserve District was outlined yesterday by Mrs. John T. Pratt, Chairman of the Women's Liberty Loan Committee of the Second Federal Reserve District.

"As the records of the last loan show, women who understand about the Liberty Loan are always ready to buy bonds," Mrs. Pratt said. "Our plan divides itself into three general lines: First, to see that every woman in the district, whether she lives on Fifth Avenue, in the Bronx, or on a farm in Ulster County or northern New Jersey, knows about the Liberty Loan; what it means in reference to buying food, supplies and equipment for our army and our allies, what it means in maintaining business in good condition by adding three billion dollars to the Government's ability to purchase American manufacturers' materials and to pay for American labor during the war, and what it means as an investment and as an income producer.

"The second part of our campaign is to see that every woman who knows about bonds buys one, or as many more than one as she can afford or will be able to afford if she begins to save something out of her income every day and applies the savings to a bond.

"Our third undertaking will be to see that every woman who has bought a bond sells one to somebody else, and not necessarily to a woman, either. We want to do more than add a billion or two to the record of Liberty bond sales; we want to be able to say that the women stood shoulder to shoulder with the men in every department of their Liberty Loan activity. To do all this requires organization. We have already enlisted the services of over 400 women's societies and thousands of individual workers in all parts of this campaign. Instead of being asked to aid the work in a general way as women's organizations were in the last campaign, each club and society is specifying the particular branch in which it will help.

"In New York City and as many other cities of the district as possible the women will relieve the men of the duties of bond selling in booths at department stores, hotels, restaurants, railroad stations, and mercantile organizations. For this service hundreds of women volunteer bond sellers are being trained by instructors who are specialists in this subject. Many of the booths are already in active operation.

"Women who understand about the Liberty Loan are always ready to buy bonds, as the records of the last loan show. And every woman who has bought a bond is a good bond salesman, because women like to defend their investments to their husbands, their neighbors, and their friends. In the case of the Liberty Loan the defense is so easy that bonds are sure to be purchased on the recommendation of a previous purchaser."

COLLEGES TO WORK FOR LOAN.

Princeton Holds Stirring Meeting and Harvard Enters Drive.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 8.—An enthusiastic mass meeting, preceded by a parade, in which undergraduates, members of the Government aeronautical school, and townspeople to the number of 2,000 participated, was held in Princeton tonight in the interests of the Liberty Loan. Sam White, still famed in Princeton's hall of honor as the man who brought the Tigers' football championship in 1911, is Chairman of the local committee.

Princeton subscribed $272,000 for the last loan, and attempts will be made to make the present subscription $400,000. The undergraduates of the university are expected to contribute generously. Alfred Barber, Secretary of the Public Utilities Commission, addressed the mass meeting. He was introduced by President John Grier Hibben.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 8.—Harvard students today organized a committee to conduct a Liberty Loan drive next week. Efforts will be made to have every one of the 2,800 students at the university, even the poorest one working his way through college, buy a bond. Arrangements have been made with Cambridge banks to enable subscribers to pay for the bons on the weekly instalment plan. Each student will be personally asked to subscribe and publicity will be given through streamers, posters, and advertising in the college publications.

LOAN DRIVE AT EVERY CAMP.

Spartanburg's Motto "A Million or Bust"—Will Stimulate Rivalry.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMP WADSWORTH, SPARTANBURG, S. C., Oct. 8.—A Liberty Loan campaign, by which American soldiers will do double duty—"buy and fight"—is planned by the War Department for every camp, according to an announcement issued today, which stated that Wadsworth's Liberty Loan goal had been set at $1,000,000 by Oct. 27. The drive here is scheduled to start within a few days, and at other camps just as soon as arrangements can be made with banks near them.

The plan is to appoint a staff officer at each camp to take charge of the campaign for each division. He will be empowered to direct the Adjutant of the units in camp to be regimental subscription managers, and they, in turn, will pick three men from each company or battery to see that every soldier, from Colonel to cook, is asked to "do his bit." Every midnight the Signal Corps at the camp will flash into Washington the day's total contribution, and this will be posted on a big bulletin board to be erected there.

The scheme is to extend the movement to our camps abroad and to permit the troops in the Philippines and elsewhere to participate. In order to stimulate the spirit of rivalry which the drive is bound to create, each camp, at home or overseas, will be promptly notified of the daily progress of its rivals.

Major Edward Olmsted, Assistant Chief of Staff, has been placed in charge of the bond drive here, and this evening he completed his staff of assistants. Following the receipt and distribution of 30,000 application blanks, work was at once started on a thirty-foot thermometer, which will record the upward movement of the drive by five thousands. The huge thermometer will be placed in division headquarters. Across its top in letters two feet high will run the slogan, "A Million or Bust."

BOSTON'S TOTAL $29,300,000.

Waterbury, Conn., Heads Honor List in New England District.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 8.—Waterbury, Conn., headed the honor list of New England cities and towns today when the Liberty Loan Committee tabulated reports of bond subscriptions for Saturday. The Connecticut city's total was $601,000, greater even than the figure for Boston, which came second with $440,000. Lowell came third with subscriptions reported for the day amounting to $167,000. The total for this district for the first week was $29,300,000. Waterbury's big day brought its total for the week up to $932,000, almost equal to that of New Haven, which had $983,000, while Hartford led the State with $1,807,000.

Lowell took second place among Massachusetts cities with a week's total of $610,000. Boston, in first place, having $12,500,000. Other totals for the week were: Springfield, $415,000; Worcester, $253,000; Burlington, Vt., $238,000, and Rutland, Vt., $225,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Today's official statement of Liberty Loan subscriptions, which carries the campaign up to noon of last Saturday, shows 13,612 subscriptions for a total of $19,864,340 in the Seventh Federal Reserve Bank district.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 8.—Two big subscriptions to the Liberty Loan were made here today. The Merchants' National Bank subscribed $1,000,000 and the National State and City Bank $750,000. Two other $1,000,000 subscriptions were made last week.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Sept. 30.—Governor Arthur Yager has appointed a committee of representatives of all of the banks of the island to work out plans for the sale of bonds of the second Liberty Loan. Herman L. Cochran, cashier of the American Colonial Bank, is Chairman of the committee. For the first Liberty Loan more than $1,000,000 was subscribed in Porto Rico.

SPEAKER CLARK TO TOUR.

Will Start West Friday in Interest of Liberty Loan.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Speaker Clark today joined the ranks of the speakers for the Liberty Loan. In response to a telegram from Secretary McAdoo, now touring the West, the Speaker announced that he would make a series of speeches in Missouri, Oklahoma, and possibly other States. He will leave for the West Friday.

Secretary McAdoo's itinerary from Portland, Ore., to Dallas, Texas, was announced tonight as follows: Oct. 10, Portland, Ore.; Oct. 11, San Francisco; Oct. 13 to 15 included, San Diego; Oct. 16, Los Angeles; Oct. 18, Salt Lake City; Oct. 19, Colorado Springs; Oct. 20, Wichita, Kan.; Oct. 21, Muskogee, Okla., (morning.)

Mr. McAdoo will reach Dallas the night of Oct. 21. He will remain away from Washington until about Oct. 26, and probably will make a tour of the South before returning to the capital.

Secretary Baker spoke at a Liberty Loan meeting here today. "Those in charge of the Liberty bond sale," the Secretary said, "ask you to pour out your money, not at the feet of the God of War, but into the lap of the Goddess of Liberty."

Future generations, he said, would ask if the victory had been at the front alone. The answer would be that the victory was won at home as well as by the army of patriots, who through their financial support of the Government made it possible for the army at the front to deliver its most effective blows.

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 8.—William G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury, passed through Spokane early today on his speaking trip in the interest of the second Liberty Loan, and departed immediately for Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. At Coeur d'Alene he said the first duty of America citizens was to support the American soldiers and that $14,000,000,000 must be raised between now and the 1st of next July.

"We can raise this money," he said. "We have got it in American in abundance. There never was a nation so strong in material resources. There never was a nation whose patriotism was more superb."

FORGERY TO BEAT THE LOAN

False Telegram Sent to Keep Hillis from a Big Detroit Meeting.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Oct. 8.—German propaganda in Detroit is blamed for an attempt to prevent or hamper the big mass meeting in the armory tonight, marking the opening day of the Liberty Loan campaign.

Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis of Brooklyn, en route to Detroit for the meeting, received a message stating that the meeting had been postponed. The message bore the forged signature of a member of the local Loan Committee.

Suspecting the authenticity of the message, Dr. Hillis telephoned members of the committee for more information. He was informed that Detroit was solidly behind the Liberty Loan, and that his services were urgently needed.

The effort to stop Dr. Hillis seems to have had a double purpose. The telegram, if its statement had been credited by Dr. Hillis, would have had the effect of dampening the opening of the Liberty Loan campaign, and also would have prevented the Brooklyn clergyman from making his report on German atrocities before a Detroit audience.

"I have had a warning letter in my pocket for several days of efforts made by pro-Germans to embarrass us," said Abner E. Larned, sales manager of the campaign. "At that time the committee took the matter rather lightly, but this morning word was sent out to the workers that they were to report at once the name and address of any individual making pro-German statements.

"Such names will be handed over to the United States Secret Service."

WILL MOVE REPEAL OF TAX INEQUALITIES

Penrose Wants 8% Levy on Earnings Eliminated and Mail Impost Recast.

OTHER SENATORS AROUSED

Action at Next Session Foreshadowed — Simmons Advocates Remodeling Second-Class Rates.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Members of the Senate Finance Committee are studying the effect of objectionable features of the new revenue act, with the purpose of offering amendments for the repeal of those provisions which impose double taxation and are regarded as carrying injustice to certain individuals. Senator Penrose, ranking Republican member of the committee, who is opposed to these features, declared today that he would offer amendments to the present act at the next session.

Two of the features which Mr. Penrose will seek to eliminate will be the double tax on professional men and small tradespeople—the 8 per cent. tax on their incomes—and the zone tax on advertising in newspapers and magazines. Mr. Penrose holds that the tax on second-class matter should be increased over the one-cent-per-pound rate, but only after a scientific investigation by the Post Office Committee. Therefore he will offer a bill at the next session to provide for such an investigation, with the idea of having the Post Office Committee report a bill dealing justly with the newspapers and magazines.

Senator Simmons, Chairman of the Finance Committee, today gave out an abstract of his speech on the Revenue bill, in which he objected to the second-class rate provision but upheld the 8 per cent. tax on earnings over $6,000. Discussing the latter, he said:

An Additional Income Tax.

"In the present revenue law and in the House bill the excess profits tax applied only to corporations and partnerships. The Senate committee thought that there was no good reason in principle or otherwise why an individual who was making excess profits should not contribute to the expense of the Government as well as corporations or partnerships, so we added individuals. This amendment, which imposes an 8 per cent. tax on incomes over $6,000, brings everybody engaged in trade and in business under the provisions of this bill and requires them to contribute their mite to the war. The Senate desired to relieve from this tax certain occupations and professions where the earnings were made through personal service, without any invested capital. The conferees of the House, however, insisted that there was no reason in principle why the professional man should not pay a tax, as well as any other American citizen who happened to be engaged in business as a partnership or as an individual. The Senate conferees yielded to the justice of that contention.

"It is a tax very much of the same character as the special tax on munitions, except that it does allow an exemption of $6,000. It is in effect an additional income tax. So is the war profits tax. There is nothing in the nature of a joker in that tax of 8 per cent. on incomes of over $6,000. The levy was deliberate, and, we think, just. It was discussed on the floor of the Senate, and everybody should have known just what it did."

In discussing the second-class rate system Mr. Simmons said:

"The orginial propostion to impose a tax on advertising matter under the zone system provided for a very much higher rate than we finally agreed upon. The original proposition was that both the rates upon reading matter and the rates upon advertising matter should presently take effect—I think in thirty days after the passage of the bill, or it may have been the 1st of January. That was changed upon the insistence of your conferees; so that none of these rates, either as to reading matter of advertising matter, will take effect until the 1st day of July, 1918, and the increases will be made annually on advertising matter through a period of four years, and on reading matter through a period of two years; that is, the first increase on reading matter will be for the first year only a quarter of a cent, and for the second year another quarter of a cent, making half a cent.

A Movable Zone Rate.

"There is also a provision, inserted by the conference upon the insistence of the Senate conferees, that a publisher shall be permitted to mail his publication from any Post Office and to secure the zone rate of that Post Office; that is to say, if a magazine is published in New York, it may be sent by freight or express to San Francisco and distributed from the San Francisco office at the zone rates applicable to that office. I think that is a provision which will afford in some cases very great relief against what is characterized by some of the publishers as a hardship.

"I want to add that, speaking for myself personally, in the Finance Committee I thought that postal taxes, whether upon letters or upon publications, newspapers, and periodicals, were matters which should be dealt with as a postal measure rather than as a revenue measure. I did not believe then, and I do not believe now, that any tax should be imposed upon the facilities of the Post Office Department except for the purpose of defraying the expenses of that department and that service and its enlargement and expansion. It will be a long time, even if the Government shall finally make a profit from the transportation and distribution of second-class mail matter, as it is making a profit in the carriage of letters, before we shall receive a sufficient revenue from the Post Office Department to make the necessary extensions and enlargments in postal facilities to which the people of this country are entitled and which the best interests of the Government demand.

"I do not believe that we ought to be imposing taxes upon these facilities for the purpose of defraying the expenses of this war. I think this is one subject upon which we ought not to lay our hands. Entertaining that opinion, I felt that it was not a matter for the Finance Committee, but a matter for the Post Office Committee. I was glad, therefore, when we were able to write into this bill a provision that the tax that we impose shall not take effect until July, 1918. I trust that before that time arrives the Post Office Committee will work this matter out in a more satisfactory way than your committee or the conferees have been able to work it out, and that whatever additional tax it is found expedient and proper and just to impose may be imposed, not for the purpose of raising money to defray the expenses of this war, but for the purpose of raising more money to increase the postal facilities."

PAPER AS WAR MATERIAL.

Basis on Which It Is Proposed to Control News Print Mills.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Developments in the move to bring the newsprint manufacturers under Government control are not expected to assume shape until Congress meets again in December. The resolution from the Senate Committee on Printing will then have a place on the Senate calendar, and the alignment on the proposition of Government control of an important industry will begin.

The report of the committee was the subject of comment among Government officials and Congressmen today. The approaching trial of the indicted news print manufacturers in New York City, it is believed, will reinforce the argument for Government control, as the trial will be employed by the Government to bring out evidence to show extortion.

Detailed plans for taking over newsprint plants have not yet been worked out by Government officials. The aim, it is said, is to deal with paper as with fuel, wheat, and other commodities regarded as war materials. Paper on which newspapers are printed, officials hold, is indispensable to the prosecution of the war against Germany.

The plan in general is to take over the newsprint paper mills and distributing plants, place them in the hands of Government officials, and see that they are conducted in compliance with regulations laid down by the Federal Trade Commission, which would have price-fixing powers. All this depends on the view Congress takes of the matter.

MITCHEL NOON MEETINGS.

Business Men's League Opens Campaign in Broadway Today.

The Fusion Committee of 1917 announced yesterday that noonday meetings are to be held by the Commercial Travelers and Business Men's Mitchel League each week day at 557 Broadway, between Prince and Spring Streets.

The formal opening of the headquarters will take place tomorrow noon. Heads of various city departments will speak. G. J. Corey, Chairman of the League, said yesterday:

"Organized for the purpose of electing an independent administration for the City of New York, with John Purroy Mitchel at its head, we stand for good, clean, honest government and we can only retain it by organization and hard work. We are all good American citizens and realize that a coalition government is the only safe and sound one for cities as cosmopolitan as New York is. We are satisfied that New York has been better governed in the past four years than ever before and at this time we cannot afford to swap horses in the middle of the world's war, in which Mayor Mitchel has been a central figure."

MORE G. O. P. AID FOR MAYOR

Young Republican Club Wants Bennett to Quit Campaigning.

The New York Young Republican Club, at a meeting at the Murray Hill Hotel last night, adopted resolutions pledging support to Mayor Mitchel and the entire Fusion ticket and then appointed a committee to consider a proposal to request William M. Bennett, Republican Mayoralty candidate, to virtually withdraw from the race by declaring in favor of his rival and not making a campaign. Under the law Mr. Bennett cannot withdraw as a nominee, but following the example of Judge Flammer, in the Jerome campaign, he can go on the stump and advise the citizens not to vote for him.

The members agreed to make a determined fight in the interest of Mayor Mitchel and the committee will confer with the Brooklyn Young Republican Club and other Republican organizations for the purpose of doing missionary work among the Republican district leaders and workers.

REGISTER TODAY.

This is registration week. Today, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday the polls will be open from 5:30 P. M. until 10:30 P. M. On Saturday the polls will be open from 7 A. M. until 10:30 P. M. If you do not register you cannot vote.

MAYOR QUITS STUMP FOR THE NEXT 3 DAYS

Scattered independent nominating petitions were filed for Controller, President of the Board Aldermen, and for borough, county, city, and judicial offices under the emblems of the two parties mentioned, but in no case did they carry the necessary number of signatures to legalize them. Certain press reports stated that this board had interdicted the placing of William M. Bennett's name upon the war ballot as the Republican candiate for Mayor. This is wholly wrong. Mr. Bennett's name is printed on the war ballot as the Republican candidate for Mayor.

Magistrate Corrigan, before the situation had been straightened out, had prepared a complaint and affidavit to be submitted to the court on an application for an injunction restraining the issue of the ballots. After being in touch with the Board of Elections, Magistrate Corrigan said that the error had been rectified to his satisfaction.

In the city it requires 1,500 names on a petition to nominate. The Fusion people had filed petitions bearing 2,844 names for Mitchel, but the rest of the ticket had only 564 names. The law requires that the ballots cast by soldiers shall not be counted until the sixth Tuesday after the election, and in commenting upon the possible effect of this delay Chairman Emory R. Buckner of the Fusion Campaign Committee said the soldier vote would not involve the election materially, as Mayor Mitchel's plurality would be sufficient without the sodiers' vote, as "no soldier or sailor will vote for Mr. Hearst."

Former Governor William Sulzer announced yesterday that he would support Mayor Mitchel. He said the only issue in the campaign was Murphy or Mitchel, and that he was against Hylan because a vote for him meant a vote for Boss Murphy.

"I am for Mitchel," continued Mr. Sulzer, "because I believe that he is honest, sincere, capable, unbossed, loyal to the public, and because I know his administration, with all its limitations, is a thousand times better than the scandalous administration Boss Murphy from his throne in Delmonico's gave us when he was telling the occupant of the Mayor's office what to do."

Sulzer's Questions to Hylan.

Mr. Sulzer propounded a few questions which he said he wanted Judge Hylan to answer. Some of them are:

Mr. Hylan be honest. While you have much to say about the interests and how they finance political candidates, tell us who is financing your campaign? Is it Boss Murphy or a great railroad corporation, with headquarters in Philadelphia and New York? What have you promised this railroad?

Mr. Hylan, be honest. Stop talking piffle politics, stop dodging newspaper reporters, stop going around in gum shoes, and tell us if you stand squarely and unequivocally with President Wilson regarding all his policies and acts in connection with the war between the United States and Germany? Don't say you are a patriot. Every one says that. Answer yes or no.

Mr. Hylan, be honest and tell us what promises you made and to whom to get the nomination for Mayor?

Mr. Hylan, be honest and tell us if you are elected to whom will you give the patronage—Murphy or McCooey.

Mr. Hylan, be honest and tell us are you or are you not a Tammany organization man, and if you are elected will you or will you not be loyal to the Tammany organization?

Mr. Hylan, be honest and tell us if you are elected the names of the Tammany district leaders in New York you intend to appoint to office?

Mr. Hylan be honest, and when you denounce the Mitchel administration tell us how you will improve it? What changes if elected you will make, and how will you make them? Be definite.

Mr. Buckner said yesterday that the Fusion Campaign Committee was giving its full attention to getting out a large registration.

"The silent vote," he said, "will be an important factor in this campaign. It generally wakes up too late to register. Our organizations in every Assembly district will work to get out a full registration, and we are being assisted by independent committees and the woman's suffrage organizations. More than 1,000 young men have volunteered to help us in the registration."

SAY TAMMANY ROBBED RUSH

No Opposition to Republican Nominee's Move in Court to Get His Name on the Ballot.

William M. Bennett, who ran ahead of Mayor Mitchel in the Republican primaries, will make the primary frauds, for which more than a score of Election Inspectors have already been indicted, the principal issue in his campaign. This decision was reached by Mr. Bennett yesterday after a conference with some of his friends and supporters who succeeded in convincing him that in the attempt to count him out his political enemies had provided him with a double-barreled moral issue with which he can go gunning for Tammany Hall and Mayor Mitchel.

From reports which have reached the Bennett Campaign Headquarters in the Bartholdi Building, Twenty-third Street and Broadway, his campaign managers have reached the conclusion that the frauds were committed by connivance between the Republican and Democratic Election Inspectors. That in fact the latter agreed to shut their eyes while the Republicans counted Bennett out, if the Republicans would return the courtesy by looking the other way while they changed the vote for Thomas E. Rush, anti-Tammany candidate for a Supreme Court nomination, to aid John V. McAvoy, Tammany's candidate for the nomination. At least one affidavit stating that this was done in an election district in upper Manhattan is in the hands of Mr. Bennett's campaign managers now.

Hamilton McInnis, counsel for Mr. Bennett, filed in the Supreme Court yesterday an order to show cause why the name of Mr. Bennett should not be printed on all the ballots for this city as that of the Republican nominee for Mayor. The order was made returnable before Justice Whitaker and will be argued at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

There will be no opposition from Mayor Mitchel. Abraham S. Gilbert, counsel for the Mapor, after a copy of the order had been served upon him, said:

"Of course, we will consent to an order, directing that Mr. Bennett's name be printed on the ballot as that of the Republican candidate for Mayor."

Despite the ready consent of Mayor Mitchel, it was predicted yesterday that, owing to technicalities, days might elapse before the order can be made effective.

Friends of Mr. Bennett are hard at work trying to obtain an indorsement for their candidate from the Republican organisations in Kings, Queens, Bronx, and Richmond. That the New York County Republican Committee, though it represents the organization with which Mr. Bennett has been affiliated since he became active in politics, will withhold its indorsement has been apparent to them since the meeting last week, where the vote stood four to one against the nominee.

Mr. Bennett would not say last night whether he had received assurances from any of the other county organizations. Joseph H. De Bragga, head of the Republican organization in Queens, has called a meeting of the Executive Committee of that body for Wednesday.

"I expect that there will be an indorsement of Senator Bennett," said Mr. De Bragga. "He is the Republican nominee for Mayor and no other course is open to us. Personally, I favor such an indorsement."

Jacob A. Livingston, the Republican boss in Kings, who is supposed to lean toward Mr. Bennett as the "regular" nominee, opened campaign headquarters yesterday at 192 Montague Street, but did not say a word about hanging up the picture of Bennett in it. It was said last night that the meeting of the Republican County Committee to act on the candidacy of Mr. Bennett probably would be deferred until next week, most of the committeemen being busy this week with registration. State Controller Eugene M. Travis, U. S. Senator William M. Calder, and Commissioner of Plant and Structure J. F. H. Kracke, all influential in Republican politics in Kings County, are out for Mayor Mitchel, and under the circumstances Mr. Livingston and his friends have come to realize that they had better go slow in attempting to put through a Bennett indorsement in Brooklyn.

Scouts for Mr. Bennett have been out in the highways and by-ways of the city for many nights studying the methods employed by soap-box orators in making converts. His campaign managers freely admitted yesterday that with the Republican district leaders in Manhattan, where Mr. Bennett must make his big fight, so hostile that they have closed their club houses to the nominee of their own party and in many instances turned them into Fusion headquarters with pictures of Mayor Mitchel displayed conspicuously, the supporters of Mr. Bennett would be compelled to expose themselves to the wintry blasts and make their campaign on the street corners, at least in Manhattan. The Bennett campaign coffers are practically empty.

URUGUAY DETAINS CHARGE.

Holds Teuton Until Her Own Men Are Out of Germany.

MONTEVIDEO, Oct. 8.—The Uruguayan Government, which has severed diplomatic relations with Germany, has notified the German Chargé not to leave the country until the Uruguayan diplomatic representatives are safely out of Germany.

The Government has asked Congress to approve the utilisation by Uruguay of the interned German ships.

MORE BALLOT INDICTMENTS.

Four Primary Election Inspectors Accused of Falsifying Returns.

The Grand Jury returned four more indictments yesterday in the alleged ballot frauds on Primary Day. In each case the defendant named was an inspector of an upper east side election district. The indictments charged a violation of Section 753 of the penal law in that they falsified the number of ballots cast in their districts.

Bench warrants were issued by Judge Mulqueen, and the men probably will be arrested today.

Assistant District Attorneys Olcott and Wallace expect, it is said, to indict about fifty inspectors in all.

They have thus far obtained a total of twenty-six indictments. Today the prosecutors will present to the Grand Jury the facts in the case of a district leader who was alleged to have inspired his son to interfere with the functions of an election inspector in one of the uptown districts.

CRAIG ASSAILS MITCHEL.

Says His West Side Plan Shows He Is Unfit for Office.

Charles L. Craig, candidate for Controller on the Tammany Hall Democratic Fusion ticket, made a statement last night in which he declared that the plan proposed by the Joint Conference Committee of the Board of Estimate and the Public Service Commission, for the New York Central's west side improvement, was "the severest arraignment of Mayor Mitchel and Controller Prendergast that has ever been made."

Mr. Craig before he became candidate for Controller was counsel for the West End Association. He said in his statement that the new conditions framed by the conference committee fully vindicated the stand he had taken as spokesman for that organization.

"The committee report is not less than an indictment of Mitchel and Prendergast for malfeasance in office," said Mr. Craig. "It conclusively establishes that there never was the slightest justification for the huge grants to the New York Central of the park and waterfront property that Mitchel and Prendergast worked for to the last. Practically every contention made by me for the West End Association is established and adopted by the unanimous action of the conference committee.

"The joint committee report not only shows that Mitchel and Prendergast are wholly unfit and unworthy to be intrusted with the administration of great funds and property, but it also demonstrates that a very simple solution, just alike to the railroad and to the public, can be had without the intolerable delay and damage to the port development that Mitchel and Prendergast have persisted in, in their efforts to enrich the New York Central at the expense of the people of the City of New York."

TAMMANY APPEALS TO WILSON VOTERS

HYLAN'S SPEAKING TOUR

Democratic Fusion Committee Will Be in Charge of Big Meetings.

The aloofness of Mayor Mitchel in the Presidential campaign last year will be used by Tammany Hall and its allies as an argument to alienate Wilson Democrats from the Mayor's candidacy. The first gun in this campaign was fired yesterday by John J. O'Connell, Chairman of the New York County Progressives Committee, who with his following has made common cause with Tammany and the Democratic Fusion Committee in supporting Judge John F. Hylan. Mr. O'Connell in a formal statement took issue with a recent statement by Mayor Mitchel to the effect that he (the Mayor) did not participate in the Wilson meetings last year because Tammany Hall kept him off the platform.

He told of a conversation he had with Joseph M. Price, one of the organizers of the Woodrow Wilson Independent League, on the second Saturday before election, while they were on their way together to a Wilson meeting at Cooper Union, which was being held under the auspices of the league, with Jacob H. Schiff presiding, and Bainbridge Colby, Rabbi Wise, and Francis J. Heaney of San Francisco the speakers. Mr. Price besides being active in the Woodrow Wilson Independent League had been one of the prime factors in the Committee of One Hundred and Seven, to which Mayor Mitchel owed his independent nomination for Mayor in 1913.

Mr. O'Connell, (jokingly)—Is Mayor Mitchel going to preside at the meeting?

Mr. Price—No. You know he is neutral. I have tried several times this week to get him to preside or to go on the platform, but he said he was a Fusion Mayor and would not take sides publicly.

Mr. O'Connell, (with a laugh)—If he is so neutral it is queer that all his running mates and all his heads of departments are actively stumping for Hughes.

Mr. Price—Well, I think neutrality is the proper thing for him, don't you?

Mr. O'Connell—That depends on how you look at it. But Mr. Mitchel might find it awkward when he looks for Wilson's support next year.

Mr. Price—I never thought of that. I will see him about it.

Mr. Price could not be reached last night at his home, 307 West Ninety-third Street. Mayor Mitchel said he could not recall having been asked to preside at the Cooper Union meeting.

The speaking campaign for Judge Hylan and his associates on the Tammany Hall-Democratic Fusion ticket will not really get going until next week. While Judge Hylan will appear at one or two gatherings this week, Tammany and its allies will focus their efforts on getting its voters registered. In the arrangement of the big rallies for Judge Hylan Tammany Hall will keep in the background as much as possible. For this reason the work in connection with the big meetings in Manhattan has been left in the hands of the Democratic Fusion Committee.

Congressman Thomas F. Smith, now that the session of Congress has come to a close, has taken active charge of affairs at Tammany Hall, with Chief Murphy dropping in for a couple of hours during the forenoon to look matters over and meet the district leaders. Yesterday Mr. Murphy was asked regarding the recent report that he might retire either during or immediately after the campaign.

"Did you see that report, Chief?" Mr. Murphy was asked. The Tammany leader grinned.

"Didn't it say that worry and ill-health was driving me into retirement!" he asked. Mr. Murphy was told that something of the sort was said. Then the Tammany leader, glowing with health, arose from his chair, expanded his chest, grinned again, and asked:

"Well, do you think I look sick and worried? I haven't felt better or had less to worry me for many years."

German Empire or take a position of independence in the days of reconstruction that are to follow. For this reason I herewith tender my resignation as Professor of Politics, to take effect, on the morning of Tuesday, Oct. 9, 1917.

I cannot find words to convey to you what it means to sever close ties of so many years' standing. Above all do I regret to part from my colleagues. As I think of their scholarship and their worldwide reputation and compare them with the few obscure and willful trustees who now dominate the university and terrorize the young instructors, I cannot repress my astonishment that America, of all countries, has made the status of the professor lower than that of the manual laborer, who, through his union, has at least some voice in the terms and conditions of his employment. Holding his position literally by the day, the Professor is liable to dismissal without a hearing, without the judgment of his colleagues, who are his real peers. I am sure that when the people understand the true state of affairs in our universities they will speedily enact legislation which will strip boards of trustees of their absolute power over the intellectual life of the institutions under their management.

In severing relations with my employers I do not leave the great republic of Columbia students, alumni, and professors. With them I have ties that cannot break while I live. And to you, Sir, I am deeply indebted for the courtesy and thoughtful consideration that I have always received at your hands.

CHARLES A. BEARD.

Professor Beard refused last night to add anything to this letter, or to identify the "small and active group" of trustees referred to by him. It was leraned, however, that Frederic R. Coudert, William Barclay Parsons, and Francis Sedgwick Bangs had been some of the trustees that had displayed greatest interest in the speech that was delivered by Professor Beard last Spring, and that they had been active, also, in suppressing any utterances tending to promote "disloyalty" among the educators and students at the university.

Mr. Bangs was also one of the members of the special committee of the Trustees that had investigated the charges against Cattell and Dana, and had assisted in drawing up the following report:

"This warning," (referring to a warning that had been issued against disloyal utterances,) "was the final warning of the university to all concerned with it in any capacity, from the highest to the lowest, and expressed the unalterable determination of the trustees that all those connected with Columbia University, either on the rolls of its Faculties or on the rolls of its students, must loyally support all laws of the United States, and that any such person who should oppose or counsel opposition to the effective enforcement of the laws of the United States, or should speak or write or commit any act of sedition or treason, would be promptly separated from the university."

The speech that was delivered by Professor Beard at the conference at the Hotel Astor was a vigorous protest against censorship of free speech.

"There is no authority with the right to censor what I shall say," he was quoted as having said at that time. "And if any one is discontented with the Government and doesn't like the flag, let him come out in the open and say it.

"If we have to suppress everything we don't like to hear, this country is resting on a pretty wabbly basis. This country was founded on disrespect and the denial of authority, and it is no time to stop free discussion."

The speech was widely quoted in the newspapers, and it was generally known at the university that some of the trustees had taken exception to it. No action was taken, however, indicating that there was a desire for Professor Beard's resignation, and his letter came as a surprise to many of the members of the Faculties.

"I regret exceedingly that Professor Beard has resigned," said Professor Robinson last night. "It is not that any of us at the university are pro-German or disloyal. It is simply that we fear that a condition of repression may arise in this country similar to that which we laughed at in Germany. There has been a surprising lot of resentment over the expulsion of Professors Cattell and Dana."

Professor Robinson admitted that he had voiced similar views in a recent address to the members of one of his classes, and that both Professor Beard and Professor John Dewey had also frankly stated their opposition to the expulsion of Professors Cattell and Dana.

Professor Beard is a native of Newcastle, Ind. He is married and lives at 430 West 116th Street. He entered Columbia University as a student in 1902, after having studied at universities in England, Germany, and other European countries, and was appointed a lecturer in history at Columbia in 1904. Three years later he was appointed Associate Professor of Politics, and still later Professor of Political Science.

Dr. John Dewey, Professor of Philosophy, issued this statement last night upon the resignation of Professor Beard:

"I regard the action of Professor Beard as the natural consequence of the degrading action of the trustees last week. I personally regret the loss to the university of such a scholarly man and a teacher of such rare power."

HYLAN GETS A CHALLENGE.

Willcox Asks Evidence to Justify Statements About Schools.

President Willcox of the Board of Education yesterday sent the following letter to Judge John F. Hylan, Democratic candidate for Mayor:

"It can hardly be supposed that a Judge accustomed to weighing evidence and rendering impartial judicial decisions based upon evidence, could attack the good name of the public school system of this city without having reasonable proof of the truth of his assertions.

"You are reported to have publicly stated last Friday evening that 'Our public schools are today in control of the Rockefeller interests.' As the official head of the public school system I am unable to detect the slightest indication of such control, nor do I know of any member of the Board of Education or any employe of the department who believes that this statement is true. For the information of the Board of Education and the general public, therefore, I challenge you to produce the evidence which in your opinion justifies such a conclusion."

I. W. W. HEARING PUT OFF.

Prisoners Held Under Chicago Indictments Go Back to Jail.

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, Carlo Tresca, Arturo Giovanitti and Giovanni Baldazzi, the I. W. W. leaders, arrested in New York ten days ago at the request of the Chicago authorities, where they are under indictment charged with conspiracy to obstruct the operation of the military laws of the United States and other offenses involving the sovereignty of the nation, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Hitchcock yesterday afternoon. By consent the hearing was postponed until next Tuesday afternoon. An application by Tresca to have his bail reduced from $10,000 to $7,000 was denied.

Two men, said to be of German origin, were questioned for hours by officers on Governors Island yesterday. The men came ashore on the island at 2 A. M. from a rowboat and were taken into custody by soldiers. They said they were fishermen who had lost their way. Late in the afternoon they were vouched for by a citizen, known to the authorities, and were then permitted to depart.

FORESAW THE GREEK CRISIS.

Bulgarians in 1915 Were Kept Advised by Pro-German Ministers.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ATHENS, Oct. 6, (Delayed.)—Revelation follows upon revelation in the Parliamentary inquiry into the doings of the pro-German Cabinets of Skouloudis and Professor Lambros. The latest personage to appear before the Commission of Inquiry is M. Naoum, formerly Greek Minister at Sofia.

His evidence gives the measure of the intimacy that existed, at the time of the Greek mobilization in 1915, between official sircles in Sofia and the royal court at Athens. M. Naoum testified that the mobilization provoked stupefication and panic in Sofia. The Bulgarian newspapers, however, hastened to announce that division had arisen between the Knig and Venizelos and that the Greek Government would have to resign. Thereupon M. Naoum rang up the Foreign Office at Sofia and asked for the issue of a denial but failed to get it because, as he says, the Bulgarian political authorities were convinced of the disagreement in question and were only awaiting the resignation of Venizelos, which actually happened. The announcement was deliberately published in advance so as to reassure the Bulgarian public.

NOT SUNK BY SUBMARINE.

Ship Reported Victim of U-Boat Damaged by Collision.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Oct. 8.—Two of the crew of the British schooner George Ewart, sunk in collision with an unknown steamship in a storm on Sept. 10 off the coast of Spain, reached here today on a steamer from a Mediterranean port. The Ewart, from St. John's, N. F., for Gibraltar with a cargo of dried fish, had been reported sunk by a submarine, but the men arriving here said the submarine came up after their ship had been so badly damaged in the collision that she had to be abandoned, and submerged again after finding the Ewart in a sinking condition.

The steamer which struck the schooner did not stop to ascertain what damage had been done and the Ewart's crew were eleven hours in an open boat before they reached the Spanish coast. The other members of the crew were sent home by another route.

WAR PAGEANT FOR DRAFT DEPARTURE

"Kaiser" Marches to the Ferry Handcuffed to "Uncle Sam," with the "Navy" on Guard.

ITALY'S FLAG IN THE LINE

Seven American-Born Chinese Go with Manhattan's Fourth Contingent of Recruits.

The mobilization of the fourth contingent of New York selective draft men began at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning, when 1,171 recruits from twenty-two Manhattan and Brooklyn districts went to Camp Upton. The Manhattan soldiers left from Long Island City, and those from Brooklyn from the Carlton Avenue yards of the Long Island Railroad. With the New York men went about 1,000 men from Dutchess, Putnam, Westchester, Suffolk, and Nassau Counties.

The departure of the men was made the occasion of demonstration in both boroughs, thousands congregating at the entraining points to cheer the men as they changed from civilian to military life. The Manhattan districts affected by yesterday's movement were all in the lower part of the city, and many picturesque incidents marked the going away. Board 94, for instance, marched to the Long Island Ferry at Thirty-fourth Street headed by a brass band and with its leaders masquerading as Uncle Sam, the Kaiser, and the Navy.

The Kaiser was handcuffed to Uncle Sam, while a bluejacket—a real one—from the superdreadnought Texas trailed solemnly behind, ready to take a hand in the affair in the event the Kaiser made an attempt to escape. The Kaiser was dressed as an Imperial Guardsman, and wore a helmet said to have been captured by a French soldier in one of the allied drives. But the Kaiser did not wear a sword. Uncle Sam carried that for him.

> We are doing our bit.
> You must also do yours.
> Buy a Liberty Bond.

About 2,000 persons, half of them youngsters, accompanied the delegation to the ferry. Of the fifty-three men who went from the district seven were American-born Chinamen, one of them, H. Foo Wing, a former United States Government interpreter. John Fercelli, a New York policeman, was also among those drafted.

The men from District 95 came to the station in flag-decorated auto trucks and carried a big pawnbroker's sign beneath which were the words "Hock the Kaiser." The men from Board 91 also paraded to the station and were led by the band of the American Junior Naval and Marine Scouts. A majority of the men from District 95 were Italians, and they carried in addition to six big American flags one equally large Italian flag.

In Brooklyn there were parades, and every board had its own particular emblem. The out-of-town delegations, which went on the same trains with the men from Manhattan, arrived at the Grand Central Terminal at 10 o'clock, and marched to the ferry. Each town was identified by a banner bearing its name.

Today 2,173 men from twenty-nine Manhattan and thirteen Brooklyn districts will go to Camp Upton. Of these men 1,447 will be from Manhattan and the rest from Brooklyn. The districts, the number of men from each, and the place and hour of entrainment follow:

Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall, it was said last night, is to march in the parade arranged for the selected men of Board 118, who go to Camp Upton from the Pennsylvania Station this morning. The parade will be led by Justice Joseph F. Moss and a committee of members of the Anawanda Club, one of whom is to be Mr. Murphy. The detachment will leave Stuyvesant High School, Second Avenue and Fifteenth Street, and march through the district and then to the station. The Catholic Protectory Band and three men to represent "The Spirit of '76" will be features of the procession.

MUST DEFEAT FOE TO END THE WAR or we fight on our soil, backs against our homes, and alone.

"While this war lasts, the cause of the Allies is our cause, their defeat our defeat, and concert of action and unity in spirit between them and us is essential to final victory. We therefore deprecate the exaggeration of old national prejudices—often stimulated by German propaganda—and nothing is more important than the clear understanding that those who in this crisis attack our present allies, attack America.

"We are organized in the interests of a national accord that rises high above any previous division of party, race, creed and circumstance.

"We believe that this is the critical and fateful hour for America and for civilization. To lose now is to lose for many generations. The peril is great and requires our highest endeavors. If defeat comes to us through any weakness, Germany, whose purposes for world-wide dominion are now revealed, might draw to itself, as a magnet does the filings, the residuum of world power, and this would affect the standing and the independence of America.

"We not only accept but heartily approve the decision reached by the President and Congress of the United States to declare war against the common enemy of the free nations, and as loyal citizens of the United States, we pledge to the President and the Government our undivided support to the very end."

Officers elected were:

Honorary Chairman—His Eminence James Cardinal Gibbons.

Gerard, President National Fraternal Congress of America, and William H. Ingersoll, National Association of Advertising Clubs.

The league expects quickly to build up a membership which will reach to every part of the nation and wage a consistent fight upon all who are attempting to embarrass the Government, no matter in what branch of labor, industry, business, or religion they may be found.

OFFICERS ASSIGNED TO NEW REGIMENTS

OLD SEVENTH'S RATING BEST

Special to The New York Times.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Oct. 7.—Under the reorganization order, details of which were obtained tonight, sweeping changes were made in the officer personnel of New York's former guard at Camp Wadsworth. The transfers, which were based on the desire for greater efficiency in the line, disclosed that of all the units the old Seventh made the best showing, retaining forty-seven of its forty-eight officers. The Third Infantry headquarters at Rochester was rated second as regards the capability of its officers. While the transfer of the officers will begin tomorrow, it is likely that several days must elapse before the previously announced shift of enlisted men takes place.

Providing each company of 250 men, with one captain, two first lieutenants, and four second lieutenants, the reorganized Twenty-seventh Division, as it affects New York City men or regiments, is as follows:

MORE TROOPS FOR SOUTH.

Manhattan Squadron and Two Brooklyn Battalions Entrain Today.

Squadron A of Manhattan and the Second and Third Battalions of the First Cavalry, Brooklyn, the only units here of the federalized New York National Guard, will entrain today for Camp Wadsworth, at Spartanburg, S. C. The Manhattan troopers broke camp yesterday at Van Cortlandt Park and returned to their old quarters at the Armory at Madison Avenue and Ninety-fourth Street for the night. Thirty motor trucks were used to move the equipment from camp.

The squadron will march from the armory at 9:30 this morning to Fifty-ninth Street and Fifth Avenue and parade down the avenue to Twenty-third Street and across town to the West Twenty-third Street Ferry. The troopers will be reviewed by Mayor Mitchel and others at the Union League Club. Major William R. Wright and the 500 men of the squadron will be mounted.

At the head of the squadron will march the United States Navy Band, consisting of 250 men, enlisted and organized as navy musicians. Lieutenant John Philip Sousa is the band leader and will be in the parade.

The Brooklyn cavalry will go by ferry from Brooklyn to the Jersey shore. Both the squadron and the First Cavalry will take all their horses to camp, although the two commands are to be dismounted and reorganized into machine gun battalions.

Wool or Meat?
The sheep men of Australia have been in the trenches so long that the roar of the "Big Berthas" has made them forget completely the "Baa-Baa" of sheep, while the sheep rancher of Wyoming and Montana, like any other business man, is willing to forego the future profit in wool for the immediate dollars to be made out of mutton and lamb, at the same time our Uncle Sam and his allies are using all the wool they can get hold of, to clothe our "fighting men," who come first—so that men who want woolen clothes that will give them warmth and wear had better buy now, and to make sure they buy right.

ECUADOR, LIKE PERU, BARS GERMAN ENVOY

Announces Dr. Perl, Dismissed by Neighbor, Will Not Be Received Officially.

ACTUAL BREAK FORESEEN

Washington Diplomats Think Little Nation Will Join Others in South America.

QUITO, Ecuador, Oct. 8.—The Ecuadorean Secretary of Foreign Affairs today sent a cablegram to the Ecuadorean Legation at Lima announcing that Dr. Perl, the German Minister to Peru and Ecuador, resident at Lima, would not be officially received by the Ecuadorean Government in case he attempted to come to Ecuador.

The action of the Foreign Secretary is understood to have been taken to demonstrate Ecuador's close affiliation with the union of the American republics.

Dr. Perl, the German Minister to Peru, received his passports from the Peruvian Government on Saturday. It was reported from Lima that he would go to Ecuador.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Without comment or explanation the Ecuadorean Foreign Minister notified Minister Ellvalde today that his Government had instructed its Minister in Peru to advise the German Minister there that he could not be formally received at the Ecuadorean capital. Mr. Elivalde will advise Secretary Lansing of his Government's action tomorrow. By State Department officials and diplomats the action of Ecuador has been construed as practically equivalent to a rupture of relations with Germany.

Dr. Perl was appointed Minister to both Peru and Ecuador, and after the declaration of war by the United States he mailed his credentials to Quito. The Ecuadorean Government refused to recognize such informal presentation, and then the Minister tried to procure acknowledgment of his status by sending an agent to Quito to act as Chargé d'Affaires. The agent was not recognized.

Diplomats here were convinced today that Ecuador's refusal to receive the Minister, now that he is willing to go to Quito, was not due to pique, but was carefully calculated as an indication of the country's intention to join the majority of South American nations already aligned against Germany.

Argentina and Chile in the south and Venezuela and Colombia on the north are the only nations of South America whose positions are not clearly defined. Except Colombia, all four have declared their neutrality, but the apparent dominance of Germans in Venezuela and the factional controversy in Argentina have made the future conduct of those Governments problematical. From Colombia nothing more than neutrality has been expected, because of her resentment against the United States on account of the controversy over the building of the Panama Canal.

LANSING NOTIFIED OF BREAK

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Secretary Lansing today received from Montevideo a cablegram giving the text of the decree issued last night by President Viera of Uruguay establishing the break in relations between the republic and the German Government. The decree follows:

"In view of the authority granted the Executive power by law of the nation of this date, authorizing said power to declare diplomatic and commercial relations broken between Uruguay and Imperial Government and the reasons which have caused the legislative decision which are absolutely shared by the Executive power, the President of the republic at a general Cabinet meeting decrees:

"Article 1.—From the date of the present decree diplomatic and commercial relations between Uruguay and the German Imperial Government remain broken.

"Article 2.—That the respective passports be handed over to the diplomatic representative of that Government, all the guarantees for his personal safety being granted to him at the same time until his removal from the country.

"Article 3.—That telegraphic instructions be transmitted to the functionaries of the republic in office in Germany to the effect that they immediately abandon the German territory, requesting the same guarantees which are granted to the German representative by the Government of Uruguay. "VIERA."

LUXBURG HAS NOT SAILED.

Argentine Officials Admit Ex-Minister Is Still in the Country.

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 8.—Officials today admitted that Count Karl von Luxburg, the former German Minister to Argentina, is still in the country. His exact location was not made known.

The admission was forthcoming when it was learned today that a search by a British cruiser of an outward-bound Spanish steamer had failed to disclose von Luxburg, who was supposed to have taken passage on the steamer last Friday and sailed from Montevideo.

ARE FULL GENERALS NOW.

President Signs Commissions of Bliss and Pershing.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—President Wilson today signed commissions as Generals for Major Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, Army Chief of Staff, and Major Gen. John J. Pershing, commanding the American forces in France. Though both officers have equal rank, General Bliss takes precedence by virtue of his position as the directing head of the entire army organization. The new grade carries a salary of $10,000 a year, an increase of $2,000 over the pay of Major General.

The grade of Lieutenant General also was revived by Congress, th erank to be given commanders of army corps, but it was stated authoritatively at the War Department today that there was no intention of creating any Lieutenant Generls or army corps in he United States at this time, as the divisional training system is to be continued. The name of Major Gen. Sibert is mentioned as the most likely candidate for the first commission as Lieutenant General when an army corps is organized in France, as he commanded the first troops sent to Europe.

Besides the new commissions for Generals Bliss and Pershing, the President today signed commissions of Army Bureau Chiefs to be Major Generals and commissions for many new Brigadier Generals whose nominations were confirmed by the Senate in the closing hours of the last session of Congress.

THERE'S A REASON

NO HITCH IN EMBARGO POLICY

British License for Danish Ship Probably Antedated Wilson's Decree

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The statement, published by THE NEW YORK TIMES, that a British letter of assurance was found on a Danish ship which was prevented from sailing by the order issued by President Wilson has been quoted here by newspapers which condemn the British blockade policy.

Inquiries which have been made by THE TIMES correspondent in a well-informed quarter produce the suggestion that the letter in question antedated the President's embargo decree, although there is a lack of information which would permit a positive statement concerning this individual case.

It is emphatically stated, however, that all British blockade measures are taken in complete harmony with Washington and that letters of assurance are not issued unless it is certain that Washington approves in each case. The system of letters of assurance is maintained by the British Government only as a convenient administrative device. Their issue is in every case dependent upon the wishes of th American authorities.

10,000 Square Yards—NAIRN Make—Now at an Average Saving of 25 Per Cent

The Nairn factory—one of the largest in the world—is so jealous of the good name of NAIRN Linoleums that it's a by-word among men in the trade.

We purchased at an unusual figure a quantity of Nairn Linoleums, including a quantity slightly imperfect. A trained buyer would notice the slight defects, but no two out of ten homekeepers would. They interfere with the splendid wearing qualities not a particle.

That is the story of the sale. The Nairn people have accumulated 10,000 square yards. They wanted a quick, certain outlet. What more natural than to invite GIMBELS to take them over for the Birthday Sales? This is perhaps the most important news in today's paper for homes.

DETECTIVE TELLS OF HIRING GUNMEN

CAUGHT ON RIVER ISLAND

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Michael J. Sullivan, a private detective of New York, who hired the eighteen Frog Hollow gunmen and brought them from New York for "service" in the Fifth Ward on primary election day, when a policeman was murdered, made a dramatic appearance at the resumption of the hearing today of the murder conspiracy charges against Mayor Smith, William E. Finley, Isaac Deutsch, and their codefendants.

Sullivan stepped from among the spectators when his name was called, took the stand, and told his story. Quietly, without the slightest indication of excitement or the least evidence of a desire to shield himself, he rehearsed the preliminaries to the engagement of the "musketeers," or the "mob," as he called them; he named the price they were to receive; he told of the purchase by himself of the white ribbon, their badge; of the arrangements made between his chief, Samuel G. Maloney, manager of the Val O'Farrell Detective Agency, and Isaac Deutsch, and finally of his horror at the news of the murder of Policeman Eppley and of his flight.

Sullivan was captured Saturday night by detectives attached to the District Attorney's office on an island in the Delaware River, where he had sought relief, he said, from the mental torture induced by contemplation of the murder. The first the City Detective Bureau knew of the arrest was when Sullivan walked into court. There has been friction between the District Attorney and the police authorities over the handling of the case. It was stated that Sullivan voluntarily turned State's evidence.

Corroborated Other Witnesses.

This witness was the most important of the day. In effect he verified the testimony of Maloney as to the part Deutsch played in the employment of the gunmen, and bolstered up the testimony of preceding witnesses concerning his part in the movements of the gunmen and his work as a go-between for some of the men accused at the hearing.

The witness said the arrangements for the importation of the gunmen were made in the presence of Deutsch, who was contesting James A. Carey's ward leadership and candidacy for Select Council, and a certain Magistrate, who, the prosecution contends, issued in wholesale fashion blank warrants for the arrest on primary election day of Carey followers. Maloney, at this meeting, Sullivan said, gave him $100 to pay transportation expenses of the men brought here and remarked in Deutsch's presence that "the money was to be used in getting the men here for Mr. Deutsch."

Sullivan said that Maloney gave him $100 after the row and told him to "lay low." He fled to a lumber camp on the island in the Delaware River at the Delaware Water Gap, and remained there until he was arrested.

At the request of District Attorney Rotan, Sullivan was held under $5,000 bail for a further hearing Wednesday on a charge of conspiracy.

Conference at Atlantic City.

An entirely new phase of the case was presented by Fire Lieutenant Edwin M. Fair, who declared he had been let in on the game, which was planned as early as July, for police activities in the Fifth Ward. He said he was to lead one section of the "mob" and Lieutenant Bennett the other. By this method it was believed, "everything would be over early." He told of a conference at the Atlantic City cottage of Isaac Deutsch, in which he said the Mayor and Police Captain Kenny participated. Deutsch, he said, told him Kenny declared he "wanted a shot at Carey's head," because the opposition leader had "sneered at him in City Hall."

"He said," declared Fair, "he would send 500 police in patrol wagons into the ward if that number were necessary to beat them up."

It was near the end of Fair's testimony when he delivered a blow which brought such audible expressions of surprise from every quarter of the courtroom that the proceedings were halted while officers shouted for order.

"Deutsch," he said, "gave it out that in case of trouble Senator Vare had made arrangements for bailing all hands."

ROB JAS. M. GIFFORD OF $25,000 IN JEWELS

Upper Floor of New York Lawyer's House Ransacked While Family Is at Dinner.

CHATHAM, N. J., Oct. 8.—A porch climber, working with a companion succeeded in robbing the Summer home of James M. Gifford, a lawyer of Gifford Hobbs & Beard, 30 Broadway, New York, of about 25,000 worth of jewelry while the family was dining this evening.

The robbery was not discovered until Mrs. Gifford, who complained of feeling a draught, ordered the butler to go upstairs and see if a window had been left open. The butler discovered the screen door leading to the porch had been broken and that everything in the room of Mrs. Gifford had been turned topsy-turvey. There was a good-sized closet in the room, and the door of this had also been broken open. In this closet the jewelry had been kept.

Police Captain Heather was called, and Mrs. Gifford told him that the jewelry, mostly hers, was valued at about $25,000. She was so hysterical at its loss that she was not able to make up an itemized list of the valuables taken.

Captain Heather believes that the robbery was the work of two men. He says there was a mysterious ringing of the front door bell while the family was at dinner, and that when the butler went to the door there was no one there. A few minutes later this was repeated. Captain Heather believes that the ringing of the door bell was a ruse to cover the man working upstairs.

In the afternoon an Italian peddler was about the place selling laces, which he said had been smuggled into the country by his brother, who was a sailor.

Mrs. Wilson Praises Work for Fliers

At a meeting of the Aviation Committee of the National Special Aid Society, 259 Fifth Avenue, yesterday a letter from Mrs. Woodrow Wilson was read, in which the President's wife expressed her appreciation of the committee's work. Mrs. Wilson has, the letter said, "known of the great work which is being done by the Aviation Committee, and feels the keenest interest in its undertaking." Announcement was made of the receipt of $2,400 from a treasure and trinket sale. With a part of this a demand for warm clothes for aviators had been supplied and 300 sets of sweaters, gloves, and socks were sent to fill the demand.

BUILDING ZONE ATTACKED.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 8.—The validity of the so-called building zone resolution of the New York City Board of Estimate and Apportionment, which divided the city into three classes of districts, was attacked in the Court of Appeals today in the case of Estelle P. Anderson against Steinway & Sons.

The action was brought for a specific performance of a contract for the sale of property at 112 West Fifty-eighth Street, Manhattan. The appellant filed a nanswer in the lower court admitting that the plaintiff was willing to fulfill the contract on her part, that she tendered a deed of the premises on Aug. 1, 1916, and that the defendant refused to pay the balance of the purchase money.

Steinway & Sons alleged that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of the City of New York did, subsequent to the signing of the contract and under the power conferred by the laws of 1916, pass a building zone resolution, and that the block where the plaintiff's property was located was a residence district. Steinway & Sons insisted that the resolution placed an incumbrance on the property and that the plaintiff, therefore, was unable to convey title to the property and that the plaintiff's title was unmarketable.

MISS RANKIN GIVES HOPE.

Member of Congress Says Prospect for Suffrage Is Brighter.

Congressman Jeannette Rankin was at the headquarters of the Suffrage Parade workers, 15 East Fifty-ninth Street, yesterday afternoon, and assisted in arranging the 1,000,000 signatures of women who want the vote which are to be carried in the parade. Miss Rankin said that the prospect of women getting the vote had never been so good as at the present time.

"The women will surely be given the vote in New York," she said, "and that will be an aid in the Congressional work. I do not think that the action of the pickets has injured the cause. All work for suffrage helps to push it along."

Triangle,— and the Doctrine of Antecedent Probability

Which is another way of saying: What has happened before will happen again.

There's no real knowing, I suppose, that soda and acid will "fizz." None, that is, except that, when put together, they always have fizzed. Pretty nearly everything we do is done on that basis—from striking a match to building a battleship. All of which has to do with you and me—and Triangle.

I don't say Triangle Pictures—for they are only a product—I say Triangle, meaning rather an idea than a thing.

* * * *

The other night I saw Douglas Fairbanks in a motion picture for acting in which they say he was paid $15,000 a week (which is ten times President Wilson's salary)—and I guess it's true.

Then—this afternoon—I was going through some old papers, and ran across Douglas Fairbanks' contract for his first appearance on the screen. It was in "The Lamb"—one of the early Triangle pieces that he made his bow; and I honestly believe, wonderful as he is today, he was even better then, fresher, keener, more magnetic.

There was a memorandum there on Ford Stirling, too.

How well I remember the day we lost Ford Stirling—whom we all thought the greatest living comedian; and how hard it was to cheer my associates with talk of one Charles Chaplin—(to whom we were paying $150 a week).

Yet, after all, Chaplin was a fair substitute, and is earning near a million a year to-day.

* * * *

What fun that bundle of papers was, to be sure, and how it bristled with names you know so well! Sweet Mae Marsh was in it—and Bobby Heron; rollicking Mabel Normand—Mack Sennett (who invented the flying pie), Norma Talmadge and calm, quiet, dignified, deadly William S. Hart.

Interesting! Yes. Stevenson never told a better tale. And, oh, so human.

* * * *

But back to the big words in the heading. With few—very few—exceptions, the greatest moving picture people have grown into success wholly in pictures. This applies to directors as well as stars. Griffith is a shining example.

And a preponderating majority of moving picture successes have come to success in the Triangle Company or the producing organizations which are a part of it.

Why?

Well, I think I know. And, frankly, the subject seems to interest people so much when they hear it, that I think it will interest you to read it.

I'm printing this mainly for that reason.

And—incidentally—it is good business for people to know about the Triangle kind of success; to realize that Triangle methods are developing every day directors and stories and stars that make the development of Fairbanks and Griffith and Chaplin and the "Birth of a Nation" seem poor and thin by comparison.

I believe that the Doctrine of Antecedent probability is true; that what has happened before will happen again!

Watch it. H. A.

FIRST LIBERTY TRUCK FOR ARMY FINISHED

Seventy-two Automobile Plants Turn Out Standardized Parts in Secrecy.

HAS NEW LIBERTY MOTOR

Original Machine Built in Factory Sighted Only from Roof and Under Armed Guard Night and Day.

LIMA, Ohio, Oct. 8.—The first Liberty Motor Truck for the United States Army, product of the greatest motor truck designers of the country and the combined genius of twelve motor truck plants and sixty-two automobile parts factories, was completed here today at a local manufacturing plant.

The standardized machine, of which 35,000 copies will be turned out in the first half of 1918 for the army, is said to represent the perfection of automobile truck development. Its motor power is derived from the new Liberty Motor, recently perfected at Washington by War Department experts.

Lima is preparing for a great patriotic demonstration when the new army truck has its first road test, probably late this week. High army officers, including the Quartermaster General and possibly Secretary of War Baker, are arranging to attend. Following tests at the factory, the truck will start on an endurance run to the East.

The first Liberty Motor truck was built in the gratest secrecy to protect it from enemy eyes. A building without windows and lighted only by skylights housed the truck during the three weeks of its construction. The plant was closely guarded by armed men night and day.

As an added precaution, a second truck was assembled in an Eastern city. As each part was completed here, a duplicate was dispatched to a northern New York town, where mechanics assembled a second machine. If the parts were small, they were sent by registered mail. If too big to ship that way, trusted mechanics carried them personally by train.

Similar precautions surrounded parts manufactured in the sixty-odd factories that contributed to the machine. As each part was completed it was dispatched to Lima with an army representative, who kept factory officials informed of his progress by telegraph. No one company knows the complete design or what other companies made other parts.

The truck was assembled at a local motor truck factory of which Ralph Austin is Chief Engineer. Mr. Austin is Chairman of the standardized motor truck committee of the Council of National Defense, and had a leading part in designing the new truck.

The completed truck is said to be the strongest compared with the load it is designed to carry ever turned out in this country. Every part has been enormously strengthened to cope with the rough usage of war. It carries more than 1,000 pounds of dead weight in excess of commercial trucks of corresponding capacity. The truck will be used only for the army, and will not be placed on the market, Government officials say.

Because of its increased weight it is said the truck is unsuited for normal use because of the large amount of gasoline and oil required for its operation. Also it is said that the factories which have given free use of their patents for the design stipulated that the new truck was to be for Government use only.

In outward design the machine represents no radical departure from the usual army motor truck. However, every part has been so standardized that when the first order of 35,000 trucks is delivered to the army, they could all be torn down, the parts mixed indiscriminately, and 35,000 complete trucks reassembled. All parts are interchangeable, which is expected to give added efficiency at the front.

CAMP NEAR NORFOLK READY

Daniels Enthusiastic Over Progress on Naval Training Quarters.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Secretary Daniels returned today from a trip to Norfolk full of enthusiasm over the progress being made at the new naval training camp and fleet operating base at Hampton Roads, the extensions at the Norfolk Navy Yard ,and other extensive improvements of the navy in that neighborhood.

"The new naval training camp at Hampton Roads is ready for the reception of men," the Secretary said. "Seventeen hundred will be sent there next week ,and the same number each ensuing week until all the 10,000 provided fo rare stationed there. The entire camp covers 400 acres, and embraces more than 150 buildings. Good progress is being made in the work of construction, and when it is completed we shall have an ideal training station.

"Construction is going forward so rapidly on the big drydock at the Norfolk Navy Yard, which will accommodate the largest vessels afloat, that it is expected to have it ready six months ahead of the time originally fixed for completion. The foundation, the engineers report, is the best possible; the excavation is practically completed, and the site is ready for the concrete work."

Fifteen other camps for naval recruits are completed. That at Pelham Bay Park, New York, accommodates 5,000 men, and was opened on Oct. 1, work having begun July 10.

The camp at the Philadelphia Navy Yard for 5,000 men was finished Aug. 30, after a hundred days of work. Quarters for 5,000 were erected at Newport in thirty days, having been completed several months ago. At Mare Island, Cal., site clearing began May 8, and barracks for 5,000 men were ready July 14 The Pugen Sound cantonment for 5,000 is nearing completion.

In Brooklyn a camp for 3,000 was erected in a city park between July 1 and Aug. 1; at Charleston, S. C., quarters for 1,000 men were built in twenty days, and 4,000 others in five weeks.

Other camps are located at Hingham, Mass.; at Portsmouth, N. H.; at Cape May, N. J.; at Norfolk, Va.; at Key West, Fla.; at Pensacola, Fla.; at New Orleans, and San Francisco.

Work is proceeding on the new camps at Gulfport, Miss., and San Diego, Cal., extensive exposition grounds at both places having been taken over by the Navy Department.

The Textile Industry Uses

The Loom for the Mill—The Dictaphone for Mail

You know that Bliss, Fabyan & Co., and other great textile concerns, employ fine modern looms and methods to speed up production and minimize waste.

But did you also know that Bliss, Fabyan & Co. use The Dictaphone System in all of their offices? That the American Woolen Company uses The Dictaphone, and R. Reis & Company and also scores of other mills, factors, garment manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in this great, complex industry?

War-time correspondence has swamped textile offices as war-time orders have swamped textile mills. But where The Dictaphone is installed, the daily mail—no matter how big—goes out on time.

The Dictaphone cuts out one whole operation. Reduces the cost of each letter one-third. Increases the production of each operator at least 50 per cent. Makes possible better composed letters, more accurately transcribed—letters that fly true to their mark.

Some day you must have The Dictaphone. Why not now?

At least phone or write today for a demonstration in your office on your work. Send for list of concerns in your own business who are Dictaphone users.

HOOVER WILL TEST 5-CENT WAR BREAD

Philadelphia Experiment to Fix a Standardized Method of Mixing and Making.

EXPERT TO TEACH BAKERS

Trade Commission Will Report Cost of Manufacture—Wide Difference in Prices.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Philadelphia is to be the scene of an experiment by Herbert C. Hoover, national Food Administrator, in the preparation of a 5-cent loaf of war bread. It is proposed, also, to establish a standardized method of mixing and making the bread. The new war loaf, it is said, will save sugar, lard, and milk, and yet be wholesome. The Department of Agriculture has sent D. R. Jacobs of the Bureau of Chemistry here to instruct bakers.

"The exact weight of the new loaf I cannot tell at present," Mr. Jacobs said, "but its size will effect a considerable saving over present prices. After the experiment is tried out in this city we shall establish the same methods and recipes in every section of the United States. We are satisfied that if the bakers carry out instructions they will be able to put the new bread on the market at a profit that will allow them to continue business as usual."

According to Mr. Jacobs, the new bread is the result of a long series of experiments which were successful.

Trade Board Report Today.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Recommendations will be made shortly by the Food Administration for a standardization loaf of bread which it is believed can be sold, under the new flour prices, at a considerably lower rate than is now being charged. A sixteen or fourteen ounce loaf probably will be favored and the public will be asked to place the ban on fancy rolls and bread and to cooperate with the bakers to cut down delivery charges.

The Food Administration and Federal Trade Commission have been at work on investigations into baking costs with the view of working out a program for the baking industry which will bring practical results and a report by the commission will be presented tomorrow. It has been found, it is understood, that there has been much waste and extravagance which Herbert C. Hoover, the Food Administrator, believes all will endeavor to stop.

Reports received by the Food Administration from fifty-two scattered points throughout the country show that bakers have been charging almost any price that they can obtain. Dealers in districts only a few miles apart have been charging prices which vary in some instances more than 100 per cent. Some of the figures seem to indicate that a sixteen-ounce loaf for 8 cents should provide the bakers a very reasonable profit if even the smallest effort at economy were made.

Wide Variance in Prices.

In Pleasantville, N. J., for the week ending Sept. 1, a 16-ounce loaf of bread was selling for six cents. This was the lowest price record reported for the United States. For the same week a 16-ounce loaf was selling for 15 cents in Rock Falls, Ill.; Eastport, Me.; Red Bank, N. C.; Miami, Okla.; Gallitzea, Penn.; Nashville, Tenn.; Laramie, Wyo., and Newport, Conn.

The high price record went to Paragould, Ark., where, in the week ending Sept. 8, 20 cents was charged for a 16-ounce loaf. In Eagle Pass, Texas, a 16-ounce loaf sold for 7½ cents. It sold for eight cents in Lansing, Mich.; Houston, Texas, and Chippewa Falls, Wis., and for 15 cents in Grinnell, Iowa; West Point, Miss., and Lowell, Mass.

A 14-ounce loaf sold for six cents in Lock Haven, Penn., and Nashville, Tenn.; seven cents in Winfield, Kan.; Grafton, W. Va.; Evansville, Ind., and Ann Arbor, Mich.; 10 cents in Jefferson, Iowa; West Point, Miss., and Corvallis, Oregon, and 15 cents in Paragould, Ark.; Ridgewood, N. J., and Abington, Mass.

A 12-ounce loaf sold for five cents in Rock Falls, Ill.: Brownsville, Texas, and Douglas, Ariz.; six cents in Santa Monica, Cal.; Annapolis, Md.; Westminster, Md.; Camden, N. J., and Renova, Penn., 10 cents in Paragould, Ark.; Ridgewood, N. J.; Gloversville, N. Y.; Lock Haven, Penn.; Herrin, Ill.; Peru, Ind.; Monogahela, Penn., and Nashville, Tenn., and 12 cents in Laramie, Wyo.

Would End Her Suit Against Former Admirer and Take Her Out of Court.

Supreme Court Justice Giegerich last night directed a sealed verdict in the $50,000 breach of promise suit of Mrs. Gladys Teed Walde against Dr. Francis D. Griffin, a dentist. Raymond Leonard Walde, instructor in science at the Scarsdale High School, who married the plaintiff on May 19, was a witness for Dr. Griffin, and said that his mother-in-law, Mrs. Nellie Teed, compelled him to leave his wife when he wouldn't agree to testify in her behalf because his conscience forbade it.

"If I had my way about it I would take my wife out of this courtroom this minute, stop this suit, nad make a woman of her," said Walde.

TALLEST POLE PUT IN PLACE

The largest military staff in the country, made of the mainmast and boom of the American cup winner Columbia, was put in place yesterday in front of the Eighth Coast Artillery Armory, Jerome Avenue and Kingsbridge Road, the largest armory in the world. The mast is 207 feet long, weighs seven tons, and is made of sheet steel reinforced. It was placed twelve feet in the ground in a concrete bed.

Colonel E. F. Austin, in charge of the Eighth Coast Defense Command, and Colonel W. Walk, U. S. A., District Commander of the Middle Atlantic Coast District, made a special trip from Fort Totten to view the erection of the mast. Major S. G. Teetz, Commander of the Depot, was also present.

Fourteen contractors refused the offer before W. Konop, of Ravenswood, L. I., consented to place the mast in position. The Columbia won the America cup in 1899 and in 1901. The sailing yacht was designed by Nathaniel Persher and was owned by J. P. Morgan.

FIGHTS $100,000 VERDICT.

Virginius Mayo Asks Court to Reduce Miss Meyer's Award.

Supreme Court Justice Goff heard argument yesterday on an application by James W. Osborne, counsel for Virginius St. Julian Mayo, for the reduction of the $100,000 verdict returned against Mayo by a jury that heard the suit of Miss Wilhelmina Meyer for $250,000 damages because she was induced to live with Mayo for years under the belief that she was his wife. Mr. Osborne said that even if the plaintiff is allowed $10,000 a year, at which rate she alleges she lived with Mayo, she is entitled to only $80,000 because by the longevity tables Mayo has only eight years longer to live. He also pointed out that Mayo has already given the plaintiff $15,000 in real estate and $15,000 in jewelry.

Edmund L. Mooney for Miss Meyer contended that she should be compensated on the basis of her station in life as the wife of one of the prominent and wealthy residents of New Haven. He said that she suffered a loss of prospects, and that each year she lived with Mayo was a continuing loss. The court reserved decision.

WANT A NINE-HOUR DAY, TOO

Managers Call Strike Unfair and Unpatriotic, as Vessels Are in Government Service.

Just as the North River water front had settled down after the strike on the Chelsea piers, because a foreman did not suit the longshoremen, trouble was started again last night by 1,000 men employed on Piers 36, 37, and 45, operated by the Clyde and Mallory Steamship lines, who struck for more pay.

The longshoremen are getting 40 cents an hour, 60 cents for overtime, and 65 cents for Sunday and holiday work. They have demanded 45 cents, 65 cents, and 85 cents, longer time for meals and a nine-hour instead of a ten-hour day. The management refused the demand and the men walked out.

H. H. Raymond, President of the Clyde and Mallory lines, said yesterday that the longsoremen had violated their contract, which did not expire until Dec. 31 next. He added that the men had been well treated in the matter of wages, and that their strike was not only unfair but unpatriotic, as the steamships were engaged in Government work.

"Here is a summary of wages paid by our lines to the men on the piers," Mr. Raymond continued, "which will give some idea of the increases they have received in the last two years. In 1915 they got 30 cents an hour and 35 cents for overtime and holidays. In the Fall of that year the rate was raised to 32 cents, 40 cents, and 45 cents for Sundays and holidays. In 1916 the longshoremen signed an agreement at 35 cents, 50 cents, and 65 cents, which we increased voluntarily to 40 cents, 60 cents, and 65 cents. The more wages they get the more they demand, and now it has got to the point where we must make a stand."

Superintendents on the piers along the North River said yesterday that men who could not sign their names were making from $60 to $75 a week working on ships, and that such incomes had turned their heads. It would be well, it was suggested, for Liberty bond salesmen to come down to the piers on Saturdays when the longshoremen are paid and get some of their money.

The strike had not spread last night to the Atlantic liners at the Chelsea piers, but leaders of the strikers threatened to call out 6,000 longshoremen today if the Mallory and Clyde lines did not settle.

Paul A. Vacarelli, General Organizer and Vice President of the International Longshoremen's Association, said last night that the proper officials had not been consulted about the strike, and that he thought that he ought to have been informed about it. He said he did not agree with the strikers, because whatever the matters in dispute might be they could have been settled amicably.

MEXICAN REBELS IN FLIGHT.

Gonzales's Men Pursued by Troops After Sacking a Town.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Oct. 8.—Revolutionary bands of General Porfirio Gonzales today were reported headed for Mendez, a small interior town in Tamaulipas, closely pursued by Government troops.

Reports from isolated points near the border say a detachment of Gonzales's troops, under command of a man named Rodriguez, sacked the town of Trevino in an effort to obtain a large amount of money possessed by three citizens, but failed, the men escaping with the money.

Citizens of Mier, Mexico, learning of a prospective attack, prepared to resist it, but Government troops arrived in time to thwart the attack.

BILLIE BURKE AS THE FAMILY ANGEL

GUIDED BY CLARE KUMMER

THE RESCUING ANGEL. A Comedy in Three Acts. By Clare Kummer. At the Hudson Theatre.

John Calhoun Deming	Claude Gillingwater
Mary Deming	Marie Wainright
Calhoun Deming	Walter Schellin
Angela	Billie Burke
Rose Hanley	Dana Desboro
William Hanley	Richard Barbee
Meyer Kolinsky	Robert McWade
Joseph Whitely	Frederick Perry
Eliot Slade	Roland Young
Evans	Elmer Brown
Winnie	Rhoda Beresford

Of our writers of light drawing-room comedy Clare Kummer is undoubtedly the most sophisticated, the most bewitchingly, bafflingly subtle—and if she is our only writer of that description the statement is all the more indubitably true. Billie Burke is unsophisticated to the point of native wildness, and so far from subtle that countless millions dote on her. When the subtle dramatizes the obvious, what is the result?

At the Hudson Theatre it is a far more amusing evening than might have been expected. The thousands who delighted in "Good Gracious Annabelle!" and "A Successful Calamity" may find "The Rescuing Angel" below Miss Kummer's high standard; and the millions who have delighted in Miss Burke may wonder vaguely what her new vehicle is all about. But the indications are that it will be seen and laughed at by parties of both the parts.

Angela is daughter of an amiable aristocrat "whose fortune has dwindled without his noticing it." Coming home from a trip to Honolulu, she finds the mortgagee, so to speak, on the veranda, and announces that she is to be a rescuing Angela. Two very multi-millionaires have fallen in love with her, under the influence of a Honolulu moon shining over the Pacific Ocean, and have followed her home. Neither has spoken, but she has only to choose.

It happens that when she departed she was engaged to the boy next door, and she appears to have no especial preference between the two Honolulu moonlighters; but no matter! The mortgagee shall be removed from the metaphorical veranda—just how, she will know when the time comes!

Her first choice is the rough diamond millionaire, whose father was a prizefighter and a saloon keeper. Apparently the choice is accelerated by the fact that the chief intellectual interest of the other millionaire is in gathering and relating statistics.

The boy next door she whimsically ignores. But, being very much a boy, he "rises to the occasion" and "takes matters into his own hands." In short, he goes to the bridegroom of an hour and tells him that he has been married for his money. This makes the rough diamond very rough—to a vase of roses on the table. Angela flees to her home and proposes to the statistical millionaire. Dear me, how the adorers of Miss Burke's native woodnote wild must be puzzled by such conduct. Good gracious, Angela!

Those who have come to know Miss Kummer through Annabelle do not say, "Good Gracious!" They laugh, quite delightedly. For they know that though Angela speaks and acts thus monstrously it is out of a sophisticated sense of the realities of life and a whimsical delight in projecting them against conventional notions.

Impulsive she is, in a true, feminine way; but she is also mysteriously subtle, satirical. And it presently transpires to the initiate that she is really in love with her rough diamond son of a prizefighter and respects his lineage. For, in addition to being a good prizefighter, has was also romantic. When the political gang bust his saloon, did he not die of a broken heart?

So in the end we have her coming back to him and offering to right the vase herself and put back the roses in it. But even here she is still mastered by that whimsical, indwelling sense of the facts of life, and their very comic way of impinging upon our ideals. "Sad as this moment is," she says as she finally embraces her husband, "I suppose it is the happiest of our life."

It cannot be said that Miss Burke is very successful in projecting that portion of Annabelle which is subtle and subcutaneous. Where Lola Fisher's Annabelle was almost static in immobility, with wide-open eyes that opened a window to her mental insides, this Angela is a creature wholly cutaneous—which is, of course, to say, wholly cute. And she agitates considerably.

When the lines admit of an outward, emotional rendering, she fairly falls upon them. It must be more than a little mystifying to those who do not know the other Good-gracious lady. Yet there has evidently been much able stage managing, and the result is far better than it might have been. Angela is interesting throughout, often most amusing, and always charming.

Frederick Perry is a very satisfactory rough diamond, with quite the simple, manly bearing which is needful. As the statistical suitor, Roland Young is so blankly, gravely, and therefore truly in the secret of Miss Kummer's humor, as to be quite irresistible. A real Annabelle sort of lady must have been seriously tempted to take him, even with his statistics.

Robert McWade gave an astonishing impersonation in the part of a lawyer named Meyer Kolinsky, whose interest in Angela's matrimonial projects was somewhat in the nature of a Schatchen—by far the freshest and most laughable performance of the evening, though beautifully restrained in method. As Angela's amiably vacuous parents, Marie Wainwright and Claude Gillingwater also caught the subtle, sad Kummer manner.

One and all, in fact, the cast which Arthur Hopkins has provided is admirable to perfection. The three scenes are in the restrained and decorative manner of Robert Edmund Jones.

Mrs. Thomas Whiffen at the Palace.

The veteran actress Mrs. Thomas Whiffen provides the sole novelty at the Palace this week with a sketch called "Where There's a Will There's a Way," a well-mannered but artless playlet obviously compounded for the purpose of supplying Mrs. Whiffen with a vehicle. The program, as a whole, is excellent, being made up of such dependables as Nora Bayes, Eddie Leonard, Duffy and Inglis, and the ever-amusing Joe Jackson.

WAR TAX MAY BEGIN NOV. 1.

Managers Learn That a Mistake Is Likely to Shorten Time One Month.

It was learned here yesterday that the war tax on theatre tickets, which was to have become operative on Dec. 1, probably will go into effect on Nov. 1 instead. Ligon Johnson, counsel for the United Managers' Protective Association, said that he had been informed over the long-distance telephone by Congressman Kitchin that a mistake had been made in the engrossing of the bill, and that November had been written instead of December. The bill had been signed by the President, he said, in that form.

If such were the case, said Mr. Johnson, the managers would have no recourse but to submit. The shortened time, however, means that rapid arrangements will have to be made, and a decision will be reached in Washington this week as to the way in which the tax is to be collected. The amusement provision, as amended by the House and later approved by the Senate, provides only for a direct tax of 10 per cent. on the box office price, with no assessment of any sort on premiums.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The opening of "The Claim," which was to have taken place tonight at the Fulton, has been postponed until Friday.

"Daybreak" will end its engagement at the Harris Theatre on Saturday, and "Romance and Arabella," a comedy by William Hurlbut, will be produced there by Joseph Ritter next Monday. Laura Hope Crews will have the leading role, and the company will include Alice Augarde Butler, Alice Putnam, Jennie Lamont, Felix Krembs and Harry Ashford.

Frank Craven has been engaged for the principal role in "Going Up," a musical comedy which Cohan and Harris are soon to produce.

James Montgomery's war play, "Drafted," had its first performance at Albany last night and will be brought to New York in a few weeks. Among those in the company are Emmet Corrigan, William H. Thompson, Pauline Lord, Lizzie Hudson Collier, Allan Dinehart and Harry C. Browne.

Lowe's Seventh Avenue Theatre, at Seventh Avenue and 124th Street, which has been housing vaudeville and films, opened last night as a legitimate playhouse. "Good Night Paul," recently seen at the Hudson, is the first week's attraction.

Three Entertaining and Profitable Lecture Lessons
By
DR. KATHERINE M. H. BLACKFORD
Y. M. C. A. Bedford Branch Auditorium.
Entrance on Monroe Street.
Successive Thursday Evenings at 8 o'Clock,
October 11, October 18, and October 25, 1917.
Subject: HOW TO SIZE UP MEN.

Dr. Blackford has studied people in all parts of the United States and Canada and in eighteen foreign countries for the past eighteen years. She has learned how to judge the real characters of men and women by looking at them. She has taught her methods to thousands of business and professional men. She formulated the Blackford Employment Plan, by means of which many corporations and firms are now saving money by selecting employes well fitted for their work. Several firms retain her to give advice in the selection of applicants for important positions. People she has trained are doing this work successfully in a number of organizations.

This series of lecture lessons will be definite, so that every hearer will learn something he can use in his business.

PRICES: Course of three lectures, Reserved Seat, $2.

Oftentimes people find standing room only at Dr. Blackford's lectures. So it will pay you to order seats early.

ANTI-GERMANS TO THE SOUTH OF US.

Uruguay's action in breaking off diplomatic relations with Germany is another symptom of the strong and growing anti-German feeling in the republics to the south of the United States. On Uruguay's part this feeling is well known. Last Summer her President declared in an Executive Order that no American country that should come into a state of war in defense of its rights would be treated by Uruguay as a belligerent. Uruguay gave a cordial welcome to the visiting American naval squadron. Her seizure two weeks ago of the German vessels at Montevideo was a sufficient notice of her intentions, which at any other time Germany would have answered by a declaration of war.

It may be presumed that Uruguay's latest step is intended to have an effect on her big neighbor, Argentina. The gross insult to the Argentine Minister of Foreign Affairs revealed by the publication of the von Luxburg telegrams and his sinister "sunk without traces" advice to the German Foreign Office were enough, without the submarine controversy, to arouse a great State, high-spirited, disgusted with the broken German promises in which the Argentine Minister at Berlin lately expressed such artless or infatuated pro-German confidence. VON LUXBURG had to be smuggled out of the country, and several other South American countries indicated their unwillingness to receive that ornament of diplomacy even in transitu. There was violent popular indignation. Both branches of the Congress voted to break off diplomatic relations with Germany. The Radical President, Mr. IRIGOYEN, for reasons not understood, setting up the technical reason that he wished a conference of the two houses on the matter, has so far suspended action.

Uruguay reminds the Argentinians and South Americans generally that in the world-contest of democracy with autocracy there should be a solidarity of the republics. A genuine Pan Americanism, a union of all the American States in this hemisphere in defense of the common cause of republicanism, in defense also of international law, has been manifesting itself. An immense region, where German capital, German commerce and industry, German propaganda, have long been powerful, has largely turned against Germany. Panama and Cuba, which immediately followed the United States into the war, may be said, by their enemies, to have been influenced by interest or by gratitude to the United States; from the German viewpoint they were "coerced." They obeyed, in fact, a generous sentiment. They saw on which side the friends of freedom stood. Neutrality, at most a benevolent neutrality, was all that could be fairly expected of them. They might have rested on a "correct" attitude. They wanted to help democracy. In Cuba there were strong German interests. Hayti is under American control. Her rupture with Germany the Germans might consider the result of "coercion." What must they think of Costa Rica, whose present Government has never been recognized by the United States; of Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, of Brazil, Bolivia, Peru, Uruguay? Of the three A B C Powers, Brazil will have nothing to do with Germany, which has had so great hopes of German influence there; Chile has expressed her sympathy with the defense of international law by the United States, Argentina is on the brink of a rupture. In the very countries where German money, German interests, and German propagandism have been relied on so long, two republics are at war with Germany, nine have broken diplomatic relations with her, and others are soon to follow.

This is not merely a part of the general judgment of mankind on Germany, and an illustration of German "efficiency," diplomatic and otherwise. It destroys German hopes for increasing trade and influence in Central and South America after the war. What do the German people think of these new triumphs of the masters that have brought them to ruin?

The dead line against Germany lengthens. The embargo against her neighbor neutrals grows tighter. Her merchant marine in South American ports is added to the shipping of the Allies.

INTERBOROUGH POSTAGE.

Hitherto it has been only a sentimental grievance that letters sent to street addresses in the various boroughs of Greater New York were delayed in delivery if addressed to "New York City" unless they happened to be intended for Manhattan. The Manhattan office would exhaust itself in finding a Manhattan address, but would not deliver in other boroughs where the address might easily be found.

Something of the rigor of this practice has been abated, but it now is announced as a policy in calculating postage. The New York Postmaster is quoted as saying that under the new law postage must be calculated by postal districts, and that three cents will be collected on letters passing between boroughs. Two cents will take a letter from the Battery to Van Cortlandt Park, but it will cost 3 cents to send letters across the East River bridges. The new law does not change the international rate, and letters sent over seas at the old domestic rate will continue to go at the same rate.

Congress probably did not intend it, but that is not a good reason why letters should not pass between boroughs in this city as they pass between wards in other cities. The trouble springs from the fact that letters are addressed according to the popular understanding of geographical facts, while the Post Office has an organization all its own of which letter writers are ignorant. It would be easier to get the Post Office to change its custom than for the Post Office to get letter writers to take notice of its interior organization and address letters by postal districts. Besides, New York has the same right to local rates as any other city. New York may have its domestic troubles about centralization vs. home rule, but it will be a unit against Washington on this issue.

If the new law is going to divide New York into postal districts, it will have to divide some other cities. New York was indifferent on the sentimental issue, but it will shriek over the extra cent until letters addressed to the boroughs are delivered as letters to one city instead of to five. Nobody cared when Brooklyn riders took a car to "New York," for it cost the same fare. But Brooklyn and the Bronx and the rest will discover now that they all are in New York City, whatever the Post Office may say about it.

GOVERNMENT AND THE PAPER-MAKERS.

Will the manufacturers of print paper in the United States actually force the Government to take possession of their mills, operate them, make and distribute paper to consumers at cost plus a reasonable profit to the owners of the mills? It would be a very serious matter, unsettling, disturbing, alarming to the industries of the country. The step proposed by the resolution of the Senate Committee on Printing is something very different from the action taken by the Government in the case of wheat, steel, and coal. There the Government merely fixed the price. But under the Senate resolution it would take the paper mills away from their owners, operate them by a force of men in the Federal employ, and sell to consumers at cost plus a profit determined by itself to be reasonable. The Government, not the manufacturer, would make paper; the Government, not the owners of the mills, would determine what profit they should make.

The resolution and the report accompanying it are of extraordinary interest, not merely to the makers and consumers of print paper, but to all the industries of the country. The body of consumers affected includes all the newspapers and periodicals and the book publishers of the country. The Federal Trade Commission reported that at prevailing prices print paper will cost the publishers in 1917 more than $105,000,000, an increase of $35,000,000, or more than 50 per cent., over former prices. The Commission declares that of this $35,000,000, $17,500,000 represents "additional profits to the manufacturers." The manufacturers have had their warning. The Trade Commission undertook to negotiate an agreement for a reduced price, but that came to nothing. The Department of Justice has procured the indictment of some of the largest paper manufacturers, charging an agreement in restraint of trade. The manufacturers are aware that many of the smaller newspapers of the country have been compelled to pay a very high price; large consumers from $3 to $4.50 per hundred pounds, while the board declares that small publishers have paid as high as from $7.50 to $9 a hundred pounds at the mill for paper which, before the war, sold as low as $2 a hundred pounds delivered.

All these things are known to the manufacturers, yet they put themselves in the position of defying the Government, while continuing to demand these extravagant prices from publishers. For these reasons the Senate committee presents and recommends the adoption of the resolution intended to carry into effect the recommendation submitted to Congress by the Trade Commission some time ago:

> (1) That all mills producing, and all agencies distributing, print paper and mechanical and chemical pulp in the United States be operated on Government account, that these products be pooled in the hands of a Government agency and equitably distributed at a price based upon cost of production and distribution, plus a fair profit per ton.
> (2) That pursuant thereto some Federal agency be empowered and directed to assume the supervision and control thereof during the pendency of the war.

Co-operation by the Canadian Government would be sought for the control of the paper mills operated in the Dominion, which send 75 per cent. of their product to the United States. If co-operation were refused, paper could be imported from Canada only on condition that it came through a Government agency which would control its distribution.

This Senate resolution is a plain and final warning to the manufacturers of print paper that they must take heed to themselves. If they continue to defy the Government, it is practically certain that the resolution will be adopted, that we shall see Government operation of the paper mills, Government control of prices and profits. As one of the largest consumers of news-print paper, THE TIMES does not want to see that happen. This paper has always opposed Government ventures into business, and it would deeply regret the establishment of a precedent such as that contemplated in the resolution. As we have said, the effect on business would be very disquieting.

There is but one way to keep the Government out of the papermaking business. It is for the manufacturers of news print to come to their senses, abandon their excessive demands, and their most unwise defiance of the Government, make reasonable prices to publishers for the coming year, and put themselves in line with the men in control of other great industries who have very sensibly made agreements with the Government for the regulation of prices. The manufacturers are not asked to surrender their profits, they are asked merely to accept reasonable profits, like other manufacturers. Their present prices are extortionate. The Trade Commission has established a case against them. Since it is impossible for them to make a good defense of their present position, and since, in resisting all attempts to dislodge them from it, they incur visible and serious dangers, we should think they would have the wisdom to seek shelter while there is yet time.

If the manufacturers of print paper, as the Government charges, have illegally combined to raise prices, they know how to combine to lower prices. Of that the Government would make no complaint. Every consideration of prudence and self-interest should prompt them, without delay, to take the only course that will avert the very serious consequences involved in the adoption of the Senate resolution.

LA FOLLETTE'S DEFENSE.

It is to be hoped that the committee which is investigating Senator LA FOLLETTE will not allow itself to be engrossed in the question of what Mr. BRYAN said or did not say about the Lusitania. It is not of the least consequence whether Mr. LA FOLLETTE spoke the truth or did not when he cited Mr. BRYAN as knowing of the existence of a munition cargo on that vessel. There are only two questions at issue. One is whether Mr. LA FOLLETTE was correctly reported as denouncing the war in his St. Paul speech; and the other is the question not whether he should be deprived of his right to speak his mind, but whether he should be compelled to exercise that right somewhere else than in the Capitol of the nation.

Mr. LA FOLLETTE, in his address of defense, posed as a defender of free speech. If he had been a private citizen instead of a member of the Government, he could have taken that ground with some appearance of plausibility, whether his argument on the subject of free speech was correct or not. A private citizen who is arraigned on a charge of sedition might be justified in such a defense. But Mr. LA FOLLETTE is a part of the Government that is charged with the duty of protecting our soldiers and doing what it can to insure their victory. The charge against him is that, instead of performing his part of that duty, he is using his office of trust to handicap and nullify their efforts and put obstacles in the way of their victory.

If an officer or soldier in the army should utter seditious views, he would not be permitted to remain in the army. The right of free speech has that limitation, among others. But no officer or soldier is more truly a part of the army of the United States than Mr. LA FOLLETTE and his fellow-Senators are. Congress is a part of the Government, and as such is supposed to be leading these soldiers of ours into battle. When one of these leaders, instead of leading, tries to thwart and hinder the soldiers whose welfare is placed in his hands, his offense is morally worse than it would be if instead of being a Senator he were a Second Lieutenant.

Mr. LA FOLLETTE talks movingly of "our young men" who are "being taken by the hundreds of thousands," and has the sublime assurance to say, "Nothing must be left undone for their protection." This from the man who has gone up and down the country uttering words for the encouragement of their German enemies and for the bewilderment and disheartenment of their Russian allies! If Mr. LA FOLLETTE feels that his mind will not be easy unless he utters these words of disheartenment for Russia and of encouragement for Germany, let him take off his uniform. Let him cease to hold a position which makes it incumbent upon him in honor to support the war, to do his best to insure victory. If he feels that he must do what he can to thwart victory and paralyze effort, let him not do it at the head of the column. There is no issue of free speech in his case. Let him do his talking as a private citizen. The harm he does is not in what he says so much as in the office he holds. If he cannot discharge the duties which plainly lie upon the holder of that office, let him give it up, and let Germany and Russia understand that it is not LA FOLLETTE the officer who is talking but LA FOLLETTE the private citizen. If he were a private citizen, his attacks on the war, he is supposed to be helping to guide might be seditious or might be merely wrong-headed, but in his official position they wear an entirely different aspect. They then become nothing less than treachery to the national cause on the part of one of its Generals.

REGISTER TODAY.

It would be well for New York if every voter registered in 1916 could register again this year and cast a vote in the municipal election. This is a year in which precedents should be abolished. The issue is of vast importance. There is danger of the destruction of honest city government. If every man who really believes that the control of the Board of Estimate by Tammany Hall would have results disastrous for the city will register today, if he has not already registered, and vote without fail Nov. 6, there can be no doubt that the Fusion ticket will be elected. But there must be no trifling, no disposition on the part of any citizen to leave the work to others.

Today is the second day for registration. The books will be open from 5:30 P. M. until 10:30 P. M. You may register in the same hours every day until Saturday, when the registration will begin at 7 in the morning and last until 10:30 at night. There will be ample opportunity, therefore, for all voters to register, and there should be a Presidential year registration. The old device of putting forward a Republican ticket, which can only help Tammany, has been resorted to after a term of enlightenment. Mr. MITCHEL must have the vote of every intelligent and independent supporter of good government. Register today, if possible, and make his election certain.

LIBERTY LOAN HINDRANCES.

On behalf of the Federal Reserve Bank it is said that those who pay for their Liberty bonds first will get them first, ahead of those who pay on the installment plan. Failure to deliver the bonds "over the counter," as it were, was a hindrance to the first Liberty campaign, and it is agreeable to remark that it does not now exist. But it is also necessary to remark that all who pay in full lose their interest until Nov. 15. A month's interest at 4 per cent. is not a great matter, but there are those who find it necessary to consider it. Among them are those who would be likeliest to pay in full through their experience in the use of money. Only the inexperienced would be attracted by the delivery in the manner proposed. The fault is rather with the regulations than the statute authorizing the loan. If it were thought worth while, the regulations might be altered now. At least a memorandum might be made to prevent repetitions of even these slight hindrances.

That they are not vitally important appears from the Washington summary of the progress of the loan throughout the country. "Every district which has reported has shown "subscriptions far ahead of the record established during the first few "days of the former campaign." That is particularly true of this district. The large subscriptions were prompt and full, but already there is a similar response from the small subscribers in the country districts. Until the last few days of the former campaign the districts outside Greater New York took practically nothing. In the first week of this campaign some outer districts have already taken up to 44 per cent. of their share, and have hardly begun their work yet. It is because the prospect is so promising that it is possible to note some hindrances which it would seem might be removed, or at least avoided hereafter.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

One Reason Is Not Sufficient.

To explain the fact, so surprising to many, that of the young men recently drafted for military service more from the country than from the cities have been rejected for physical defects, the doctor in charge of the Federal Public Health Service in Baltimore presents a plausible theory. The difference is due, he says, to the failure, as yet, of the rural communities to give their children the benefit of the systematic medical examinations to which the pupils in most urban schools have for some time been subjected. The natural result, he thinks, is that in the country the boys suffer in after life from lack of skilled attention at the time when it is most effective, while the city boys are not thus handicapped.

That regular medical examination of school children is a commendable procedure cannot be denied, of course, but a like superiority of the city boys in strength and development was noted as long ago as the civil war, and then no children in either city or country received any medical treatment except at home. Some other explanation, therefore, must be sought, and it is probably a complex one, no single factor sufficing to cover the whole ground.

The common belief that country life is more healthful than city life seems to have no basis beyond the greater darkening of the skins of the country folk through exposure to the sun, and the assumption that pallor means illness. But "tan" proves little or nothing as to physical condition, as anybody can see who compares the average farmer of 60 with the average stockbroker of the same age. The former is usually a more or less broken man, while the latter much oftener is hale and hearty. The typical country boy is commonly put to hard work too soon, his food is not likely to be either well chosen or well cooked, and farmhouse sanitation and hygiene usually violate many of the rules on which health depends.

The Baltimore man forgot, too, that the pick of the country boys gravitate toward the city, leaving behind the unadventurous and unambitious, who are likely to be in one way or another below par physically as well as mentally. That is not as true now as it used to be, but the effect of this sort of selection is still to be seen in all the country districts.

Forfeited German Approval.

Germans must have had a moment of satisfaction when they read—if they were allowed to read—the report of the speeches delivered at the National Socialist Congress now holding in Bordeaux. For, early in the proceedings, one of the orators announced, with the apparent approval of all his hearers, that it would be useless at this time to raise or discuss the question of which nation was responsible for starting the war.

That is good German doctrine, and, coming from a French Socialist, the assertion was calculated to cause much joy in the country where the desire to let that dangerous question severely alone, and to talk only about the present and the future, is naturally very strong. Unfortunately, from the German point of view, however, the speaker who made the contention so pleasing to the Germans hastened to explain that discussion of responsibility for the war was needless because that question had already been settled beyond dispute, and further debate, to be profitable, would have to be based on the certainty that the Central Powers began the great conflict.

As the truth of that assertion seemed self-evident to the delegates who heard it, the whole German case, in effect, was thrown out of court by these French Socialists. Therein they agree with the whole non-Teutonic world, or with so much of it that the remainder is undeserving of consideration from anybody except professional mathematicians. The facts with regard to the starting of the war are indeed on record, and the record can never be changed.

The Germans can say, accurately enough, that they are fighting in self-defense now, but their contention that the war was forced on them is veracious only if they mean that there would have been no war had there been no opposition to their advance against their neighbors. And that, really, is what they do mean—that is their real grievance against the other belligerents. Wolves would feel a like indignation toward sheep that unexpectedly developed fighting strength and the inclination and the ability to use it.

A Marriage Over the Telephone.

Marriage by proxy was not very uncommon among the high and mighty, in other days, when, for one or another reason held good, it was deemed desirable to bind the contract before the parties to it could meet face to face. The law recognized the validity of such unions, and does so still, in most countries. A little different from the old-fashioned proxy marriages was the one reported yesterday as having been solemnized when the groom was in Camp Mills and the bride was way down in Georgia.

The ever-convenient telephone was called into use and it enabled the two to hear the officiating clergyman and to answer his momentous questions as well as if they had been standing before him in the customary attitudes.

A wedding ceremony so conducted would lack some of the impressive features and the solemnity to which we are accustomed, but there is no excuse for fearing that the knot was not tied fast, and it is little more than conceivable that any question will ever be raised as to the identity of those who stood at the two ends of the wire. Still, an ingenious novelist might devise a plot wherein the villain of the tale managed to deceive one or the other of the true lovers, and the subsequent complications might fill many exciting chapters.

Voices suffer curious changes when passing through the telephone, and it is the commonest of occurrences for close friends to recognize a distant speaker only after he or she has answered that frequent question, "Who is this?" Yet a vast amount of business in some ways as important as marriage is conducted safely over the telephone every day, and this curious extension of the service may become quite popular in time, especially with nervous grooms.

Isaac N. Seligman.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

On my return from the mountains I was shocked to hear the sad news of the sudden and untimely death of Isaac N. Seligman. Mr. Seligman was one of our best citizens. He was a man of kindly disposition, of undoubted integrity throughout his long and successful career, and an ardent and untiring worker in all good causes. He was one of nature's noblemen. He will live long in the memory of his fellow-men, and his life will stand out as a shining example to this and coming generations.

DR. ELIOT'S PLAN.

Objections to Any Informal Peace Negotiations.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Beyond establishing a common ground upon which all the belligerents can debate the terms upon which peace can be concluded, Dr. Eliot, in his article in yesterday's TIMES, fails to suggest anything that has not already been done, if the Pope's message may be considered as "informal steps toward peace"; nor is there anything in his proposal that will not happen in the natural course of present events. Dr. Eliot's proposal is tantamount to a "peace without victory." For have not all the nations and their people involved in the present struggle officially and unofficially stated their aims and their purposes in this war?

The only steps which can possibly determine this war are those which are being followed now, namely, the vigorous prosecution of the war by the Central Powers, as well as the Entente Allies, for it must be decided now whether the world is to proceed along economic lines, or whether it is to arm itself to oppose a rule under which "might makes right." The defeat of autocratic Germany will mean a victory for the German people and instead of remaining, as Dr. Eliot intimates, "a source of anxiety and dread for all Europe," reformed and democratized Germany will become the hope of the world.

This war will not be concluded by a negotiated peace; that would simply be the repetition of a "peace of paper." A peace without victory will be a victory for Germany without peace for the world. When peace finally comes, it will be the "peace of victory."

JOSEPH TAUSEK.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

President Eliot's call for a peace conference appearing in THE TIMES today is no more timely than his others for the same purpose. The unspeakable atrocities, tortures, and devastations of the three years and two months just past do not inspire considerations pointing to peace.

The work of the millions of brave men fighting for justice, liberty, the right to exist, and all humanity cannot stop short of subjugation to the point of unconditional surrender. Nothing less than this will answer present and future purposes, so that hereafter nations, big and little, shall be secure against the inroads of trained savages, and that sacred treaties may no longer be regarded as "scraps of paper."

Breckinridge and La Follette.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have read with interest E. C. Coulter's letter published in today's (Sunday) TIMES. As a Northerner I agree with Mr. Coulter, a Southerner, in the view he takes of your comparison of John C. Breckinridge with La Follette. He is right to resent it. Still I believe he has missed the point, and, if I may say so, I believe THE TIMES also has missed it. Whatever the ethics of Breckinridge's defection from the Union, he was at least honest and honorable enough to come out into the open—to declare what he was, what his views were, without trying to disguise his intent under the cloak of Judas speech. One may, in fact, imagine Breckinridge's opinion of a La Follette. One also may picture his sensation at hearing himself compared with such.

But let me add that, in my opinion, the real point at issue in this affair has so far been overlooked. It is not that a United States Senator should become, and be, a traitor—the occasion in this instance is a mere canker, an accident; the point to be considered is that caustic treatment, the one cure, cannot be applied offhand. Remove the cause and the sore will cure itself.

Balkan Expose Wanted.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Speaking of spies and intrigues, I wish some raider would bring away the archives of Berlin and Vienna and let us see if we could find there anything about the origin of the second Balkan war four years ago. Officially, I believe, that war was caused by hot-headed soldiers at the front; but there were suspicions expressed at the time that it was actually fomented by somebody to the northwest. Certainly the causing of that war, whoever did it, was one of the greatest of recent international crimes before the present war, and was an act of decided unfriendliness to Bulgaria.

The Russian Word for "Indemnity."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In today's issue of THE TIMES in the article headed "Charges Falsehood by People's Council" Henry L. Slobodin says the People's Council mistranslates the Russian declaration or intentionally inserts the word "indemnities," a word that does not, he claims, exist in the Russian language. I do not desire to dispute nor affirm Mr. Slobodin's contention as to the correctness of the translation. I do, however, wish to state that the word "indemnity" exists in the Russian language and is translated "voznagrajdenie," and, furthermore, is very frequently used.

The Park Reservoir Walls.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Will you permit the correction of an error into which you inadvertently fall, when, in this morning's issue, you describe the south reservoir in Central Park as "surmounted and surrounded by solid masonry?" The reservoir walls are made of earth, with a clay core; they are faced on both inner and outer slopes with stone.

MY SONG.

The song I sing is the nation's song,
The song of the brave and free;
The notes of the bugle's call belong
To the strains of my melody.
I sing of the flag of my native land,
The flag of the proud and true,
And I bravely stand and your cheers demand
For the red and white and blue!

The song I sing is the soldier's song,
He lives in the glad refrain.
When duty calls—his to vanquish wrong
And bring sweet peace again.
I sing the song that the patriot sings
As he marches to the fray,
And the message stings as the music rings
On the valiant winds of day.

My song is the hero's song as well—
His death in the theme is told.
The chords that spoke in his funeral knell
My softer notes enfold.
I sing the song that the hero sang,
His breast seamed deep with scars,
The song he sang as his freed soul sprang
To the bright blue field of stars.

My song is the voice of the heart that knows
A woman's lonely grief.
It throbs to the rack of those sacred woes
Which may never know relief.
I sing the song of the lips that sigh
And weary eyes that weep,
In their dreamless, noble sleep.

Prosecution Discredits Intimation of Settlement—Report Criticised.

Trial of the five members of the Executive Committee of the News Print Manufacturers' Association and two others who were indicted on a charge of having combined to increase the price of news print paper, in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, which was set down for yesterday in the Federal District Court, was adjourned by Judge Learned Hand until Nov. 12 by agreement of counsel. The report of the Senate Committee on Printing, made public yesterday, had increased the interest in the proceedings, and there was disappointment among those in the courtroom when the adjournment was announced. In this report the Senate committee accused the news print manufacturers of extortion, and advocated Government operation of the mills for the rest of the period of the war.

Later in the day a representative of a big news print manufacturer said that the adjournment probably was the first step in a settlement of the criminal proceedings, and that an amicable arrangement might result which would make the recommendations made by the Senate committee in its report and the trial of the indicted men equally unnecessary. Mark Hyman, special prosecutor for the Government, said he did not believe there would be any settlement.

No member of the News Print Association could be found yesterday who would discuss the Senate report. The report was severely criticised, however, in a statement prepared by the representatives of one of the biggest news print manufacturers and issued anonymously. The statement follows:

"The report of the Senate Committee on Printing contains some conspicuous inaccuracies. These are copied from various reports of the Federal Trade Commission and from reports of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. The Trade Commission states that news print paper used during 1917 will cost the publishers more than $105,000,000. The Trade Commission is in possession of information showing that over 300,000 tons of this paper was actually sold in 1917 at prices far below the $90 a ton figure which they have used in their calculations, and their figure of $105,000,000 is a deliberate misstatement.

"The Trade Commission's own report to Congress shows that the earnings of the International Paper Company during 1916 were increased through the sales of products other than newsprint paper, although the Senate Committee's report is worded so that the ordinary reader would assume that the entire increase in profits during 1916 was on newsprint sales. The same thing is true of the Laurentide Company, whose earnings in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1917, were largely augmented through the sales of pulp, box board, and electric power.

"Instead of newsprint mills having earned 15 per cent. to 20 per cent. during the last ten years, there is not a single mill built during that period that shows anything like this profit on the capital invested. The American Newspaper Association states some facts which have not gone through the awkward formality of having occurred.

"The majority of the larger publishers of the United States are strongly opposed to Government regulation or distribution of newsprint paper and are on record to this effect. Mr. F. P. Glass's letter of July 5 to Senator Smith states that the resolution indorsing Government regulation was approved 2 to 1. This result was arrived at by overriding the vote held at the Washington conference of the American Newspaper Association, and submitting the proposition by letter to the smaller publishers throughout the United States, who, knowing very little about the matter, voted for Government regulation, because they thought they could not be any worse off than they are now. The larger publishers, who have looked into the matter closely, realize the danger of Government regulation.

"The experience of the Fuel Administration in Washington up to date ought to be a warning to newspaper proprietors on the question of controlling the distribution of newsprint paper.

"Instead of there being a number of casualties in the newspaper field since the price of paper advanced, the net result has been an increase of daily newspapers. The only large newspaper that has gone out of business recently is the daily edition of The Cleveland Leader, which sold its franchise only, without any plant or physical assets, for $750,000 to its morning competitor, The Cleveland Plain Dealer. This would indicate that newsprint paper at 3 cents a pound had not depreciated the value of successful morning papers.

"The attitude of the Government towards newspaper publishers might best be arrived at by comparing their action on the second-class mail rates, which bear very unfairly indeed upon the newspaper publishers, instead of hitting the magazine publishers, who ought to and can afford to pay a higher rate."

The threat of Government control of the paper mills found quick reflection in the market for International Paper Company shares on the Stock Exchange yesterday. The common stock, which sold above [illegible] last year and in the neighborhood of 50 early this year, dropped to 22¾, a net loss for the day of 3¾ points. The preferred stock was not traded in, but the "stamped" preferred—so designated in the company's process of readjusting its finances—dropped more than 2 points to 54¾. The maximum of the year, established last June, was above 77.

HARKNESS MEMORIAL BEGUN

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 8.—The cornerstone of the Memorial Quadrangle at Yale University, which will be a group of buildings given by Mrs. Stephen V. Harkness in memory of her son, Charles W. Harkness of the class of '83, was laid today in the presence of a large gathering of university and municipal officers, Faculty members, and alumni. On this date two hundred years ago the first building was started for Yale College on the New Haven campus.

The cornerstone was laid at the corner of High and Library Streets, in the rear of the university library. The group will be of Gothic style with enough dormitories to accommodate the entire junior and senior classes. To make way for it the Peabody Museum, Pierson dormitory, the D. K. E. House, the old heating plant, and a dozen other buildings have been razed. The main entrance, Harkness Tower, will be in High Street.

The exercises at the cornerstone included a memorial address on Charles W. Harkness, by Horace D. Taft, '83, of Watertown, Conn., the placing of the stone by Edward S. Harkness, '97, brother of Charles, and the acceptance of the quadrangle by President Hadley of the university. Charles W. Harkness was a large holder of Standard Oil stock and was a Director in a number of railroads.

TO REVIEW 'PIRATING' CASE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Supreme Court decided today to review Federal decrees which restrained the International News, or Hearst, Service, from "pirating" news from The Associated Press.

This action does not stay the operation of the injunctions already existing, court officials said, but merely provides for a review, to which there was no opposition by The Associated Press.

The case of The Associated Press against the International News Service for pirating Associated Press news was decided by the Circuit Court of Appeals of this district. There was no right of appeal to the Supreme Court, but both sides petitioned the Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari to review it, The Associated Press being anxious to secure a decision of the highest tribunal in the United States on the subject.

The petition of The Associated Press for a writ of certiorari recited that it "would be content to rest its rights upon the decisions below without requesting the Supreme Court to assume the burden, except that nothing but a decision of the Supreme Court can assure this great service a sound and indisputable foundation and forestall a great quantity of costly and harassing litigation all over the country in both Federal and State Courts."

WOULD HAVE CITY PASTEURIZE MILK

Mayor Mitchel yesterday sent a letter to the committee now inquiring into the recent rise in the price of milk in this city, asking that body to consider the desirability of the city establishing pasteurizion plants and a distributing system whereby the city will act as the distributor of milk from the producers to the consumers. He also asked the committee to consider the practicability and economy of the city establishing a plant for the pasteurizing of milk used in city institutions. As an alternative proposition he requested the committee to determine the feasibility of establishing a milk distribution system under a franchise grant. In his letter the Mayor in part said:

"The duty of considering this action has been placed squarely upon us by the Legislature, which authorizes action by the municipality whenever the city is faced with actual or threatened deprivation of necessaries by reason of excessive profits or otherwise. The soaring price of milk is a case in point. If the present uncontrolled commercial system of handling milk causes waste in the method of delivery, or opens the door to excessive charges due to private control, we must find means whereby the burden thus unnecessarily and unjustly placed upon the community can be removed. Between excessive profits and the lives and health of children there can be but one choice.

"The law confers upon the city the right to sell necessaries 'through such agencies as it may determine.' Please, therefore, consider the possibility of establishing a milk distributing system under a grant of franchise or franchises or otherwise. Should any franchise be granted by the city it must be on terms which place in the hands of the municipality absolute control over profits, and the system must reserve to the city ample power for the strict regulation of the industry."

The Mayor also asked the committee to consider the establishment of a zone system whereby the expense of delivery of milk in the city might be reduced.

The only witness examined yesterday by the committee was Professor G. F. Warren, Professor of Farm Management in the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell University. Before beginning the examination the Chairman, Dr. Charles E. North, said he wished to correct the impression that seemed to prevail that the examinations were being conducted from the standpoint of the milk dealers. This he denied, and said that when the dealers came to the stand they would be as carefully examined as were the producers.

Professor Warren declared that the whole question was one whether the farmer should get enough on which to keep a farm. He said that labor and feed were high and that there had been a decrease in dairy herds in the State.

"Unless farm wages are raised I believe that farm labor will slip away and in the Spring New York City, this country, and our Allies will have to face a serious condition," he asserted. "If the war keeps up another year, if we let labor slip from the farms, and if we have even a moderate crop there will be a shortage, but if there be a poor crop it means a famine."

Commissioner of Accounts Wallstein examining Professor Warren, suggested that he tell exactly what data he had. When the witness began to read Mr. Walstein said:

"If this witness is to be allowed to shape the line of testimony during this investigation I intend to withdraw from this inquiry at once."

"This examination will go on just as you care to have it go on, Commissioner," replied Dr. North.

The committee wished to know all about the figures given by Professor Warren to R. D. Cooper, President of the Dairymen's League, and which figured in the fixing of the October price of milk. The witness said that these had been hurriedly handed to Mr. Cooper. Though these figures were hastily worked out from memory he insisted the cost of production of 100 pounds of milk as given to Mr. Cooper agreed with scientific standards. There was an apparent discrepancy between the miscellaneous percentage of costs between the figures Professor Warren gave Mr. Cooper and those he gave to the committee. In Mr. Cooper's table Professor Warren gave the percentage for miscellaneous expenditures at 18, and in his latter table 29. He explained that the 29 was gross, and that from it should be deducted the 11 per cent. which the farmer gets in return from the sale of calves, &c. The Cooper figures, he added, were based on statistics in Broome County and represented 798 cows.

The witness said the major costs of producing 100 pounds of milk were 33.1 pounds of grain, 61. pounds of hay, 97.2 silage, and 2.83 hours of labor.

"For nine years ending with October, 1915," he said, "the average price received by farmers in October in the '26-cent freight zone,' was $1.83 per 100 pounds of milk. In not one of these years did the price vary as much as 8 per cent. from the average of the nine years. In the same years the average price in November was $1.97. In only one year did the price vary as much as 5 per cent. from the average.

"For seven years, beginning in 1907, the Borden's June price of milk in the '26-cent zone' was $1.10, except in 1909, when it was $1.05.

"But the things that milk is made of, grain, hay and labor, vary in price. The price of milk should change with varying feed and labor costs and with the season; but if the prices go down in the Summer, they must go up in the Fall. If prices go up when feed and labor are expensive, they should come down when these are cheap.

"Retail milk prices must be quoted in terms of ½ or ¼ cent changes in price if the changes in prices paid to farmers are to be promptly reflected in retail prices."

Professor Warren said that the average yearly cost of 100 pounds of milk was $2.89. He also expressed the opinion that the formula used by the Dairymen's League was too low.

Asked whether the cost of producing milk could not be lowered, Professor Warren said: "If the costs of hay, grain, silage, and labor are not lower I don't see how you can lower the price."

Dr. North, referring to his connection with the Borden Milk Company, yesterday said:

"My selection for the work of this committee is not based on anything but my knowledge of the milk business and my expert ability in dealing with the questions that may come up. I am associated with the Borden Company as a consulting expert, experimenting with milk to reduce the bacteria count and in an endeavor to get farmers to produce cleaner milk. I am carrying on these experiments with the consent of the Dairymen's League and have been asked by Mr. Cooper, President of the Dairymen's League, to start the same kind of work at Little Falls, N. Y. Mr. Cooper and the officers of the league indorse it. I have 1,000 dairy farms under my supervision."

Hearings will be resumed on Thursday. District Attorney Swann announced that the investigation by the Grand Jury to determine whether the Dairymen's League violated the Donnelly Anti-Trust act when it raised milk prices will be begun today.

YAPHANK DRAFT MAN WEDS, THEN DESERTS

Buys Big Auto to Take Bride to Camp, Changes His Mind, and Gives It to Mother-in-Law.

SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS

Said to Have Explained Affluence by Stories of Winnings on Horses and Stocks.

George E. Hiscox, Jr., 28 years old, of 946 St. John's Place, Brooklyn, and Miss Pearl Masters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Masters, of 1,146 Napier Avenue, Richmond Hill, Queens, who were hastily married on Sept. 27, in order, as they said, that Hiscox having been drafted, could report at Camp Upton on the following Saturday, never reached Camp Upton, according to Arthur Hatch, of William T. Hatch & Son, brokers, of 71 Broadway, New York.

Hiscox was a clerk for the Hatch firm. He and his bride, according to their announced plans, were to go to Yaphank together on Saturday in a $2,000 automobile that Hiscox acquired recently, and Mrs. Hiscox was to board in Yaphank while her soldier-husband was in training at Camp Upton. Apparently, neither Hiscox nor his bride ever reached Yaphank. If they are not there, their whereabouts is a mystery, even to the bride's parents.

Arthur Hatch said late yesterday that Hiscox was short in his accounts with the firm, but he declined to indicate the amount. Mr. Hatch also declared that George E. Brower, a Brooklyn lawyer, who is the Chairman of the local Exemption Board of District 64, Brooklyn, had told him yesterday that Hiscox never reported at Yaphank, and had been listed as a deserter, with a reward of $50 for his arrest.

Hiscox and Miss Masters were married in the parsonage of the Rev. Rolla Hunt, pastor of the Richmond Hill Baptist Church. The wedding was arranged in a day, for Hiscox called up his fiancée in the morning and told her that he had just been notified to report to his Draft Board on the following Saturday to go to Yaphank. On the day of the wedding Hiscox said he had wound up his affairs with Hatch & Co., by whom he had been employed for several years. On the day after the wedding, Mr. Hiscox and his bride started in his big automobile for a twenty-four-hour honeymoon. Then it was arranged, he said, that they were to go to Yaphank on Sept. 30 in the car, so that they might have the use of the machine during his time off duty. His bride was to board in the village.

This plan, it now appears, was changed. Mr. and Mrs. Hiscox returned to the bride's home in Richmond Hill on the night before he was to go to Yaphank, and he presented his new $2,000 car to his mother-in-law. He said he and his bride had concluded that they didn't want the machine at Yaphank. They departed next day, presumably to go to the training camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Masters, the bride's parents, are in moderate circumstances, and the gift of the big automobile was most acceptable. Mr. Masters conducts a small factory for the manufacture of smokers' articles.

Mrs. Masters told friends yesterday, before the news of the disappearance of Hiscox became known, that she had heard nothing from her daughter since the latter left on Sept. 29. Mr. and Mrs. Masters expected to motor to Yaphank in the new car on Sunday to visit the young couple, but were prevented; but, so far as they know, the couple are at Camp Upton.

Hiscox and Miss Masters had known each other for a year or two before their marriage. Hiscox led the Masters family to believe that he had a large salary from the Hatch concern, and that he was, moreover, exceptionally lucky in playing the races. He considered it a poor day when he did not win from $50 to $80 on the horses. On several occasions he bought automobiles for Miss Masters, as well as a costly diamond engagement ring. The money for these things, he said, came from his salary, through his winnings at the races, and the use of stock "tips" that he said he obtained through business connections.

A few months ago Hiscox presented Miss Masters with an expensive roadster. A few weeks before they were married they decided that it was not roomy enough, so, by trading in the roadster and paying $1,500 cash, as he said at the time, the big touring car was purchased, which Hiscox later gave to his mother-in-law.

Arthur Hatch declined yesterday to say what salary his firm paid Hiscox, and whether or not it was sufficient to enable him to buy and maintain a $2,000 automobile.

Mrs. Alexander Masters said last night that she had not heard a word from her daughter since she left on Sept. 29 with her husband to go to Yaphank, and that she had no reason to believe they were not there.

COUNCIL OF DEFENSE TO EXCLUDE SELLERS

Committees Will Be Reorganized to Represent Industries Instead of the Government.

COMPLY WITH LEVER LAW

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Plans for the reorganization of the Council of National Defense and its many advisory committees along lines which, it is believed, will give the most efficient service to the Government have been formulated and will soon become effective.

Many of the powers once held by various committees composed largely of representatives of great industries already have been vested in the War Industries Board by President Wilson. It is probable that the next step will be to accept the resignations of about 300 members of the advisory committees who have been, under the law, agents of the Government. Most of these committees will be reorganized, not as agencies of the Government, but entirely as representatives of the industries in which the members are interested.

Under the Lever food control law, severe restrictions were placed upon the members of the advisory committees of the council, making it practically impossible for corporations they represented to have business dealings with the Government if they participated. As a result twenty-two members, among them some of the most prominent business men in the country, resigned.

The members of the War Industries Board, of which Frank A. Scott is Chairman, have severed their private business relations. Under the reorganization plan, it is believed that the Government will still profit from advice it may seek from the members of the former advisory committees, although they will enter no negotiations with the War Industries Board or other Federal agencies as representatives of the Government.

The selection of the War Industries Board as a central body and the plans for the reorganization of the advisory committees of the Council of National Defense are the result of an effort to take advantage of early mistakes and confusion and obtain the greatest efficiency. There have been similar steps in other directions and one of them has led to the proposal to establish the War Trade Council to succeed the Exports Administration Board and to have charge of exports, imports, and those provisions of the trading with the enemy legislation which deal with trade and commerce.

FIRE PREVENTION DAY.

Department to Parade and Schools to Have Exercises.

This is Fire Prevention Day in New York City and other cities of the nation. It will be observed here by a great parade of fire-fighting equipment and members of the department, starting from the Municipal Building at 11 o'clock this morning, and by exercises at schools and many public addresses. Fire Chiefs of ninety-six other American cities have sent statements to Commissioner Adamson of their plans for the day.

The parade this morning, after leaving the Municipal Building, will follow this route:

Centre Street to Lafayette, to Eighth, to Second Avenue, to Twenty-third Street, to Fifth Avenue, to Fifty-ninth Street, to Second Avenue, to Seventy-second Street, to First Avenue, to Houston Street, to Sheriff Street, to Grand Street, to the Bowery, to Park Row, to starting point.

"Nearly all of these fires are due to carlessness; three-fourths of them start in your homes.

"It is the duty of every patriotic American to help stop this needless waste in this time of war.

"Since fire prevention began in New York City five years ago an average reduction in the annual fire loss of $1,581,916 has been made in this city.

NAVAL DENTISTS KEPT BUSY

Two with American Flotilla Abroad Have Treated 1,000 Men.

BASE AMERICAN FLOTILLA IN BRITISH WATERS, Sept. 30, (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Keeping in repair the teeth of the American officers and bluejackets over here is a big task ably performed by two dental surgeons who hold the rank of Junior Lieutenants, on the two tenders or mother ships now based on this port. These two men since the arrival of the flotilla in these waters, have treated no less than 1,000 of the personnel of the ships for everything from a common, everyday toothache to a major operation on the molars.

On their respective ships the two surgeons preside over dental parlors on a par with those to be found in the best equipped of American cities. Here urgent cases are treated immediately, others by appointment and in regular order. The dentists are always "on the job." They are subject to call at any time of the day or night. All work is done at the expense of the Government. No gold crowns are put in, nor is any bridge work done. This class of work not only is too expensive, but there is no time for what is called "fancy" dentistry.

But Uncle Sam makes it his business to watch over the men's teeth, and has made teeth inspection a part of the regular routine of ship life. It is part of the efficiency scheme. Uncle Sam knows that to keep his men fit and in good health care of their teeth is just as essential as care of their food or clothing. Therefore, a man with the slightest symptom of trouble with his molars is sent off to the dentist whether he likes it or not, and he is required to follow the doctor's advice and to arm himself with a tooth brush and tube of paste.

"A number of these associations as well as individual caterers are going to make the day meatless," said Mr. Bowman, "and we believe that practically every public dining place will soon adopt the meatless Tuesday menu."

Beefless Tuesdays began in New York last week, and were well received by diners. The hotel men report that not a complaint was received, and many compliments were paid.

REGULAR ARMY INCREASING.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The regular army of the United States is now about 40,000 men in excess of its maximum war strength. On April 1 the army needed 183,898 men to reach war strength of 300,000 men. Up to the close of recruiting last night 223,528 men had been recruited since that date, which means that when the recruiting offices opened this morning the Government had obtained 39,690 more men than were necessary to round the army out to war strength.

A total of 752 men was obtained yesterday. More than enough were obtained today to give the excess of 40,000 over 300,000.

THE SUCCESS of the Liberty Loan depends upon the person who buys a $50 or $100 bond. The banks are doing all they can. They are putting every available dollar behind the Government.

But victory rests with you. The amount you lay aside out of your earnings must buy the food, uniforms, guns, ammunition, shelter, and transportation for our troops.

The Government doesn't ask you to give. It asks you to lend. It starts a savings fund for you when you buy a Liberty Bond and pays you 4 per cent interest.

This institution urges you to put every possible dollar into Liberty Bonds. As our share, we have subscribed $1,000,000. If there is any way in which we can help you arrange your subscription, call upon us today.

GIANTS GRIMLY DETERMINED TO WIN FIRST GAME ON HOME GROUNDS FROM WHITE SOX

STILL IN THE FIGHT, GIANTS COME HOME

McCARTY LOST TO TEAM

Smarting under the severe chastisement they received from the White Sox in Chicago, the Giants, fighting in the last ditch, will face Rowland's confident club in the third game of the world's series at the Polo Grounds this afternoon. The shock of that unexpected reversal in the Windy City Saturday and Sunday has left McGraw's men numb with surprise. They fail to figure how their opposition could have been so weak. With promise of fair and cooler weather, the New York Club officials were confident that there would be no postponement, unless, of course, the weather prediction is all wrong and there is a continuance of last night's rain.

New York fans are impatient to see the Giants go forth and get revenge for the sound thrashing they have thus far encountered in the series. The game will start at 2 o'clock and the 25,000 lower stand and pavilion seats will be placed on sale at 9 o'clock. It is estimated that more than 35,000 will see the game.

The Giants scattered and disappeared just as soon as they arrived in town last night, and were a pretty sad, dejected lot of athletes. The Sox players were greatly surprised at the ease with which they defeated the much heralded McGraw club Sunday, and all, when they arrived last night, voiced the sentiment that they would take the next two games here and equal the record for winning the world's series in four straight, which was established by the Boston Braves in 1914.

To add to the gloom of the Giants, the condition of Catcher Lew McCarty's injured arm is such that it is not probable that he will be able to get into today's game. Last night his right shoulder, which was badly bruised, was stiff and sore and it is not likely that he will be able to play until tomorrow.

McCarty's Absence a Blow.

McCarty was injured trying to touch Leibold at the plate in Sunday's game. He missed the runner, dived over him and landed on his shoulder. The shoulder was examined by Trainer Eddie Mackall, and while no bones were broken, the shock of the bruise has left the injured member very stiff. McCarty has proved the most effective of the Giant batsmen against the Chicago pitchers thus far and his loss will be sorely felt.

There is one outstanding feature of the Giants' downfall in the first two games in Chicago, and that is, McGraw's players did not approach anywhere near the game of which they are capable. They acted as if they were stale, and the lifeless, colorless game they played was nothing like the performances they have put up during the championship season. McGraw and his players look for a reaction today. Those who are close to the club figure that once on the Polo Grounds all the stage-fright and nervousness which the club displayed in Chicago will disappear.

The Giants face an enormous handicap in going against the Sox today with two victories to the credit of Rowland's men. To regain full confidence the Giants must take the next two games. Today's struggle will be the climax, for if the Sox should win at this first clash at the Polo Grounds the chances of taking even one game in the series will be mighty slim.

Fight Up to the Pitchers.

A great deal depends on the pitchers. Sallee was barely short of success in the opening contest in Chicago, and the White Sox players do not hesitate to praise his wonderful control and generalship. The Sox say that Sallee's pitching closely resembles the cross-fire pitching of Eddie Plank, when the great Athletic star was at his best.

Manager McGraw said last night that he had not decided which of his boxmen he would send to the mound today. While it is believed that Sallee would be the safest choice on the basis of his performance on Saturday, it would not be at all surprising if McGraw would call upon Rube Benton, if Rube shows anything like his true form in warming up.

McGraw still has confidence in Ferdie Schupp. It was the young southpaw's inexperience which caused him to crack before the howling mob of Chicago fans Sunday. Ordinarily he has been a cool youngster under fire, but the excitement of this Chicago baseball holiday got on his nerves, and the ball failed to respond as it usually does. Schupp always has been a better pitcher at the Polo Grounds than he has on other parks, and his best ball has been pitched before a friendly home crowd. With all these things in his favor, there is a possibility that McGraw will show his confidence in the Louisville southpaw and send him against the Sox again.

If Benton was at his best, it is believed that the Sox would have a tough time against him. One of his greatest faults, however, is wildness, and he must be just right before McGraw will trust him with the big job. Perritt was far from effective Sunday, although he went in just as the Sox were warmed up in an unrelenting batting rally. The way they were going when Pol came to the rescue, it is doubtful if any pitcher could have succeeded any better than he did. They were swinging ferociously at the first ball, and were landing with deadly accuracy.

Russell May Pitch for Sox.

Reb Russell is more than anxious to go against the Giants today, and Manager Rowland may give him the honor. The sturdy left-hander is said to be in great shape, and if he warms up satisfactorily he will surely get the assignment. Rowland is in a position now where he does not have to worry about his pitchers as he did before the series began. He has in Cicotte and Faber two men upon whom he can rely to baffle the Giants in case his other pitchers fail. It is Rowland's plan to save Cicotte for tomorrow's game, for if Russell can fool the Giants with his left-handed shoots today the Sox are anxious to send in Cicotte a second time and settle the series with four straight games.

One thing in the Giants' favor in facing the Sox at the Polo Grounds will be that Heinie Zimmerman will be in a position to play his normal game. Before the jeering, hostile crowd in Chicago, which kept after him continually throughout both games, Zimmerman was not himself. Every move he made was greeted with the most unsportsmanlike demonstration ever seen at a world's series game. Zim was helpless before the howling multitude, and the hostile demonstration completely spoiled his chances of doing anything which would help the Giants. Zim had about all he could do not to make errors every time the ball was batted or thrown at him. In Chicago he was a dejected, defeated player, while at the Polo Grounds he should be full of fight and aggressiveness.

New York fans also look for a big improvement in the playing of Arthur Fletcher and Charley Herzog. The work of these two and Benny Kauff has been the big disappointment of the series. The middle of the Giants' batting order has gone to pieces, and if there [illegible] no dying kick left in their play the last chance of turning the tables on the American Leaguers is gone.

On account of McCarty's injury, Rariden will probably get the catching job, but he will not be as effective as McCarty, who is badly needed for his hitting. The White Sox found it easy to steal on Rariden on Sunday.

White Sox Clever Club.

There is no question now in any one's mind about the White Sox being a smart, resourceful baseball club. They showed that they could solve McGraw's hit-and-run attack, and every time a Giant player got on first base, both Cicotte and Faber began throwing pitchouts, which proved a very effective weapon against the hit-and-run offense. The rapidity and ease with which Rowland's men changed their offensive tactics against the Giants marked them as a club of the greatest resources. When the Giants were all set for the sacrifice game, they found no trouble in crossing the McGraw players by springing the hit-and-run style of attack.

There is no denying the fact that the outlook for the Giants in the coming two games at the Polo Grounds is a deep indigo. There must be a complete change in the spirit of McGraw's men if they hope to match the fearless, fiery attack of the White Sox. The playing ability is there, if it can be brought forth. New York will have to enter the battle, however, with far different feelings than it exhibited in Chicago. It is an unusual sight to see a club of Giants walk on to the field with the listlessness which they exhibited at Comiskey Park.

The Giants must go into the game today prepared to fight, and fight hard. Their backs are against the wall, and if they don't win today, they may be unable to win a single game. Manager McGraw is not disheartened. He has seen this same club come back from deeper slumps than this one, and he hopes to see it blossom out again and play the snappy, skillful baseball that it has played all season.

The Giants were in this same kind of a slump just before the series with Philadelphia here toward the end of the season, and yet when they looked the worst they exhibited great recuperative powers and went in with a never-say-die spirit, which is the only thing that will save them in today's struggle. If they don't play any better than they did in Chicago they are lost.

Chicago Strategists Score.

In the two games thus far played, the White Sox have beaten the Giants at every phase of the game. Their pitching has been better, their base running has been far superior and there has been no comparison between the batting ability of the rival clubs. Even in strategy and generalship, Rowland has had the edge on McGraw. With Rowland coaching on the first base line at Comiskey Park and with Kid Gleason handing out advice on the third base line, there has not been a single move by McGraw which has not been met and solved.

The Giants have had too much confidence in their drive. When this drive, which has smashed its way through the National League during the last season, was working, it was a valuable scoring weapon. But when the drive is subdued with the effective pitching which the Sox boxmen have been showing, the Giants were helpless. They realize that the only way they can win is with long smashing hits, and every one of them swung at the Chicago flinging as if they wanted to drive the ball out of the park. This ferocious attack is all right when it works, but it looks foolish when it fails.

If once in today's game the Giants can concentrate their latent batting ability against one of the Sox pitchers, the crowd may rush out of the Polo Grounds singing the praises of McGraw's men. If they are not able to bring this, their most effective weapon, into play, well, the world's series of 1917 will go down as a disastrous explosion of one of the most overrated clubs in the history of the game.

It does not seem possible that the Giants have not something in reserve in the way of attack and fighting spirit to balk the onrushing of the Sox in the remaining games. New York fans, like the players, have not given up the ship yet and are confident that McGraw's men will fight until the last man is out.

LIBERTY BONDS FOR FANS.

Great Drive Will Be Made by Salesmen at Polo Grounds.

Loyal rooters for the Giants are preparing to dig down deep in their pockets today—Fans' Liberty Loan Day—when the first of the world's series games will be played here. To set the others a good example, Harry N. Hempstead and Charles Comiskey, respective owners of the Giants and the White Sox, have each purchased several thousand dollars' worth of the gold certificates and each member of the two teams has subscribed to the new bonds.

Harry Stevens and Groundkeeper Fabian yesterday supervised the work of setting up a whole new series of signs advertising Liberty bonds in the big lot under Coogan's Bluff. Instead of the usual advertisements the field slogans read today: "Buy Liberty bonds and help knock the Kaiser out of the box." "The world's heaviest hitter, Uncle Sam. Buy his bonds." "Our boys are fighting in France. Don't let them fight extra innings." "Buy Liberty bonds and help win the European world's series."

Several large Liberty bond banners wave alongside of the championship flags of bygone world's series contests, and over the quarters of both teams patriotic bond streamers show to good advantage.

INDIANS BREAK THE ICE.

Turn on Reds and Capture Fourth Game of Ohio Series.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 8.—Cleveland, by defeating the Cincinnati Reds here today, 8 to 0, still has an outside chance to win the major league championship of Ohio. The series stands, Reds, 3; Cleveland, 1. Solid hitting off Toney, who won from the Indians in the opening game at Cincinnati last week, defeated Matty's men. Toney was replaced in the third by Regan, who was not very effective.

By IRVIN S. COBB.

ABOARD WHITE SOX SPECIAL, NEAR ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 8.—We are now coming East with the invaders. We left Chicago last night an hour and a half behind the funeral train bearing the New York team and the chief mourners and the members of the family of the bereft and the active and honorary pallbearers. This was done by deliberate design.

After reading the accounts of yesterday's game the officials of the Pennsylvania and the New York Central roads decided not to send the two specials out at the same time. They were afraid the White Sox would run through the Giants even though the rival troupes did travel over separate lines, and, following their usual custom, finish in front.

These canny railroad folk had no desire to anticipate probable events of Tuesday at the Polo Grounds. They gave McGraw's crowd a ninety-minute start. At that, none of us would be surprised to hear before night that we had passed the National League outfit without checking up somewhere between here and the terminal stations.

All day we have ridden through a rainstorm. This circumstance gives members of the Chicago team some concern. Some of them are inclined to the fear that they may not win the third game of the world's series Tuesday. If weather conditions interfere they doubt whether they can win it before Wednesday.

Almost Tired of Zim.

The Comiskeyites are taking things easy as they journey toward the seaboard for their invasion of the enemy's territory. Several among them are quite saddleworn from having ridden Heinie Zimmerman so enthusiastically. They treated Heinie as informally as though he had been a merry-go-round with rides free.

No matter how the series terminates—whether it ends in four games or drags out to five—it is a safe bet that Heinie will be glad to see his second trip West cut off nice and short. Out Chicago way he is almost as popular as a pesthouse and nearly as lonely as one, except when he is playing.

At the ball park these last two days he did not lack for company. Thousands of persons, most of whom, doubtlessly, were strangers to him, lost no opportunity of hailing Mr. Zimmerman by his own name and by other names as well. And when he batted—only as the official scores show he didn't—the applause, uttered with the reverse English on it, was well-nigh deafening.

Benny Kauff is another popular superstition, or myth, for whom these Chicago Jacks the Giant Killers appear to have lost all dread. Puns are odious, but not among ball players. They are courageous enough to pull puns or even to wear traveling jackets belted high under their armpits and trousers which are too long in the legs to be short trousers and too short in the legs to be long trousers. Today, when they think of the figure which Benny cut each time he has gone to bat in this series, they refer to him as that bad-hacking Kauff.

Senator Carter Had a Story.

As I sit here aboard our cozy train, watching the rain trickling in streams down the car windows, like the tears of a fan who bet on the Giants to win, I am strikingly reminded of a story which I heard years ago from the late Senator Tom Carter of Montana.

As the Senator told the tale, there was a little, fire-eating Kentuckian there who rode with Morgan's Raiders during the four years of the civil war and came out at the end of it still entirely unreconciled and unreconstructed. Since he had to live under the United States Government, he moved to Montana, which at that time didn't have very much government—Federal or otherwise—and there, on all occasions, he gave loud, vehement cheers for the late Southern Confederacy.

On the first Fourth of July after he arrived in the West the Union veterans of the camp had a parade and a celebration. With his thoughts seething within him and his eyes burning at sight of the hated blue uniforms worn by his recent enemies, the little Kentuckian watched the procession go by. He managed to restrain himself until the Grand Marshal came along, mounted on a horse. The Grand Marshal was a lanky ex-Vermonter, as outspoken in defense of his cause as the Southerner was in his.

"Git down off'en that hoss," commanded the Kentuckian. "I'm goin' to lick the daylights out of you right here and now jest to prove that a Southern gentleman is a better man than any Northern mudsill that ever lived."

The Vermonter leaped out of the saddle and in three minutes had pounded the Kentuckian into a state of battered helplessness. Bystanders pried the victor off the prostrate form of the vanquished. As the Vermonter, who had not suffered so much as a scratch in the onesided encounter, started to remount, the Kentuckian with difficulty sat up in the dust, and, opening one bruised eye, he shook a warning finger at his adversary and in a tone of deadly purpose he said:

"Let this be a lesson to you, because from now on I'm a'goin' to serve you this way ever time I meet you, suh."

I was reminded of this story after reading in today's papers the threatening dispatches sent from the field hospital last night by John J. McGraw immediately following the holocaust of the afternoon.

FAME FOR TEDDY ROUSSEAU.

Mayor Mitchel's Secretary Has a Race Horse Named After Him.

Theodore Rousseau, secretary to Mayor Mitchel, is about to blazon the pages of sporting history and be subject to compliment or commiseration, according to how the colt turns out, by having a race horse named for him. Walter J. Salmon, who recently purchased the French bred colt by Sardanapel from Delbert Reiff, has registered the colt at the Jockey Club under the name of Teddy Rousseau.

The colt which now bears this illustrious monaker is a good-looking brown fellow, and if he follows the habit of his sire and namesake is certain to be a winner.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 8.—An all-Syracuse football team from Syracuse, N. Y., was defeated at the university stadium today by an eleven picked from United States college men training for aviators at Camp Borden. The score was 21 to 0. It was the first game of American rugby staged here and attracted a large crowd, the proceeds going to war charities.

FORDHAM TO MEET NORWICH

First Home Game to be Played Against Vermonters Saturday.

Fordham's first home football game will be played Saturday with Norwich University. 'Varsity candidates yesterday started a week's preparations to enable the locals to give the Vermonters a proper welcome. A short scrimmage was held after a long signal drill.

"Bill" Erwig rejoined the team after a ten-day sojourn with the hospital squad. He ran through the plays with a lot of dash, but as his poisoned hand was still bandaged, he was unable to get into the scrimmage. The prep. team was invited to oppose the 'Varsity in the first of the annual season clashes, but Coach Siskind declined the issue.

HARVARD LOSES GOOD END.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 8.—Another Harvard football player gave up his football togs for war regalia today. R. G. Stone, considered one of the best ends on the squad, announced today that he had entered the Cadet School for Ensigns at Cambridge, and was ineligible therefore to represent the university on the gridiron.

Notwithstanding the fact that not a football veteran remains on the squad, and that every week the younger players are entering some form of war service, the football management has decided to keep the game going. Next Saturday the team will play the Dumpkins Island Naval Reserves, and on Nov. 27 will go to the Ayer cantonment to play the Depot Brigade eleven, coached by Charley Coolidge, the old Harvard end. Efforts are being made to arrange for other games.

RUTGERS HARD AT WORK.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 8.—George Foster Sanford is pushing the Rutgers football team to the limit in preparation for the game with Syracuse on Saturday. The 90-to-0 victory over the soldiers of Fort Wadsworth showed that the team has plenty of speed, and the work this week will tend to develop that speed as much as possible.

Tom Gargan, the freshman star, has entirely recovered from a wrenched ankle, and will probably start at half back, and Mack Hummell, the husky end, is again in uniform after an enforced rest due to a strained shoulder. Both will be in shape to play against Syracuse.

Lightweights Will Box at Manhattan A. C.—Other Bouts.

Boxing fans from out of town who are making the trip to this city to view the world's series, which opens here this afternoon at the Polo Grounds, and the local enthusiasts will be able to see a promising lightweight bout tonight at the Manhattan A. C., where Irish Patsy Cline, the clever Harlem boxer, and Johnny Dundee, the local Italian, will be opponents for ten rounds. The contest brings together two of the leading local contenders for Benny Leonard's championship title, and with the large delegations expected in the city for the baseball the club management expects an overflow crowd.

The match will contrast Dundee's aggressive style and sensational rushes with Cline's cool cleverness, and should furnish an interesting contest. Billy Roche has been selected to referee the bout, and it is expected that the winner will get a match with the champion, Benny Leonard.

Lightweights will also furnish the feature ten-round bout this evening at the weekly show of the Pioneer Sporting Club, where Joe Welling, the Chicago lightweight who recently enlisted in the naval reserve, will box Jimmy Duffy, the sturdy west side boxer, in the principal ten-round bout. This contest will be between boxers of known ability as heavy and consistent hitters and it is expected that either one of the principals will win decisively. There will also be another ten-round exhibition, with three four-round bouts and one six-round match.

Chess Universally Played.

Frank Janet of Mount Vernon proposes to meet the need of Uncle Sam's soldiers during their hours of leisure by the encouragement of the study of chess strategy, which, he says, will be found equivalent to a universal language, inasmuch as most of the officers in the foreign armies and a large percentage of the soldiers in the ranks are able to play chess.

LOCAL FANS AWAIT OPENING GAME HERE

With the arrival in New York late yesterday afternoon of the contending teams in the world's series and the shifting of the scene from Chicago's South Side to New York's hollow, shaded by Coogan's Bluff, local fandom has begun to sit up and take further notice. The enthusiastic ardor of New York has been dampened greatly by Chicago's two victories, but the outcome of the opening games will have no effect on the crowd at the first New York battle today.

Every arrangement for the care of the 36,000 persons who will sit in at the Polo Grounds opening of the world's series has been perfected by the management of the local National League champions. Harry N. Hempstead, President of the Giants, had to forego the doubtful pleasure of seeing the Chicago games, to see to it that New York's baseball patrons would have every possible convenience. He has given personal attention to every detail, and last night wanted the fans to know that there would not be a slip-up in the proceedings.

The New York Police Department has co-operated with the management of the Giants and there will be a special detail around the Polo Grounds today to keep the fans in line and to prevent any unnecessary congestion. The police will establish a dead line for vehicular traffic on Eighth Avenue at 155th Street. No automobiles will be allowed closer to the Polo Grounds than the above cross street excepting on the Speedway. Automobile parking spaces, under care of the police, will be established on the Speedway from 155th Street to the bottom of the hill at the Harlem River. Automobiles also may be parked in 154th and other cross streets below 155th and also in Manhattan Avenue.

Those who wish to purchase tickets at the gate today will be asked to form in lines on Eighth Avenue. No tickets will be sold at the Speedway entrance, and only reserved seat and box seat tickets will be accepted at the Speedway entrance. This does not mean that reserved seat holders will have to use the Speedway entrance, as the management wishes it to be known that reserved or box seat tickets will be accepted at all entrances.

The gates will be opened shortly after 9 o'clock this morning and at the same time the sale of 27,000 unreserved seats will be started. These tickets will be $1 and $2. The $2 seats will be in the lower grand stand and the $1 seats will be in the uncovered bleachers which circle the outfield.

Only one ticket will be sold to each person, and the management reserves the right to revoke the license of this ticket unless the purchaser passes into the grounds immediately. All the upper structure and ground floor ticket windows on Eighth Avenue will be opened for the sale of tickets. If the congestion gets too great on the upper structure, which is just at the end of the elevated terminal, the management will close these windows and tickets only will be sold from the ground floor windows on Eighth Avenue.

At midnight there were more than a hundred "early birds" in line, each clutching at least a dollar and each prepared for an all-night wait for the ticket windows to open. This number was being augmented almost every minute by newcomers until the police estimated that there would be several hundred in line by 6 o'clock this morning regardless of the rain. Vendors of sandwiches and coffee reaped a small harvest from the crowd of fans who were willing to do without sleep, shiver through a none too comfortable night, stand in line for hours, and then sit for hours more waiting for something to happen worth while, just to see two baseball teams give battle.

Improvised stools, chairs, beds, and even hammocks were common. The crowd was not noisy and for the most part the all-night variety of fan waited with a stoic patience. Several of the leaders admitted that they suffered with a mercenary object, and that they hoped to get a big offer for their places this morning. The early crowd, however, was not so great as had been anticipated, since there are so many tickets to be sold today that most of the fans believed their chances just as good this morning with sleep as if they had spent the night on the hard pavement.

There is little choice in the unreserved seats. Almost every chair in [illegible] stand affords a perfect view of the field, and there is nothing to block the bleacherites' view of the field. Most of the early fans confessed to a desire to get a chair along the third-base line, where they could be close enough to watch the antics of Heinie Zimmerman. Needless to say these fans came from the Bronx.

The National Commission has provided entertainment for the fans prior to the game. The Seventh Regiment Band will dispense popular, patriotic, and syncopated tunes starting at 12 noon. There will be several soloists, who will sing patriotic songs, and the stands will be crowded by representatives of the Liberty Loan Committee, each with order blanks for the bonds. The day is to be known as Liberty Loan Day, and at every entrance will be some one ready and willing to offer bonds for sale.

Led by 200 Woodland Bards, for years supporters and rooters for the White Sox, Charles Comiskey, the owner of the Chicago club, arrived in New York about 6:30 last evening. The entire party was quartered at the Biltmore Hotel and the Manhattan Hotel. The Bards came on a special train, and with the avowed intention of getting a place close to third base, where they could continue to worry Zimmerman. Further, the Bards hope to return after tomorrow's game shouting the chant of the world's series champions.

Several more special trains carried hundreds of Western rooters into New York. Most of the hotels felt the influx, and rooms early were at a premium.

Light Practice for Carlisle Eleven.

CARLISLE, Penn., Oct. 8.—Coach Harris put the Indian Braves through light limbering-up exercises at this afternoon's practice. Particular attention was paid to the forward pass in preparation for what is expected to be one of the hardest games of the season against West Virginia at Morgantown on Saturday. LeRoy, Tibbetts, Charles Walker, and Miles practiced place kicking. No scrimmage will be held until Wednesday.

LESS WEIGHT ON WELDSHIP.

Handicapper Frank J. Bryan has been a little more lenient to Edward M. Weld's great jumper, Weldship, in allotting the allowances for the United Hunts Double Event, which will be the feature of the Autumn meeting at Belmont Terminal Saturday.

The second half of the race, to be decided Saturday, will be a more strenuous test for the steeplechasers than was the Spring portion, which was contested over a two-mile course. In the coming contest the field will be required to travel over three miles of the course, which is one of the stiffest in this part of the country. As the conditions call for a sweepstakes of $500 for each half of the event, the best jumpers in the country are engaged. Eleven horses have been named by leading owners.

Weldship, beaten at Piping Rock last Saturday when shouldering 166 pounds, is asked to carry 160 in the Double Event and to concede five pounds instead of ten to the Greentree Stable's Cherry Malotte, which defeated him at Piping Rock. Mr. Weld has another smart performer entered in St. Charlcote, which, with 151 pounds, is next in order of weight to Cherry Malotte. The weights follow:

FAMOUS TRAINER IS DEAD.

John Powers, owner of Harry Shaw, and other racehorses, and one of the best-known trainers of thoroughbreds, died on Sunday night of acute indigestion. In addition to racing horses in his own name, Powers trained for William P. Orr, who owns the great sprinter Leochares. It was while dining with Mr. Orr in New York that Mr. Powers was attacked with the illness that resulted in his death.

He was considered one of the best of the Western trainers, and in his day had saddled more than 500 winners. Among the horses trained by him were Knight Errant and Rose Tree II., the sire and dam of Roamer. He also trained the great race horse Jack Atkin. Mr. Powers was one of the most popular of the small owners, and had a big following whenever he said a horse was fit. It was only on Saturday that he sent Lucius to the post at Aqueduct a strong favorite. Mr. Powers made his home in Sheepshead Bay, but his body will be shipped to Lafayette, Ind., where his sister resides.

MABEL TRASK WINS STAKE.

Outbrushes St. Frisco in Two Heats at Lexington Meeting.

LEXINGTON, Oct. 8.—A splendid racing program of five events, including the Castleton Stake, which was won by Hazel Trask, and the champion Futurity, won by Opera Express, were the features of today's grand circuit meeting. The contests were exciting, and many close finishes were seen during the afternoon.

The meeting of Mabel Trask and St. Frisco overshadowed all else, and, considering the cold, raw day, a good crowd was present. Following his old tactics when racing against the stallion, Cox laid Mabel Trask in behind and trailed until the head of the stretch was reached, when he pulled out and outbrushed St. Frisco in the stretch. The time of the two heats was 2:05½ and 2:05, and in neither heat was the mare fully extended. She was a $200 to $90 favorite over the field.

The Champion Futurity, worth $5,000 was won by the outsider, Opera Express, bred and owned by W. B. Dickerman. Opera Express and Bonnie Del, winner of the third heat and second money, sold for $6 in pools, totaling over $200. Lotto Watts was the favorite, with General Yorke second choice. The race produced some of the closest finishes of the meeting. The second and third heats were particularly close.

Measles, a winner Saturday, repeated in easy style today, taking the 2:17 trot in straight heats. Frances Belmont was the principal contender.

The 2:08 pace, which was a two-horse race, was hard fought throughout the five heats. Princess Margaret won the first two heats, but could not overhaul Hal Conner in the next three. Ira C., favorite in the 2:14 trot, lost the first heat to David Look, due to a break, but won the next two in handy style. The summaries:

PADDY IS SURPRISE OF LAUREL RACING

A. K. Macomber's New Purchase Responds to Clever Handling of Buxton.

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 8.—A. K. Macomber's Paddy furnished the biggest surprise of the present meeting when he won the Laurel Junior Purse for two-year-olds this afternoon from a high-class field. Even with Buxton in the saddle the experts could not give this recent purchase of Mr. Macomber's a chance, and the few admirers of Buxton who play any horse he rides probably were the only ones to profit from the victory.

The favorites, which included such well-known performers as Kashmir, Compadre, and Matinée Idol, were never in the hunt, and W. A. Brown's Fragonard, another outsider, finished second to the son of Irish Lad. The mutuels sold on Paddy paid at the rate of 45 to 1, a remarkable price for a horse owned by a big stable and ridden by a crack jockey. Kashmir, ridden by Robinson, the supposed good thing of the race, finished third.

George Odom sent the Brighton Stable's Ed Roche to the post for the Kenwood Handicap in the best form that he has shown for a long time. There was a smart field for the event over the mile and a sixteenth route, but little Rowan held all the contestants safe with Ed Roche. He was well up with the pace all the way, and drew into a good lead in the stretch. R. T. Wilson, Jr.'s, Straightforward, which finished second, made a good bid to catch Ed Roche, but failed by a small margin.

There was another shock for the form players in the fourth race for mares. The Cleveland Stable's Dorcas, a dual winner at the meeting, and W. M. Jeffords's Fenmouse were the favorites, but Shuttinger hustled James W. Corrigan's Diversion along at such a lively rate that the public choices had no chance. Diversion won with a little in hand in the fast time of 1:39 3-5. Fenmouse just beat Dorcas for the place.

RICH PURSE FOR RED CROSS.

Owners of Hourless and Omar Khayyám Agree to Donate $10,000.

Special to The New York Times.

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 8.—A telegram was received today by Matt Winn of the Maryland Fair Association from August Belmont announcing that if Hourless won the race with Omar Khayyam on Thursday the $10,000 purse would be turned over to the Red Cross. As soon as this became known to Mr. Viau, owner of Omar Khayyam, he immediately countered with a similar announcement, so that whichever horse loses the Red Cross will be the winner of $10,000.

When Omar Khayyam and Hourless meet they will not only make turf history but will compete for a cup with a history, which has been presented to commemorate the event by Edward B. McLean. It is a wonderful specimen of the goldsmith's art, and was created in 1833.

The cup was first offered to be run for by Colonel Showers, a well-known patron of the turf in India, and was won at different times by various owners. The conditions prescribed that in order to become the property of an owner it should be won three times. In 1868, thirty-five years after its first running, J. A. Garstin, an Englishman, won the cup, and horses in his colors won it the two following years.

The cup drifted to America, and Mr. McLean, while on a visit to New York, discovered it in an antique shop. It is one of the handsomest trophies ever offered for a racing contest.

Victory Only Road to Peace and Safety!

Make the World Safe for Business

Every business man should buy Liberty Bonds as a prime investment, as well as from motives of patriotism. By furnishing funds to help win the war you are helping to put the world of business back on a safe and enduring basis, free from the menace of future militarism and the peril of future wars.

Every indication points to the fact that the United States Government War Bonds will enjoy an extraordinarily broad, active market. The size and the broad distribution of these issues may be expected to make them readily transferable from hand to hand.

Already Liberty Bonds are being used in making payments of various kinds, and the Secretary of the Treasury has predicted that the bonds of $50, $100 and $500 denomination will circulate with almost as much freedom as currency of like denomination.

For this reason—among others—the bonds of the Second Liberty Loan of 1917 are a particularly attractive investment for the business man, who desires to keep surplus capital liquid. Liberty Loan Bonds can be turned into cash readily, a stable value being assured by the privilege of conversion into any later war issues bearing a higher interest rate. And they are the best of collateral—the basis of a loan anywhere, immediately. And they yield 4% interest.

Go to your bank to-day and enter your subscription for Liberty Loan Bonds. Every dollar you invest is doubly useful—to the nation and to yourself.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Until the last half hour yesterday the stock market was dull and price ranges confined to a narrow range, but the close was preceded by a sharp drop in many issues which left the day's final prices much under those for last week. The break was apparently based on no new developments and activity was not sufficiently increased to indicate the inauguration of another wave of selling. Prices simply began to melt away with few supporting orders to check the declines. Steel common had sold at 108⅜ in the morning; it broke to 105⅝ in the late afternoon, and closed within an eighth of the low at a loss of 1½ for the day. Utah Copper fell from 89 to 86⅝, closing off 1¼; United Cigar Stores reached a new low level on this move by selling at 102¾, closing off 4⅜, with Tobacco Products off 3; Peoples Gas dropped back to 58, off 5; Liggett & Myers to 186, off 4, and General Electric to 137⅛, off 2⅜. The drastic report on the print paper industry introduced in the Senate resulted in the selling of both classes of stock of the International Paper Company, the common losing 2¾, and the preferred 2⅛. The closing was irregular, but comparatively few stocks retained any part of the advances shown earlier in the session, while losses of a point or more were quite general. The day's turnover was the smallest since Sept. 27.

There is undoubtedly a considerable amount of liquidation going on this market, and it is hardly fair to emphasize the part which the bear tactics of a few large operators have played in the decline. There has been no effort to depress bond prices, yet high-grade bond issues have moved sympathetically with stocks until they stand today in relatively the same position. The Liberty 3½s were both active and weak yesterday, selling down to 99.54 for full lots, and to 99.50 for smaller denominations. These prices are practically the lowest at which this issue has sold, although bonds of the $100 denomination changed hands at 99 when the $1,000 certificates touched bottom at 99.52 on Aug. 27. Conditions in the money market were not unfavorable to the market. Call loans commanded 4½ per cent. yesterday, and traders do not look for any stringency.

Of much wider influence than the movement of prices yesterday was the Government's Oct. 1 crop report, which was better than most people had expected, in view of the reports of killing frosts in scattered localities. The indicated total wheat yield is 659,800,000 bushels, which is a decrease of only 7,800,000 from the Sept. 1 forecast, and an increase of an even 20,000,000 bushels over last year's harvest of this important staple. The corn crop has gone through its critical period in safety and will be up to expectations. The Government's report indicates a 1917 yield of 3,210,800,000 bushels. That represents a decrease of 36,700,000 bushels from the previous forecast, but it is 627,554,000 bushels more than the 1916 crop. Most of the other important crops will exceed those of last year, the exceptions being flax, rice, apples, and hay. The yield of white potatoes is estimated at 452,900,000 bushels, which compares with the short crop of 285,400,000 bushels, which caused such distress last year. There was another sharp rise in the prices for cotton yesterday following reports of a frost scare threatening important producing sections.

LONDON MARKET CHEERFUL.

Large Business Transacted in War Loans and Gilt-Edged Securities.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The stock market was cheerful today, with a large business in the war loan and gilt edged securities generally at hardening prices. Oil, rubber, and mining stocks commanded increased attention, and coppers and shippings were firm, but Argentine rails ruled easy and American securities were neglected. Money was plentiful, and it was difficult to find employment for funds. Discount rates were easy. The banks report an increased demand for the new war bonds.

Trading Quiet on Paris Bourse.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes, 61 francs 50 centimes for cash. Exchange on London, 27 francs 18 centimes. Five per cent loan, 88 francs 40 centimes.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Petition for Extra Holiday.

A petition circulated among Stock Exchange members yesterday for an extra holiday Saturday was generously signed, and will be acted upon by the Governors tomorrow. The Board of Governors in recent years has been opposed to the granting of special days off, but if the sentiment of members of the board stand as an indication of what is to happen there will be few votes opposed to the petition. A two-day holiday would be welcomed by brokers who have been suffering from nerve fag from the long period of persistently declining prices. Should the other sessions of the week preceding Columbus Day be as discouraging to bullish partisans among the traders as the first session, they, too, would be glad of relief from a sight of the ticker. The Cotton Exchange has pointed the way by voting to remain closed from Thursday afternoon to Monday morning.

Tobacco Stocks and Pools.

The ancient market adage to the effect that "the higher they go the further they fall" has had a full demonstration of late in United Cigar Stores and Tobacco Products. Yesterday's decline of 4⅜ points for the former and of 3 points for the latter set the closing levels 24½ and 18¾ points, respectively, under the highest prices of the year. And the maximum quotations were established not so very many weeks ago. The swing upward bore numerous earmarks of pool operations, accompanied by much gossip of "favorable developments" which would ultimately show that the strength of the shares had been justified. Outside of increased earnings the favorable occurrences have not yet appeared, and the declines of the stocks in the last several sessions have indicated some hurried selling.

More One and Two Dollar Bills.

For some time banks all over the country, particularly those in the smaller cities and towns, have been complaining of the scarcity of one and two dollar bills. A bill just signed by the President is expected to relieve this scarcity. The Controller of the Currency, in commenting on this new legislation, says: "Since the resumption of specie payments Jan. 1, 1879, no banknotes of smaller denomination than five dollars have been furnished to national banks for issue, and the issue of five-dollar bills by national banks has been limited to one-third of their total circulation, the other two-thirds being notes of higher denominations. Under this new law every national bank will have the right to issue up to $25,000 of its circulation one and two dollar bills, and the limitation which has heretofore prevented national banks from issuing a larger proportion of five-dollar bills is removed."

Subscriptions Through National Banks

A statement issued by the Controller of the Currency shows that of 7,604 reporting national banks 1,207 sent in for the first Liberty Loan subscriptions in the aggregate to 10 per cent. or more of their total resources. Banks to the number of 621 subscribed to the extent of not less than 5 per cent. of their resources. The States having 20 or more national banks each subscribing to Liberty bonds on their own account to the extent of not less than 5 per cent. of their resources were: Pennsylvania, 76 banks; Illinois, 68; Indiana, 55; California and Kentucky, 32 each; Texas and Iowa, 30 each; Ohio, 27; Kansas, 26, and New York and Oklahoma, 23 banks each.

Liberty Motor Criticism.

Criticism of the Liberty Motor is still heard here and there among people in the financial district who should know better, but who apparently have not yet been able to rid themselves of the vague fear that the Liberty Motor's success will in some unexplained way be prejudicial to the interests they hold in certain private airplane manufacturing companies. As a matter of fact, nobody knows better than the responsible officials of those very companies that the exact opposite is the case, and that the immense orders they are getting from the Aircraft Production Board for planes, spare parts, &c., in most cases representing very handsome profits, are as much dependent upon the success of the Liberty Motor as is any other part of the Government's aviation program. Moreover, the Liberty Motor is purely a fighting motor, and will not in the least interfere with their development of types in which reliability and durability rather than maximum power and speed and minimum weight form the foundation for peacetime aviation rather than war service.

The Director of Ocean Traffic.

With the arrival of P. H. Carey, the United States Shipping Board's new Director of Traffic, on the scene of action, shipping men yesterday were hopefully awaiting further word from Washington to clear up the uncertainties which still overhang the industry regarding the operation of the Government's wholesale commandeering order, which goes into effect next Monday. Just at present the shipping industry is in a state precisely analogous to that in which the steel business spent most of its Summer and from which it has not yet entirely emerged, waiting first for prices to be fixed and then, after they had been fixed, for information as to what the fixing really meant. Very little business is being done on South Broad Street, for the simple reason that nobody knows what will happen to any offer he makes or any charter he agrees upon after Oct. 15.

How Is the Campaign Going?

The report from Washington that Secretary Daniels has signed contracts for all the huge additional program of destroyers, for which he obtained an extra appropriation of $350,000,000 emphasizes how little the New York financial district, once the best-informed community in the country, now knows about what is really going on. Some of the big men know, but the very manner in which they learned impressed upon them the necessity of keeping their knowledge to themselves. Nobody else can do more than guess. There have been intimations of sub-surface tension between the Navy Department and the Shipping Board because of the fear that the destroyer program may cut in on the steel supply the Shipping Board needs for its merchantmen, but it is very hard to learn anything about the reasons for this feeling.

Southern Railway Finances.

For every dollar collected from the people of its territory for passenger or freight service during the month of August, 1917, the Southern Railway, according to a recent compilation by its Controller, spent $1.28 in the same territory. The total disbursal of the road in August was $8,402,015, of which $7,041,911 was spent in the South, while passenger and freight receipts in the South amounted to only $5,497,540. The total gross revenue of the road for August amounted to $7,853,628, an increase of 20.89 per cent. over that for August, 1916. At the same time, however, operating expenses, taxes, &c., increased 27.35 per cent.

A Message from Our Soldiers to You

Few men know the American soldier better than Major-General John F. O'Ryan, of the New York State troops. Read what he says about the mental attitude and physical needs of the army now going to France:

"The soldiers of the United States have a direct interest in the success of the next Liberty Loan. It is said that an army moves on its belly. This means that the army must be fed, clothed, equipped, armed and supplied with ammunition, and this cannot be done without ample funds. The obligations of the soldier at the front are trying obligations, but they cannot be effectively fulfilled without the cooperation of the citizens at home.

"There is another aspect of the subject which is important and interesting. The history of warfare shows that soldiers in active campaign are more emotional than are the same class at home. This is caused by the character of their experience, involving, as it does, privation and the witnessing of unsightly scenes. Soldiers in campaign are tremendously affected for better or for worse by the influence of home news. If they feel that their scarifices are not in some substantial measure shared by those at home, the tendency for them is to feel that they are carrying the entire burden of national obligation—that they have been offered as it were as a national sacrifice.

"On the other hand, if home news shows that the people are not only watching and applauding, but are substantially supporting the conduct of the war, they are stimulated in their zeal.

"Nothing possibly could better serve to increase the optimism of our fighting forces, and to cause them to feel that the people are back of them and supporting them, than to learn that the next Loan, which is to be used in the furtherance of victory, has been over-subscribed."

This, then, is what the American lads who will fight for you, your country and your flag, expect you to do for them.

They want to know whether you propose to back them up. They want to know whether you are ready to take the responsibility of seeing that they are properly fed, clothed and armed. They are waiting to hear you say: "I'm with you, boys, to the last penny I can make and scrape. Don't worry about that—we're thinking of you, and praying for you, and working for you. Go in and win."

There is just one way you can send that heartening answer to the appeal of the American Soldiers.

Liberty Bonds as Business Insurance

Every business man should insure his business against the danger of future wars. Unless our enemy comes at least to realize that warfare is not a profitable industry, we can look forward to "a recuperation of its strength and a renewal of its policy," as the President of the United States has pointed out. We are waging this war that it may be the last international conflict, in the earnest and justified hope of a permanent peace.

Insurance Against Warfare

Every dollar invested in the Second Liberty Loan of 1917 is so much insurance against the danger of warfare in the future. Our President has said: "This agony must not be gone through with again."

It is for us to see that these words are made true. We are in this war for this deliberate purpose. To this end the Government of the United States is offering the Liberty Loan for subscription by the public. The measure of our success in our war loans will be the measure of our success in this war.

Duty of Business Men

Every American business man who hopes to keep his business free from the menace of future wars should subscribe to his share of the Liberty Loan. This is simply a matter of common prudence and business foresight, as well as of patriotism.

Your bank will accept your subscription for Liberty Loan bonds. Call and talk it over with them, and subscribe for your share. The bonds are the world's best investment. Their safety speaks for itself. They bear 4% interest. They are quickly marketable and are the best collateral available.

Buy Liberty Bonds for an investment and for insurance against future militarism and future wars!

CROP REPORT SHOWS BUMPER YIELD AHEAD

Some Drop in Estimates During September, but Harvest Will Be Large.

GAIN IN OATS AND RICE

Corn, Despite a Reduction, Will Be a Record Crop—Potatoes, Beans, and Tobacco Also High.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Considerable losses were recorded in some of the country's principal farm crops, as a result of conditions in September, but today's Government report indicated there would be record crops of corn, oats, rye, white and sweet potatoes, tobacco, and beans.

The loss was heaviest in corn, which showed a reduction of nearly 37,000,000 bushels since Sept. 1. Other losses were: Spring wheat, 8,000,000 bushels; barley, 2,180,000 bushels; buckwheat, 2,331,000 bushels; white potatoes, 8,985,000 bushels; sweet potatoes, 907,000 bushels; apples, 537,000 bushels; sugar beets, 118,000 tons; kafirs, 4,329,000 bushels, and beans, 4,155,000 bushels.

Some crops, however, showed improved conditions, especially oats, with a gain of 47,382,000 bushels, making it a record crop of 1,580,714,000 bushels, or 31,000,000 bushels more than that of 1915. Other gains were rice, 1,019,000 bushels, and tobacco, 21,837,000 pounds.

A comparison of the Oct. 1 forecast with that made from Sept. 1 conditions indicates the effect of weather and other conditions on the crops during September. The forecasts (in millions of bushels) follow:

August exports of wheat, corn, and mineral oils decreased to a marked extent, while exports of oats doubled and fresh beef recorded a 500 per cent. increase, the Department of Commerce announced today. The great bulk of shipments went to the Allies.

Breadstuffs worth $45,000,000 were exported during the month, an increase of $10,000,000 over a year ago. Cotton, leading the list in value, recorded a rise of $33,000,000 to $63,000,000, although the quantity shipped, 459,667 bales, was only 8 per cent. greater than in August, 1916. Five million bushels of wheat were exported as against 11,000,000 bushels a year ago. Meat and dairy products worth $24,500,000 were exported, a $5,000,000 increase.

Total exports of breadstuffs, meat, and dairy products, cotton and cottonseed oil and mineral oils were $155,576,612 as compared with $108,422,881 in August, 1916.

TO RETIRE RUBBER BONDS.

Offers to Buy In Securities a Year Before Maturity.

The United States Rubber Company is offering to buy in the $12,000,000 outstanding ten-year collateral trust 6 per cent. bonds, the Morgan & Wright debenture 5 per cent. bonds, and the 5 per cent. debentures of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company at 102.35 and accrued interest for the first named issue and 101.25 for the other two. The issues do not mature for more than a year, and the offer of retirement will be held open only until Oct. 27 to those bondholders who present their securities at the office of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

In announcing the terms for retiring the bonds yesterday, President S. P. Colt said that action had been taken at this time with the hope that the cash paid ou would be put into Liberty Bonds. Parts of the issues have been exchanged for the 5 per cent. refunding bonds sold by the company last Spring.

WHEAT.

The Government report on Spring wheat placed the indicated yield at 242,450,000 bushels, compared with last month's estimate of 250,000,000 and last year's final crop of 158,142,000 bushels. This, together with the previous report on Winter wheat, makes a total indicated yield of 659,797,000 bushels, compared with last year's crop of 639,886,000 and the crop of 1915 of 1,025,801,000 bushels. Receipts at primary points continue moderate, compared with last year, and the visible supply increased only 23,000 bushels for the week, making the total 7,412,000, compared with 62,627,000 a year ago.

CORN.

The Government report on corn, published after the close of the market, made even a better showing than had been anticipated. The trade had been looking for a loss of about 70,000,000 bushels from last month, but the figures were only about 38,000,000 less, the total being 3,210,795,000 bushels, compared with last month's estimate of 3,248,000,000 and a final last year of 2,583,241,000 bushels. The market showed resistance to bearish influences, closing near the top, with net gains of ¼ to 1c. The visible supply showed an increase for the week of 90,000 bushels, with the total 1,226,000 bushels, compared with 5,200,000 a year ago. In the local cash market No. 2 old yellow corn was quoted at $2.07 and No. 2 mixed at $2.03, cost, insurance, and freight, New York.

OATS.

Evidences of renewed export demand for oats, together with the firmness in corn, gave that market a firm undertone, and final prices were ⅜c to ⅝c net higher. Exporters were said to be buying futures, which will later be converted into cash oats, and were also said to have taken about 400,000 bushels during the last few days. The visible supply increased 434,000 bushels for the week, and the total is now 14,697,000, compared with 40,214,000 bushels a year ago. The local cash market was steady; standard quoted at 66½@67c; No. 2 white, 67c; No. 3 white, 66@66½c; No. 4 white, 65¼@66c; fancy clipped white, 68@70c; ordinary clipped white, 66@68c, all elevator.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market was irregular and feverish early and closed strong and higher for ribs and pork, while lard was comparatively little changed. The hog market was easier, but the situation is looked upon as strong, and price changes in the general market were thought to be due largely to technical conditions. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 23,000; estimated for Tuesday, 12,000. Kansas City received 5,000 and Omaha 2,100.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The market for cottonseed oil experienced a sensational advance, closing 100 points net higher for October, which at one time was up 175 points, while the late months closed at about the top, with net gains of 48 to 65 points. The fears of frost in the cotton belt and the strength in the cotton market contributed to the day's advance. Total sales were 58,600 barrels. Range of prices:

COFFEE.

The coffee market was more active yesterday. There was a good deal of switching from near to late months, including exchanges of December for July at 60 points and of March for July at 36 points. Aside from this there appeared to be a better supply of orders around the ring than for some time, but they were pretty well divided and fluctuations were irregular, with the close net 3 points lower to 5 points higher. A fair demand was reported for spots, with quotations on the basis of 8⅝c for Rio 7s and 9⅝c for Santos 4s. Range of prices:

SUGAR.

There were no transactions in raw sugar and it was reported that Canadian interests had withdrawn as buyers, but it was thought possible to sell to operators at 5⅞, cost and freight. The market, however, was bare of offerings. While there was a good demand for refined sugar at 8.50c, business was being limited to regular customers and orders cut to the lowest possible point. Refiners who are still in the market, not being able to secure raw supplies, cannot fill their domestic trade and the situation is becoming more acute daily. Both the domestic beet and Louisiana crops are late and little relief can be expected there for the time being. Spot prices for Cuban raw sugar follow: Centrifugal, 6.90c; molasses, 6.02c; cost and freight, 5⅞c.

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 6,632 packages. Buyers are still holding off, and market suffered a further sharp decline, with an unsettled feeling at the close. The Exchange sales of creamery extras were mainly at 44¼c, and the goods are now quite generally bought at that. Undergrades also suffered in about the same proportion. Renovated a little easier. Ladles and packing stock favoring buyers. COTTON SOARS AGAIN

October cotton yesterday, on the local market, sold at a higher price than on any previous day this season, reaching 27.20, which is 20 points higher than its high level in the big bull movement of last June. Realizing forced the price down to 27 cents flat, the same price that had previously ruled as high. October, however, was only the leader yesterday in one of the liveliest Mondays the market has seen for a long time. Every one of the active and most of the inactive months soared well above 25 cents, and the close was only a little below the best prices at a net advance of 93 to 98 points for the entire list.

Official predictions of frost over a great part of the belt, with freezing temperatures in northern Arkansas and Oklahoma, combined with the known lateness of the crop and the consequent unusual degree of danger, were responsible for the sharp rise above Saturday's figures. The lowering of marine insurance rates on the lessened submarine risk also played its part in the spirited early buying, even before the weather report came out.

The market opened firm at an advance of 13 to 41 points. There had been nervousness over frost predictions on Saturday, but the general impression had been that the cold wave would pass without damage and that warmer weather would develop over Sunday. Frost was reported at only a few points in the eastern belt, apparently without causing any damage, but the weather map showed prospects for colder weather. The official forecast, when published, indicated freezing temperatures for northern sections of the western belt with frosts extending southward to Texas and from light to heavy frosts in northern parts of the eastern belt. These predictions stimulated the buying movement, and before midday active months had sold 109 to 113 points above Saturday's closing figures. There was realizing at this level, also some Southern selling, causing reactions of 25 to 30 points, but no one was much inclined to sell pending the outcome of frost predictions, at any rate, and a good part of the losses were recovered on a renewal of trade buying late in the afternoon.

Both foreign and domestic trade interests were credited with buying on the advance, while there was covering and a broadening outside demand. There was also buying on private reports that the crop was deteriorating before the cold weather set in. Exports for the day were 12,993, making 910,117 so far this season, against 1,076,000 last year. Southern spot markets, as officially reported, were about 50 to 88 points higher.

SHOE MACHINERY CASE JAN. 7

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Supreme Court today decided to expedite the Government's anti-trust suit against the United Shoe Machinery Companay, and fixed Jan. 7 for rehearing arguments.

The suit was dismissed by the lower court, which held the company blameless. The Government appealed to the Supreme Court, which heard arguments last March, and later ordered the case reargued at the present term.

The war will have no effect upon the Government's prosecution of the five great anti-trust suits now pending. Solicitor General Davis said today that agreement had been reached with attorneys for the International Harvester Company whereby the dissolution suit brought against that company would not be considered by the court until after the arguments in the steel suit, to be called in January.

The Coal Trust cases will come up in their regular order and will be reached late in November.

Offer More British Treasury Bills.

J. P. Morgan & Co. offered yesterday another $15,000,000 of British Treasury bills at 5½ per cent. interest per annum, the same rate which the offering of last week commanded. There are outstanding at the present time approximately [illegible]0 of the Treasury bills, of which about $14,000,000 were taken by the banks last week.

It is Your Patriotic Duty to Buy

LIBERTY BONDS

Every time you see a sturdy, clear-eyed American lad in khaki, this should be your thought:

"That boy is going to France to fight for his country and mine. He is leaving his work, his home, his family, his native land that he loves so well. He is ready to die, if need be. He has made up his mind to that.

"What can I do to help him—to make sure that he is warmly clothed, well shod, well fed, properly cared for when ill or wounded, and adequately armed to fight and win? Is it within my power to save him—to bring that fine, strong young body home to those who brought it into being, nourished it into manhood, and to whom it is more precious than all other earthly possessions?"

Buy all you can. It is a patriotic duty you should be proud to perform.

Seek to Rehabilitate Federal Dyestuffs and Chemicals.

Two committees have been formed to look after the interests of noteholders in the Federal Dyestuff and Chemical Corporation, which was put into receivers' hands a few days ago. One is headed by Alvin W. Krech, President of the Equitable Trust Company. The other members are George A. Coulton, President of the Union National Bank of Cleveland, J. D. Maguire, head of the Maguire Rubber Company, and Charles W. Holloway. With the exception of Mr. Krech the committee members are Directors of the corporation.

The other committee, which has sent a letter to noteholders, consists of F. de C. Sullivan, a Director of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank; Frank C. Wilsey, a Director of the Coal and Iron National Bank; Henry W. Martin of Martin, Berwin & Co.; Frank H. Van Dusen of Troy, and Leonard T. Saunders. The committee says in its letter that it represents about $1,000,000 of the $2,000,000 6 per cent. notes outstanding.

The committee objects to the continuance of John W. Herbert, former Chairman of the Federal Dyestuff and Chemical Corporation, as one of the receivers. Note owners are asked to communicate with the committee in regard to ways and means for putting the company on its feet again.

Payment on French Export Credit.

Bonbright & Co., Inc., announced yesterday that funds had been received from the French banks participating in the $15,000,000 French export credit of Sept. 15, 1916, for the payment of the first $5,000,000 installment under that credit, due Oct. 13. This is the initial payment on the third of these credits arranged by Bonbright & Co., Inc., the first two of which, aggregating $30,000,000, having already been repaid by the French banks.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

All through the last hour of trading on the Consolidated Stock Exchange stocks were pressed for sale. The principal issues closed at or only fractionally above the day's lowest prices. The market had opened steady and in the initial dealings some stocks recorded light gains. Almost immediately, however, the market turned weak, but by the end of the first hour buying orders began to pour in and the earlier losses were offset.

BAKER PAYS TRIBUTE TO OUR BUSINESS MEN

Says They Have Helped to Make Army One of the Best Armed and Equipped in the World.

HARRISBURG, Penn., Oct. 8.—Secretary of War Baker, addresing the annual meeting of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce tonight, declared that the manner in which the business men of the country had gathered to the support of the national Government, in its supreme emergency of war, was making "a stronger nation, a greater democracy, and a greater hope for mankind." The Secretary said that he wanted the business men to know that he was proud to pay the tribute and that as a result the nation would become a wonderful world factor for peace after the war.

"I believe that under the example of America, we will be able to make such arrangements that war will give place to the virtues of peace for many years to come," said the Secretary. He praised Congress for creation of the Council of National Defence which, he said, had prepared the country's resources.

Reviewing the organization of the national army, Mr. Baker said that it had been by a nation totally unaccustomed to war, but which had not only subjected itself to a selective draft, but had diverted its industries into many unaccustomed lines of production. "Even Germany was never able to do this," he declared.

"Let me say to you that when our army takes its place abroad it will be armed as well as any and better than most," declared Mr. Baker. He said that, for every soldier abroad now there were five rifles in France, and every regular and National Guardsman at home has a rifle, while the stream of rifles, now 100,000 a month, will soon be 200,000.

The young men in the army, said Mr. Baker, will be surrounded by safer conditions than ever known before. This had been done by adopting "the wholesale spirit of the youth of America," remarked the Secretary, who said the curative policies of the colleges had been put in force. "We are making a wonderful army. We are making it by American processes. We are going to have a very, very low sick rate," said he.

The Secretary said there had been no Aladdin's lamp or fairy wand about the building up of the equipment and ordnance supplies and the launching of a great ship building program, or the start on the immense airplane construction. What has been done has been accomplished through hard work and the mobilization of American inventive and business genius. The speaker declared there was no doubt that America was next on the German program, and said, "we must win this war or admit democracy a failure."

In making a plea for co-ordination of financial resources such as there has been of business, Mr. Baker said the country must buy of Liberty bonds "until it hurts."

Wool Jersey for Bathing Suits.

One factor in the increased call for wool jersey that has developed recently is the number of manufacturers of bathing suits for women who are said to be taking large quantities of these fabrics. The shades reported most sought for this purpose are black and blue, with a fair scattering of rose, orange, green, and old gold. Though prices for the coming season will be high, owing to the woolen situation, manufacturers apparently are planning for a banner season.

Vests for Women Coming In.

The English polo jacket is exerting a strong influence on designs of sport suits and costumes for next Spring. Imitation vests and in some instances separate waistcoats are already proving popular, it is said, with those merchants planning for the Palm Beach trade. The vests are made without sleeves in most cases, though some are shown with the short, semi-fitting type and have a very mannish appearance. In riding habits, the vest is in one piece with a short skirt to be worn over bloomers of the same or contrasting material.

Millinery Trade Thriving.

The millinery trade, which was expected by many to be the hardest hit by the effects of the numerous calls on women to economize, is said to have experienced, to the contrary, one of the best seasons in recent years. "To be sure," said one authority in the trade, "women are exercising more care in their purchases, and are not so reckless of value as they once were. But value once determined, they are buying as formerly, and in most cases are spending, though this is due principally to higher prices, considerably more money than last year."

Pace Setter Is Now the Thing.

In order to stimulate business through various territories in which sales have not been satisfactory, a certain well-known food purveyor is working the pace setter scheme. In other words, one of the best and highest salaried men on the force is sent out to comb the territory, and the mark he sets is the mark that the "ordinary" salesman who follows him has to shoot at. It is made clear to the latter that if he wants a better salary he has got to beat the high level set by the "star." If he wants to keep his job, he has at least to equal the latter.

The Rise in Cotton Is Helping.

Judging from the way business in wash and white goods came to local jobbers through the mails yesterday, the recent rises in cotton here are making retailers sit up and take notice. The character of the demand did not differ from what has been outlined before, the steady call for novelty dress ginghams continuing to be a feature. In certain quarters of the market here wholesalers have disposed of tremendous quantities of these goods, and it is now practically assured that the question of meeting deliveries some months hence is not going to be an easy one.

Crepe de Chine Waists Favored.

Waists of crêpe de chine, tailored and with high collars, seem, according to reports from local manufacturers, to be making great inroads on the front position in popular favor formerly held by georgettes with rolling collars. The two-in-one collar, or that which can be worn either high or open, has been considerably improved in the later models, making it smarter in appearance when open than were the older types, and thus is meeting with much more general acceptance. White seems, just now, to be much more widely sought than flesh color, in georgette as well as crêpe de chine.

Burlap Prices Advance Again.

There appears to be no limit to the extent which standard burlaps are advancing in this market because of the continued demand and scant supply available. Sales of 40-inch 10½-ounce goods have been made as high as 15.95 cents, with 16 cents the asking price yesterday. The quotation on 10-ounce goods in the same width was 15¾ cents, sales having been made very recently as high as 15.65. The asking price for 8-ounce 40s was 12 cents, with the last business reported at 11¾ cents. Reports from Calcutta indicate a steadily advancing market, the comparative figures favoring this city in spite of the rise here.

Delayed Deliveries Will Hurt.

The difficulty that is being experienced in many parts of New England in getting deliveries of goods bought from this and other markets is going to work a hardship on both the retailers and the salesmen before very long. A salesman carrying a line of hardware sundries said yesterday that he was selling more goods through that section than ever before, but that there seemed to be no way of getting even a fairly prompt delivery. "The result is," he went on, "that my customers are going to get their stuff through in full just about the time I start out on my last trip for the year. Can you imagine my doing business under those circumstances?"

Wholesalers Somewhat Amused.

In the face of the circular sent out to the trade by a certain Middle Western house, offering large quantities of domestics at prices lower than they could be replaced at now in the primary market and advising buyers not to overbuy, even at those prices, the 100-point rise in cotton here yesterday caused some amusement among sellers of competing lines. It was known that the concern in question is well covered in the goods tendered, through purchases made at lower prices earlier in the year, and there was no criticism of its action from a merchandising point of view. It was the coincidence that caused the humor.

Gray Goods Prices Unsettled.

The sharp rise in cotton here yesterday caused most sellers of printcloths to put prices up a quarter of a cent all along the line. Buyers were not keen on paying the advance at once, which kept business smaller than was expected in view of the good inquiries. Sheetings were none too active, either, though the demand for them was at least fair. In certain quarters of the market good sales of drills, both narrow and wide, were told of at advanced prices. Printcloth prices, which were largely nominal, closed this way:

39-inch, 68-72s	12c	38½-inch, 60-52s	9⅜c
39-inch, 56-44s	8⅝c	38½-inch, 60-48s	9c
38½-inch, 64-64s	10⅝c	27-inch, 64-60s	7⅝c

WAR TASK FOR W. N. KERNAN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Resigning as Vice President and general counsel of the New York State Railways and Mohawk Valley Company, Walter N. Kernan of Utica and New York City, will devote himself to the work of the Knights of Columbus Committee on War Activities in Europe until the end of the war. He will sail tomorrow for England, and after a few weeks spent in that country will go to Paris, where he will establish offices as Knights of Columbus Commissioner with the American overseas army.

Under Mr. Kernan's direction, the erection of Knights of Columbus recreation buildings will begin in France. He will be surrounded in his Paris headquarters by a staff of assistants, and nearly one hundred field secretaries, who will join him in the next few weeks. While in England he will make arrangements for a work similar to that which the Knights of Columbus are doing for the American soldiers, to be done for the soldiers of the British army.

Mr. Kernan's work will be gratuitous. He has received the indorsement of Cardinal Gibbons, Farley, and O'Connell. Mr. Kernan is a son of Francis Kernan, who served as United States Senator from New York from 1875 to 1881.

MAYO NOT IN WASHINGTON.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. — Secretary Daniels today authorized a denial of a published report that Admiral Mayo would confer in Washington this week with Admiral Benson, chief of naval operations, regarding the results of the former's conference with British naval officers in London.

Mr. Daniels said that Admiral Mayo was not now in Washington and would not be here this week, and would not take part in a conference during the week with Admiral Benson on joint naval operations by this country and Great Britain.

For military reasons and as a matter of personal safety the Navy Department does not consider it proper to state whether Admiral Mayo has returned to this country or when he will return, and considers it unwise to print information purporting to detail the movements of prominent naval officers unless authorized officially by the department.

Ever since the United States entered the war, and for eight weeks prior to that date, American and British naval experts have collaborated.

BEGIN LA FOLLETTE INQUIRY.

Senate Committee Will Hold No Public Hearings at Present.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Beginning investigation today of the speech of Senator La Follette before the Non-Partisan League at St. Paul, the Senate committee in charge of the inquiry mapped out preliminary procedure, and then adjourned until Thursday, to await further information from La Follette, and also from W. J. Bryan. No public hearings will be held for the present, Chairman Pomerene announced. The committee believes it possible that the investigation will be concluded within a few days, possibly without any open testimony.

Senator La Follette today changed his plan to issue a public statement regarding his declaration in the St. Paul speech that Mr. Bryan told President Wilson of ammunition aboard the Lusitania when the vessel sailed from New York on her last voyage. His statement probably will be made to the committee. No other statements in La Follette's speech are being investigated at this time, Chairman Pomerene said. Mr. Bryan has denied the statement.

Belligerency of Greece Recognized.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. — The statement was made officially at the State Department today that the United States Government fully recognizes the belligerency of Greece. This assertion came in response to queries predicated on press dispatches from Athens to the effect that the attitude of the United States toward Greece since that nation had entered the war had not been fully defined.

BREAD CARDS FOR ITALY.

Estimate That She Will Need 3,000,000 Tons of Wheat from Us.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Oct. 7.—The introduction of bread cards into Italy is most interesting, since bread, as in no other country, represents the staple food of the large majority of the population, and the consumption of potatoes and meat is comparatively limited. In fact, since the beginning of the war the Government had been obliged to establish a maximum price for wheat produced in Italy, but, the Italian crop being insufficient, the Government purchases the difference abroad and sells it at home for less than half the market price to itself. Indeed, adding the actual rate of exchange on foreign money, it costs the Government double the price at which it disposes of it to the consumer.

A semi-official communication published tonight states that this year's crop of wheat will be 1,000,000 tons less than last year. Thus, as last year's importation amounted to 2,000,000 tons, this year Italy needs 3,000,000 tons, which she hopes to receive from America.

The bread cards, which were decreed for Oct. 11, have been postponed to Nov. 1. This is causing comment and inferences, especially as it follows an intimation from the Turin and Milan municipalities that they would not accept the bread cards, considering them unnecessary. Signor Canepa, Food Controller, had issued a circular saying he could not make exceptions for Turin and Milan and that what had been ordered must be executed. Therefore, this postponement is taken as meaning either that Signor Canepa is encountering more difficulties or simply that the organization for distributing the bread cards is incomplete.

REAL ESTATE FIELD

One of the choicest vacant corners on upper Fifth Avenue figured in an important transaction yesterday, involving properties which were said to have been held at over $1,000,000. Oliver Gould Jennings purchased the large parcel at the southeast corner of the avenue and Ninety-sixth Street, 100.8 feet on the avenue by 150 on the street, from Sumner Gerard, who bought it about four years ago. Several fine residences have recently been erected in the neighborhood, including the Carhart and Fabbri homes on the north side of Ninety-fifth Street, just off Fifth Aveue, while in the Ninety-sixth Street block are the homes of Ogden Codman, Mrs. Lucy Drexel Dahlgren, and F. deR. Wissman. The block front on the avenue to the north, between Ninety-sixth and Ninety-seventh Streets, was purchased some time ago by the late Mrs. Flagler-Bingham. The corner acquired by Mr. Jennings was held at $700,000.

In part payment Mr. Jennings gave his four-story English basement residence at 7 East Seventy-second Street, 28 by 102.2, held at $350,000, which he vacated a short time ago, after the completion of his new home at 882 Fifth Avenue, adjoining the southeast corner of Seventieth Street. The assessed value of the Jennings home is $200,000, and $400,000 for the Fifth Avenue corner.

William B. May & Co. were the brokers in the transaction.

Education Notes.

The report of the Faculty Committee on Employment of the City College, issued yesterday by Professor Frederick E. Breithut, executive Secretary, shows that 720 students were assisted by the college employment bureau to obtain positions during the year, and that they earned an aggregate of $29,619.62. This is a marked increase over activities for the previous year, when only 483 men were placed. During the coming year the employment bureau hopes to enlarge its activities, and it is now appealing to the alumni as well as to the business men of the city for their co-operation and support.

The Brooklyn Teachers' Association is conducting a class in methods and practice of muscular movement penmanship. The class meets under the direction of C. C. Lister at the Brooklyn Training School for Teachers on Thursdays at 4:15 P. M. This course is carefully planned to meet the needs of public school teachers.

The course in methods of teaching freehand perspective, given by Miss Grace Ellingwood Rich, under the auspices of the Brooklyn Teachers' Association, will meet on Thursdays, excluding Oct. 11, at 4:15 P. M. The course in methods of teaching working drawings and constructive work meets at the Brooklyn Training School for Teachers on Tuesdays at 4:15 P. M.

The Isaac Pitman Shorthand Writers' Association will meet at 8 P. M. on Oct. 13 at the Packard School, Thirtieth Street and Lexington Avenue. Amy Weaver will speak on "Incoming Mail from Letter Carrier to File," Edwin A. Bolger on "What I Look for in My Inspections," and Emma B. Dearborn on "Teaching Typewriting with the Aid of Musical Accompaniment."

A special course in reference to the great war and its problems has been arranged by the City College of New York, to be given at the Brooklyn branch under the direction of Dr. A. G. Fradenburgh. This course will begin on Thursday, Oct. 11, and registrations may be made any evening this week at the office of the college in the Boys' High School.

Dr. Vincenzo Viccaro, graduate of the University of Naples, teaches Italian at the South Brooklyn Evening High School for Men, Fiftieth Street and Sixth Avenue, Brooklyn, on Tuesday and Thursday of each week from 8 to 10 P. M.

The Stuyvesant Free Evening Trade School, organized by the Board of Education, has just opened its doors for another season. The steadily increasing demand upon the facilities of the school shows that it supplies a want for mechanics and others, who, through working at a certain trade, have little opportunity to learn all about it. Many of its pupils and graduates are now employed in navy yards on Government work.

Evening School 34, Amethyst Street, Bronx, will be open from 7 to 9:30 o'clock on Oct. 19 and 26 to register pupils. Classes in mechanical drawing and electrical installation have been opened in addition to the regular commercial and industrial classes and classes for teaching foreigners English and civil government.

This week will mark the opening of lunch services in thirty-six schools in Manhattan and the Bronx. The event is of unusual interest at this time because of its bearing upon the whole food question. The service of lunches in New York schools is attacking one phase of this important question, viz., the provision of palatable, nutritious food for school children, who, because of unsatisfactory home conditions, are undernourished.

The proposed transfer of Principal Irving A. Hazen from the New Utrecht High School to the Richmond Hill High School is opposed by citizens of that section of Brooklyn, by the Bath Beach Taypayers' Association, and by the teachers, general organization, and pupils of Mr. Hazen's school. Appeals have been made to Mayor Mitchel and to the High Schools Committee of the Board of Education to prevent his transfer.

REGISTER TODAY.

This is registration week. Today, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday the polls will be open from 5:30 P. M. until 10:30 P. M. On Saturday the polls will be open from 7 A. M. until 10:30 P. M. If you do not register you cannot vote.

SUSPECTED AS AGENT IN SPY OPERATIONS

WEALTHYMAN UNDERWATCH

Has Been Under Suspicion for Months as Being Close to von Bernstorff and von Papen.

Secret Service agents of the United States are following a new trail, which they believe will lead to the arrest of the men who were the go-betweens of von Bernstorff and the various spies who were sent from the United States during the first two and one-half years of the war to England and France, and probably Russia also, to gain military and other information which Germany wanted. One of the men, who is believed to know much concerning Bernstorff's activities in this line, is said to be a wealthy resident of a neighboring city. He is an American citizen, and is believed to have been one of the principal links in the German spy chain.

For months agents of the United States Government have suspected that a certain man, whose name for obvious reasons cannot now be disclosed, was one of those closest to Bernstorff, von Papen, and the other German head plotters in the scheme which was hatched about a year ago to send a number of Americans into England to get information as to movements of allied shipping in order, as Bernstorff hoped, to simplify the task of the German submarine commanders operating in the North and Irish Seas.

Four of the men who were employed by the German Ambassador and his aids to carry out this plot are now serving sentences in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta, following their conviction of having conspired on American territory to wage war against the Allies. One of these men is Albert O. Sander, a former reporter on Das Morgen Journal, who is a German subject, and the other Charles W. Wunnenberg, who when arrested claimed American citizenship.

Not until the Bolo Pacha investigation did the agents of the Governments finally land a clue which gives every promise of leading to the source of the spy plot. It was Hugo Schmidt, the representative of the Deutsche Bank, and who, at the command of Bernstorff, paid to Bolo Pacha $1,683,500 as the price of Bolo's betrayal of his country, who in a moment of forgetfulness mentioned the name of one of the men long under suspicion as a subordinate of Bernstorff in the spy conspiracy.

Schmidt, who, when on the stand in the Bolo investigation, was very much excited, had stated that he had once given Bernstorff $250,000, which Bernstorff had deposited in the Corn Exchange Bank. When asked if that was the only payment he had made to Bernstorff, on orders received from Berlin, he finally admitted that he had paid several thousand dollars to a certain man prominent in manufacturing circles in a neighboring State. The man he named is one of tooe suspected in the spy plot.

The man to whom Schmidt referred first came under suspicion when a young woman was arrested last February. This woman, whose name has never been disclosed by the Secret Service, was taken into custody on the arrival of the steamship on which she came to America. She was under examination more than a week, and is understood to have made important admission regarding the operation of the German spy system.

LONG TRIP TO YAPHANK.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMP UPTON, YAPHANK, L. I., Oct. 8.—Seven thousand sleepy soldiers arrived at the camp railroad station this morning just in time to report for reveille. They had been on trains from New York more than six hours returning from their forty-two-hour week-end leave. A quarter of their short furlough was spent on the round trip between Camp Upton and New York.

Both officers and men are indignant over the treatment they get from the railroad. Special trains were scheduled to leave the camp station for New York on Saturday at 1 P. M. So crowded were the trains that men standing in the aisles overflowed onto platform and steps, and even to the coal pile of the engine tenders. Although these specials were due in New York shortly after 3, they did not arrive until 5:30. The run from Jamaica to New York took forty-five minutes. Conductors passed through the cars collecting tickets and would not allow trains to proceed until all tickets had been received.

On the return trip trains leaving the Pennsylvania Station at 11:45 were due at Camp Upton station shortly after 1 this morning. They did not arrive until 6, the passengers having been up all night.

"The railroad does not seem to realize," said an officer who was up all night on a train, "that Camp Upton is the largest city on Long Island, except Brooklyn, and yet we have the poorest train service. Only local trains stop at the camp station."

A telegram arrived at Company G barracks, Three Hundred and Seventh Infantry, addressed to Morris Cohen. It read:

Captain C. M. Bull, Jr., looked over his rolls and found three Morris Cohens in his company. The men were called to the orderly room, the telegram was read to them, and all three stretched out their hands for the message. Pending further details, Morris Cohen will remain in camp.

Exonerates 13 Negro Soldiers.

FORT BLISS, Texas, Oct. 8.—Thirteen of the 156 negro soldiers held here in connection with the rioting in Houston on Aug. 23 were ordered released yesterday and have returned to Columbus, N. M., to rejoin their regiment. Their release was ordered, it was announced, on the recommendation of the Board of Inquiry, which found that they had no part in the rioting.

ARREST MEXICAN CONSUL.

Martinez Accused of Defying Local Draft Board.

Jesus Martinez, the Mexican Vice Consul at New York, who was twice called for examination by the Draft Board of the 145th District, of which Charles H. Tuttle is the Chairman, but who, acting under orders from his superior, Juan T. Burns, the Mexican Consul General, ignored the summons and announced that he would not comply with the law, was arrested yesterday morning by agents of the Department of Justice and held in $5,000 bail for a hearing at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Martinez deposited $5,000 cash and was released.

Martinez was arrested in his apartment at 640 Riverside Drive. He did not appear in the least surprised when the agents of the Department of Justice announced the reason for their visit and accompanied them, without protest, to the Federal Building, where he was subsequently arraigned before United State Commissioner Hitchcock, charged with violating the provisions of the selective draft law. The prisoner made no statement of any kind when arraigned.

Under the provisions of the selective draft law all men between the ages of 21 and 31 years in the United States, aliens as well as citizens, must register and must appear for examination when called by the board of the district in which they live. In the case of aliens they are immediately exempted when they present the proper affidavits which prove them to be citizens or subjects of foreign countries. Martinez was informed that his appearance at the board would amount to a formality and that there was no question but that he would be promptly exempted on the filing of his papers.

When Martinez received his notice to appear before Board 145 Consul General Burns wrote a letter to the board in which he told the members that under no consideration would he permit Martinez to appear voluntarily for examination. In a subsequent statement he referred to the board members as men who could only be compared to the "savage hordes of Villa." Chairman Tuttle referred in turn to Secretary of State Lansing.

Burns and Martinez acted on the presumption that consular agents enjoy the same status as diplomatic representative. Martinez was informed yesterday that that was not his status, and that instead of being an accredited Mexican diplomatic representative to the United States he was only a commercial agent and as such was amenable to the laws of the United States.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Mexican Embassy has taken up with the State Department the question of the status of Mexican nationals affected by the local draft boards in Arizona, a matter which has threatened the exodus of Mexicans from that State into Mexico. Mine owners have also addressed the State Department on the subject because they have been threatened with a serious labor shortage at Prescott.

HARRIS ESTATE $485,891.

Property Mostly Interests in Theatrical Enterprises.

William Harris, the theatrical manager, whose home was at Bayside, left a net estate of $485,891.20, according to the report of Transfer Tax Appraiser Warren B. Ashmead, of Queens, filed yesterday. The debts were $177,183.33, and the personal property was worth $656,767.09.

A note given by the New Lyceum Theatre Company is valued at $129,706.66, and there is a claim against the estate of Henry B. Harris for $145,024.12. The decedent owned a half interest in "The Thirteenth Chair" company, which is valued at $51,250. His life insurance was $34,000, and insurance held by Mr. Harris on the life of Henry Dixie, the actor, amounted to $14,310.33. His interest in leases of the Hollis Street and Colonial Theatres, Boston, and the Powers Theatre, Chicago, are valued at $20,000.

THINK BANKER WAS SLAIN.

Special to The New York Times.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 8.—Several mysterious features in connection with the death of Jesse Barker, the banker, who was found shot to death last night in the bathroom of his home here, caused Coroner Elliott to delay the investigation today. Attorneys who represent the family of the dead man have demanded an investigation, believing that it is a case of plain murder.

Mrs. Jesse Barker, who had been away from her home here for several weeks directing her divorce suit in the Chicago courts, returned this morning.

Joseph Weil, Mr. Barker's attorney, was one of the first to arrive at the home after the shooting, and though the revolver still was clutched in the dead man's hand, the attorney states that the position of the body was such that the bullet could not possibly have fallen into the place where it was found unless it had struck the wall and glanced off. There is no mark on any of the walls to show where a bullet had struck.

Long Island Road Bars Trespassers.

A vigorous campaign to prevent trespassing on railroad property has just been launched by the Long Island Railroad. Today large placards bearing the following warning notice are being posted at every possible point where the public can see them: "Don't trespass on the railroad. It is a criminal offense in the State of New York. New law, Section 1,990, Penal Code, effective Sept. 1, 1917, provides arrest and fine as the penalty for walking on or along railroad tracks, or on the railroad right of way. It will be strictly and vigilantly enforced on the property of the Long Island Railroad Company." Thousands of persons in the United States, the railway officials said, are killed and injured annually because they disregard the law against trespassing on the railroads' private right of way.

POLICE CAPTAIN ACCUSED.

Charged with Tapping Wire to Aid Friend's Divorce Case.

District Attorney Swann began an investigation yesterday into a complaint which charged a Brooklyn Police Captain with having unlawfully tapped the wires of a hotel in Manhattan to obtain divorce evidence for a friend. According to the complaint, the Police Captain arranged with the operators to listen in on the hotel wires by pretending that he was engaged in the performance of official police duty.

The District Attorney had one of the operators of the hotel before him yesterday. He also obtained from the Police Captain a written admission that he had tapped the wires in question. The officer, however, insisted that he had done so only in an official capacity, and requested the District Attorney to give him an opportunity to be heard before proceeding with the matter any further.

The prosecutor declined to make public yesterday either the name of the Police Captain or the complainant.

Football Star Quits Politics.

Edward Dillon, formerly a football star at Princeton, who entered politics in Newark this year, has suddenly dropped out. Nominated by the Democratic Party for State Senator from Essex County, he made an unsuccessful fight to have the party adopt a plank in favor of local option, but this was vetoed by James R. Nugent, leader of the Essex Democracy. Mr. Dillon yesterday wrote Nugent that he desired to withdraw, as he was "too real a Democrat to sacrifice his principles to party expediency."

Connolly Files $100,000 Libel Suit.

The $100,000 libel suit brought by Borough President Connolly of Queens against Robert W. Higbie, his opponent on the Fusion ticket, on the ground of alleged false statements made by Higbie in a campaign speech, was filed in the Supreme Court of New York County yesterday. This action was taken because of the prominence of the parties in their home county.

ASKS 3-CENT STAMP RULING.

Postmaster Thomas G. Patten will ask Postmaster General Burleson today for a ruling on the new postal regulations of the war tax law, according to which a three-cent stamp will have to be placed on a letter in Manhattan for delivery in Brooklyn. The law goes into effect next month, and Mr. Patten, at his home in Long Branch last night, said that he expected to have the matter cleared up long before then.

Mr. Patten explained that the three-cent rate on letters from Manhattan to Brooklyn or from Long Island City to Greenpoint arises from the fact that the organization of the Post Offices in New York City do not conform to the organization of the Municipal Government. The New York Post Office has jurisdiction in Manhattan and the Bronx, while Brooklyn, Staten Island, and Long Island City are separate postal districts, with Postmasters in charge.

Under the new law it will be obligatory on any one mailing a letter into another postal district to place a three-cent stamp on it. This is the interpretation placed on the law by the local Post Office authorities, and it is this point that Mr. Patten will ask Washington to pass on, for it has been pointed out that, as the law says that letters marked for delivery in New York City must have a two-cent stamp, this should not mean delivery only within any one of the postal districts comprising New York City, but within any part of the city.

According to the interpretation of the new law, a situation is presented whereby a letter mailed at the Battery will be delivered at the city line at Yonkers for 2 cents, while the same letter mailed at the Battery will have to have a three-cent tax on it for delivery in Brooklyn, another postal district. In the same way, a letter mailed at Greenpoint will have to bear a three-cent stamp if it is marked for delivery in Long Island City, a short distance away.

The Road to Health Is Open

If you have been run down by overwork, if you have not regained your strength after a siege of illness, if fatigue comes easily and you are pale and listless, and your appetite is poor, take Pepto-Mangan. It will help bring back your old-time joy of living unless you are afflicted with a serious malady. For Pepto-Mangan builds the body by enriching the blood.

Almost invariably a run-down condition is due to blood impoverishment. When the red blood cells become weak and diminished, the organs of the body do not work properly, because they become clogged with poisons, which infect the entire system.

Pepto-Mangan enriches the blood and sends it bounding through the veins carrying new life and strength everywhere by increasing the number of red blood cells.

Begin a course of Pepto-Mangan today; your improvement will soon be noticeable, and you will enjoy its rich color and mildly aromatic taste. Pepto-Mangan cannot impair the digestion.

The Case of the Railways as Reflected by the Nation's Newspapers

The press in all sections of the United States, representing varied editorial policies, is almost unanimous in its expressions concerning the problems at present confronting the railways.

New York Tribune

"The railroads are a military agency of the first importance. They are doing their full duty. But generosity of spirit and patriotic appreciation ought not to be all on one side. When Congress passed the Adamson law it put itself under a moral obligation to furnish the carriers with revenues to meet the increase in their payrolls. It is under a moral obligation at all times to keep the railroads in a state of efficiency."

Seattle Post Intelligencer

"It is as imperative for the national defense that the railroads have the money with which to equip themselves properly as it is that the government should have the money with which to finance the other operations of war. The railroads have no money save that which is invested by the people in their securities or that which is paid them for services. The money to equip them properly must come from these sources, for there are no others."

Philadelphia Public Ledger

"The people of the United States are in a better frame of mind to do justice to the railroads than was the case a few years ago. It is beginning to be realized that punitive regulation has gone far enough. This treatment has deprived the railroads of the power of initiative in many directions, and the country has suffered in consequence."

Minneapolis Tribune

"Just now the nation is vitally interested in the railroads as a factor of defense. The carriers are entitled to a fair rate of profit as a matter of common justice, but superior to this right for consideration at this time is the duty of the nation to itself to see that, so far as the railroads are concerned, it is adequately safeguarded against dangers from without."

Baltimore Sun

"There has never been a time when it was more important that the transportation service of the country be maintained at the highest level of efficiency than the present. And the patriotic conduct of the roads since the declaration of war, their willingness and eagerness to cooperate with the Government, entitle them to the goodwill of the public."

Washington Post

"Vast capital is necessary for the improvement and extension of all the railroads, and this can be obtained only by a governmental policy that will safe-guard investment in railroad securities. The period of railroad baiting has long since passed, but the work of reconstruction has not yet begun."

These editorial comments are only a few of very many dealing with one of our great national problems, and are submitted here for the thoughtful consideration of the public.

Single Pierce-Arrow trucks have taken over the work of many horses and done it quicker, better and cheaper. They have developed new business by increasing delivery radius and opening up territory quite beyond the reach of horses. Standardized Pierce-Arrow fleets have replaced less efficient trucks and done more work at less cost.

What Pierce-Arrow trucks have done for other business men they can do for you.

Pierce-Arrow
Motor Trucks

for example: JAMES BUTLER, Inc., operating over 400 chain grocery stores in and about New York, recently sold twenty-five trucks of three other makes and standardized its transportation service with Pierce-Arrows. This was the result of superior efficiency and economy shown by its first Pierce-Arrows. The Butler Pierce-Arrow fleet now numbers fifty trucks.
